REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA-GERMAN SOCIETY

FOR THE

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SOCIETY'S EXISTENCE

HELD AT EPHRATA, PENNSYLVANIA

ON FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1920

THE Twenty-seventh Meeting of the Pennsylvania-German Society, commemorating the thirtieth year of its organization, was held in Ephrata, Pa., on Friday, October 8, 1920. The meeting was called to order in Bethany Reformed Church at 2.20 P.M., by the president, Rev. Paul de Schweinitz, D.D. Dr. H. M. M. Richards then asked permission to say a few words and said that at the time the Society had held its annual meeting in Ephrata, on October 20, 1899, the Ephrata Monument Association had presented the Society with a gavel made from some of the wood of the old Brother-house, no longer in existence; that this gavel had been in the possession of Rev. Dr. Theodore E. Schmauk, and that he now re-presented it to the Society.

At the time of the original presentation Dr. D. Rhine Hertz, of Ephrata, said:

"This gavel is made from wood taken from the building Kedar, which building had been used as a hospital for the soldiers of the Battle of the Brandywine, fought September 11, 1777, many of them having died of wounds received and some of camp fever. After their death and burial and the dismissal of those who recovered, the Society of the Seventh Day Baptists condemned the building and had it torn down. Dr. Jacob Konigmacher, then a member of the Society and a tanner by trade, procured the lumber and erected a building near by to store his bark. The piece of timber from which this gavel has been made was originally twenty feet long and eight by ten inches thick. It has been used in three different buildings and through five generations of the Konigmacher family until it now is the property of Jacob Konigmacher. It is one hundred and sixty-four years since first used in the erection of a building, and then as a girder. When this gavel sounds the closing of your meetings may the members acknowledge

God is wisdom. God is strength!
Love, Truth and Charity all in one.
He gives us power and controls
The work that here is done."

President de Schweinitz accepted the gavel, recalling memories of the previous meeting held in Ephrata.

The invocation was then delivered by Rev. L. Kryder Evans, D.D.

Invocation.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father

Thou are our Father, and we are Thy children, through Thy dear Son, our Lord and Savior. We thank Thee that Thou hast created us rational and intelligent beings, capable of knowing and loving and serving Thee, the eternal and everliving God. We thank Thee that our lot has been cast amid circumstances favorable to the development of the high and holy principles with which Thou hast endowed us. We thank Thee for Thy church and the gospel of Thy kingdom; for the means of grace, and the earnest of life and immortality beyond the confines of this world. We thank Thee for home and country, for all knowledge and Christian truth. We thank Thee for the benign institutions of our land and nation, the splendid product of the piety and enlightened scholarship of our fathers. Help us to prove worthy of our precious inheritance. We thank Thee that we, in Thy good providence, are permitted to meet and greet each other once more in annual session of our Society. We humbly pray Thee to meet us and greet us with Thy benediction. Preside over our assembly today and in all our deliberations give us a sanctified use of our privileges and opportunities. Grant that we, as a Society, may continue to merit Thy favor and blessing, and under Thy divine guidance deserve a continued existence. Dear Father: Inasmuch as it hath pleased Thee to call out of our midst, by death, a number of our fellow members, whose presence and counsel we greatly miss today, we pray Thee that out of the plentitude of Thy mercies in Christ Jesus, Thou wouldst comfort our sad hearts, and enable their loved ones to apprehend the Everlasting Arms stretched out for their refuge. We thank Thee for all they wrought and taught and for the faithful service they rendered. Enable us all the more firmly to grasp Thy guiding hand, and may all the experiences we pass through only serve to bring us nearer and closer to Thee, our divine Companion and Guide, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

The President, Rev. Paul de Schweinitz, D.D., Secretary of Missions of the Moravian Church in America, then delivered his annual address, as follows:

President's Address.

It certainly must be a great satisfaction to all of us to be permitted to meet again as members of the Pennsylvania-German Society. Four years have sped by since we met in Norristown and Valley Forge, November 2, 1916, years so crowded with tremendous and catastrophic events, that no one ventures as yet to predict what will be the course of human history as a consequence thereof.

The Executive Committee of our Society deemed it wise and expedient to call no general meeting of the Society in 1917, 1918 and 1919, so that this is the 27th. annual meeting, although the Society is entering upon its 30th year.

Sometimes it has seemed to me, that perhaps after all it would have been a good thing if we had met during the war years for the very purpose of being afforded an opportunity to voice in actual publicly spoken word the unquestioned loyalty to the United States and to democratic government of these descendants of the early German settlers of Pennsylvania. It was Judge Yerkes, who at Reading in 1915 pointed out, that of all the various hyphenated societies, which so abound in this land of ours, our own is the only one which puts the name of our country and State first: we are Pennsylvania-Germans, not German-Pennsylvanians. From colonial days even unto the present hour the loyalty of Pennsylvanians of early German descent to our State and to our nation has been wholehearted, ungrudging and without reservation. Pennsylvania-Germans have never in all the two and a quarter centuries of their history in the Colony, Province, and State made any use of their Americanism to further schemes in countries across the seas or to influence movements and agitations in other nations, which can not perhaps be affirmed so positively of all other citizens of our land. Pennsylvania-Germans have been native-born, thoroughgoing Americans for six generations and more.

The publications of this Society have revealed in a most striking way the far-reaching services of the Pennsylvania-Germans to this State and to the United States in times of war and peace, and notably in the War of Independence, in the Civil War, in the Spanish-American War, and now in the World War, in the aftermath of which we are still living. All that was needed in 1917 and 1918 was to scan the rosters of the troops recruited in Pennsylvania, as published in the daily papers, to see how many Pennsylvania-Germans rallied to the colors, ready to make the supreme sacrifice for our country. The fact that the ancestors of many of our men a hundred and fifty and two hundred years ago had come from Germany, and that many of them had kept up the ancestral language and dialect, did not affect their loyalty in the remotest degree.

I judge that many of us could tell interesting stories of the peculiar and amusing situations which arose in connection with some the Pennsylvania regiments in the American Army of Occupation, when quartered along the Rhine. The surprise of the German Palatines in finding that many of these American soldier boys understood and spoke their own dialect, and yet were thoroughgoing Americans, furnished the background for many unique incidents in the days following the signing of the armistice.

And it seems to me, that it is proper in this connection to pay a deserved tribute to the loyalty of millions of Germans and of those of German descent throughout out country. It is said that the ex-Kaiser counted upon the support of his former subjects in this country, when he persisted in his foolhardy purpose of defying our Government in 1917 and of driving us into the war. Never was a man more totally deceived in his calculations. The number of those who proved disloyal was so small as to be almost negligible, and unstinted praise should be given to our foreign-born citizens of even comparatively recent immigration.

The temptation is strong to indulge in remarks on the course of our country, or rather of the legislative and executive branches of our Government in Washington since the signing of the armistice, but as we are in the midst of a political campaign, everything that might be said would be interpreted from a partisan point of view, and that would be unfortunate, as out Society has nothing to do with partisan politics. Let us hope that after the political campaign is over, and our new President has been inaugurated and our new Congress has been seated, they will be wise enough to find some means of retrieving the good name of our nation and of regaining at least some of the prestige which has been so deplorably lost. When we think of the high ideals with which we entered the great struggle, and of how little has been accomplished of that for which our boys gave their lives, we are indeed depressed. Let us hope that 1921 will bring happier readjustments, and may all of us Pennsylvanians find some means for making our influence, be it great or small, tell for the establishment of righteous government and just social and economic conditions. And may the Ruler of all nations guide our leaders and rulers out of the present turmoil into real world peace!

Permit me now to turn to our own Society. On Thursday, February 26, 1891, there met in the Moravian parsonage at Lancaster, Pa., at the invitation of the Rev. J. Max Hark, D.D., the then Moravian Pastor of Lancaster, after a few informal consultations, considerable correspondence and some articles in the newspapers, eighteen men from nine counties of eastern Pennsylvania for the purpose of organizing a Pennsylvania-German Society. These eighteen men were afterwards denominated the "Founders" of the Society. Arranged according to counties they were:

Carbon County: E. H. Rauch.

Chester County: Julius F. Sachse.

Dauphin County: W. H. Egle, E. W. S. Parthemore, Maurice C. Eby.

Lancaster County: H. A. Brickenstein, J. Max Hark, Frank R. Diffenderffer, Robert Koch Buerhle, John Summers Stahr.

Lebanon County: Lee L. Grumbine, Theodore E. Schmauk.
Lehigh County: Edwin Albright, A. R. Horne.
Luzerne County: F. K. Levan.
Northampton County: Paul de Schweinitz, Jeremiah S. Hess.
York County: Hiram Young.

In the more than twenty-nine years that have gone by since then nearly all of these gentlemen have been called to the land where wars and tumults cease, and where presumably only one language is spoken. At all events, of these eighteen "Founders", only three remain: Frank R. Diffenderffer, of Lancaster, Pa., Jeremiah S. Hess, of Hellertown, Pa., and Paul de Schweinitz, of Bethlehem, Pa., the present speaker.

What has been accomplished in these twenty-nine years? Is the purpose, which the Founders had in view, being brought to fulfilment? In the first Annual Meeting of the Society held in Lancaster, Pa., on Wednesday, April 15, 1891, a Constitution was adopted, the second Article of which sets forth the object of the Society's existence, and among various things this one point is specially emphasized: "to publish documents as shall set forth the part belonging to the Pennsylvania- German in the growth and development of American character, institutions and progress."

In pursuance of this purpose twenty-seven splendid volumes, really magnificently illustrated, largely through the efforts of our late esteemed Treasurer and President, Julius F. Sachse, have been issued. These volumes are rich in historical and genealogical lore and have thrown a flood of light on the real character and worth of our people, and of the part they have played in the nation's upbuilding. These volumes have enjoyed a rather wide distribution and have found their way into many libraries, public and private.

But have they accomplished their purpose? Has the task, which the Society set itself, been in any large measure fulfilled? Have the contents of these volumes permeated the consciousness of the American people in general? Has the general attitude of the American public towards the Pennsylvania-Germans been affected to any great extent?

This year elaborate celebrations are being held in England, Holland and America to commemorate the tercentenary of the landing of the "Pilgrim Fathers" at Plymouth in 1620. The whole nation is being called upon to share in these celebrations. National and international committees have been formed. The "Pilgrim Fathers" are being presented as almost the sole founders of our nation, and to them is being ascribed all the blessings of religious and civil liberty, which we enjoy, and all our progress and wonderful development is being traced to them. Do you think that in any of these celebrations any reference at all will be made to those heroic pioneers, who had such a large share in settling and developing this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and who played an essential part in establishing the nation in the War of Independence and at the time of the adoption of the Federal Constitution and in saving the Union in 1861-65? We of course have not the slightest desire to detract from the honor being paid to the "Pilgrim Fathers," and we rejoice in all the blessings that have flowed to this nation and to the world at large, because of what they did and because of the principles which they maintained. But it is well to remember, that not all the people who established this nation and made it great came over in the Mayflower.

A good, genuine Pennsylvania-German, who however now resides in a western State, wrote to me some weeks ago, and suggested that it might be a good thing to republish a paper read before this Society at its meeting in York on October 11, 1893, in the midst of these "Pilgrim Fathers" celebrations, to call attention to the fact that some of the people who came over in the good ship "Catharine" also had something to do with the religious development of our country, as well as those who came over in the Mayflower. The paper alluded to was published in the fourth volume of our PROCEEDINGS and is entitled "The German Moravian Settlements in Pennsylvania, 1735-1800." This paper covers pages 54-72 inclusive of Volume IV. Upon the receipt of this letter my first thought was to rehearse the substance of that paper, which I prepared in 1893, as the main part of my presidential address at this meeting. But on second thoughts I will content myself with referring all those interested to Volume IV. of our PROCEEDINGS, page 54 and following, for an account of those German Moravian Pennsylvania Pilgrims, who almost two centuries ago "came to these shores prepared to give and gave their lives not upon field of battle, but in the heroically unselfish endeavor to build up the moral, intellectual and spiritual characters of the, in these particulars, destitute dwellers in this since then so richly favored Province and State."

But that letter did bring sharply to my consciousness how little impression we have after all made upon the general American writing and speaking public, and that the work of our Society is by no manner of means finished, and that only a very small beginning has been made towards fulfilling one of the primary objects of its existence.

This has suggested to me the suitability of calling to your attention an almost unknown fact of American history.

If I were to ask: "Which is the first American Foreign Mission Board and who were the first American Foreign Missionaries?" even otherwise well-informed missionary students would instantly answer: "The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of Boston, Mass., organized 1810 and incorporated 1812, and the first missionaries were Adoniram Judson and his wife Ann Hasseltine Judson." And yet both these statements are incorrect.

The first American missionary society was "The Society of the United Brethren for Propagating the Gospel among the Heathen," the incorporated missionary society of the Moravian Church in America, a corporation existing by and under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, having its principal office in Bethlehem, Pa. This society was organized in 1745; reorganized in 1787, and incorporated by special act of the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania, Wednesday, February 27, 1788, twenty-four years before the American Board secured its charter. The legislature of Massachusetts strongly opposed the granting of a charter to the American Board, and it was only after a prolonged struggle that the charter was finally granted on June 20, 1812, while the Pennsylvania legislature cheerfully and gladly granted this Moravian Society its charter almost a quarter of a century earlier, and granted it such wide powers and functions, that it has never been necessary to apply for an amendment to its charter in all these 132 years.

Adoniram Judson and wife, Ann Hasseltine Judson, sailed from Salem, Mass., for Calcutta, India, on February 19, 1812, and they have ever been held to be the first American Foreign Missionaries, and have been celebrated in song, and story, and history and monuments, and the supposed fact, that they were the first American Foreign Missionaries, has been cut in stone and cast in bronze.

But Susan Elizabeth Funk, born in Germantown, Pennsylvania, Novmber 18, 1721, married to George Kaske on May 18, 1746, went that year as a Foreign Missionary to Berbice, Demerara (British Guiana), South America, 66 years before the Judsons went to India.

Eight years ago a friendly, fraternal controversy sprang up between the American Board of Boston, Mass. (the Foreign Mission Board of the Congregationalist Church), and the Moravian Board of Bethlehem, Pa., on this point. The American Board claimed that the Moravian Board worked only among the Indians of this country, and therefore that it was not a Foreign Mission Board, and even if it did send out missionaries abroad, they were Germans, and not Americans. This friendly controversy sprang out of some articles in The Sunday-School Times. The late Rev. William H. Romig, at that time Pastor of the Moravian Church at Easton, Pa., took the matter up, and induced the present speaker to get the Archivists of the Church, Dr. Josef Mueller of Herrnhut, Saxony, and Dr. William Schwartze of Bethlehem, Pa., to make investigations, which resulted in rescuing from oblivion the names not of one or two native-born American Moravian Foreign Missionaries, who went forth from this country to preach the Gospel in foreign parts before Adoniram Judson sailed, but of seventeen. Many more missionaries went out, but all these were American born, and with two or three exception all Pennsylvania born, and went forth from Bethlehem, Pa. With characteristic Pennsylvania-German reticence their going forth was marked by no blare of trumpets, and their names were forgotten even in their own Church, being buried in their Archives, but the fruit of their labors remains in the islands of the sea and in the uttermost parts of the earth, and their deeds, and their names, are recorded in the archives of heaven.

In an editorial of some length in The Sunday-School Times of May 24, 1913, the editor graciously admits that the priority of missionary fame belongs to these Pennsylvania-German Moravians; the Secretary of the American Board, not quite so graciously, admits that the historic facts can not be denied, but asserts that the American Board had much more influence in developing the missionary awakening of America than the Moravian Board, which we will modestly and cheerfully admit. But the fact remains that at least seventeen native-born Americans, Pennsylvanians, went out as foreign missionaries, before Adoniram Judson sailed from Salem, Mass., for Caluctta, India, on February 19, 1812. So, as the Rev. Mr. Romig write at the time, "the honor comes back from New England to Pennsylvania."

The list of these seventeen missionaries, with very brief biographical notes, appeared in the Church paper The Moravian of the issue of September 4, 1912. It would be very dry reading to repeat that list now, but the names are worthy of record, and if this address is to appear in the published PROCEEDINGS of our Society, then the list should be inserted here, for surely these Pennsylvania-Germans are worthy of all honor, and their names should be perpetuated.

In the article alluded to the Rev. Mr. Romig writes as follows:

"The story of these early missionaries should be told in such a form that it will become not only a part of the history of the Moravian Church but of the history of America. There is many a story of heroic devotion hidden in the shelves of Moravian archives in different places that should be put into such a form that it will become a part of the general missionary literature of the Christian Church. The contributions to history made by these recent researches and in this communication have their value, but after all they only form a record in outline, and cannot but prove to be dry reading to many. Nevertheless with the hope that it may contribute to correct history and may encourage others to restore these devoted men and women to a living place in our literature, the list is given with the names in the order of the time of their service.

1. SUSAN ELIZABETH KASKE, m.n. Funk, born in Germantown, Pa., November 18, 1721; was converted under the preaching of Count Zinzendorf in 1741; removed to Bethlehem, Pa., in 1743; was married to George Kaske, missionary to Berbice, British Guiana, South America, May 18, 1746. She served in this mission till 1763. She died at Bethlehem, Pa., July 28, 1804. Her husband died at Nazareth, in June, 1795.

To Susan Elizabeth Kaske probably belongs the honor of being the first Protestant American Missionary to foreign lands. If so, the honor goes to a woman whose life's story, so far as the writer knows, has never been published. She went to the mission field sixty-six years before the time of Adoniram Judson and his wife, Ann Hasseltine.

2. Mary Heap, second wife of Joseph Shaw, a member of the First Moravian Church of Philadelphia, Pa. The place and date of her birth is not given, but she was an American. She perished at sea with her husband in October, 1747, on their way to St. Thomas, in the West Indies. Joseph Shaw was born in Little Ryder Street, near St. James, London, England. He came to Philadelphia from London on the ship Catherine, Capt. Thomas Gladman, arriving June 7, 1743. He was a school teacher at the Indian Mission at Shecomeko, 1745-1746, and later pastor at Walpack in the Jersey Minnesinks. His first wife was Mary Jones, of the First Moravian Church, of Philadelphia. Their sad fate in some storm at sea arouses our interest. We would like to learn more of them.

3. John Levering, born in Philadelphia, in December, 1723. He was a grandson of Gerhard Levering, one of the pioneers of Roxborough, Philadelphia. He entered the home mission work in Pennsylvania. In June, 1756, he was, with his wife, stationed in the Moravian School at Nazareth. In February, 1759, he sailed for Jamaica, West Indies, where he died, after a short service in the mission.

John Levering was probably the first American to go as an ordained missionary to the heathen in foreign lands. He probably belonged to the well-known Levering family, of which the Hon. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, Md., and the late Bishop J. M. Levering, D.D., of Bethlehem, Pa., were the most distinguished members.

4. Sarah Bechtel, wife of John Levering, was the daughter of John Bechtel, of Germantown, Philadelphia, who united with the Moravians, under Count Zinzendorf's ministry. After John Levering's death, she remained in Jamaica and in 1761 married John Merk, a missionary and native of Switzerland. They returned at a later time to Bethlehem, Pa., where John Merk died in 1796.

5. John Antes, born March 24, 1740, in Frederick Township, Philadelphia, missionary to Cairo, Egypt, from 1769 to 1782, died in Bristol, England, in 1811.

John Antes was a famous missionary; he belonged to the pioneer mission to Egypt which failed after heroic efforts, and after John Antes had suffered the tortures of the bastinado which made him lame for life.

It is noticeable that these first American missionaries were native Philadelphians. The city, and especially the Moravian Church of Philadelphia, is honored by the record that they made.

6. Maria Margaret Auerbach, m.n. Zerb, was born at Tulpehocken, Pa., October 3, 1728; was married to her third husband, John Christian Auerbach, in 1769, and served with him in the Danish West Indian Mission till 1792. She died at Bethlehem, Pa.

7. John Brucker, born at Nazareth, Pa., July 12, 1750; missionary in the Danish West Indies from 1771 to 1778. Died October 12, 1778, on the Island of St. Thomas.

8. Anna Maria Jungmann, wife of John Brucker, born at Bethlehem, Pa., March 10, 1746, married on the island of St. Thomas in March, 1775, and died at New Herrnhut, St. Thomas, December 29, 1782.

9. David Beck, born near Savannah, Georgia, September 21, 1744. From 1773 to 1780, missionary to the Danish West Indies. Died January 9, 1780, at Friedrichsthal, on the island of St. Croix. His wife was born in Greenland.

10. John Frederick Schlegel, born at Nazareth, Pa., June 9, 1753. From 1785 to 1791, missionary on the islands of St. Croix and St. Jan. Died May 30, 1805, at Graceham, Maryland.

11. Anna Rosina Mack, wife of John F. Schlegel, was born at Patchogue, Long Island, New Work, August 15, 1761, married May 9, 1785, and died at Bethlehem, Pa., December 4, 1831.

12. Samuel Steup, born at Gnadenthal, near Nazareth, December 19, 1757. From 1789 to 1791, missionary on the island of Antigua. Died August 15, 1822, at Bethlehem, Pa.

13. Anna Krogstrup, wife of Samuel Steup, born at Bethlehem, Pa., March 15, 1758; married at Bethlehem, April 28, 1789; died before her husband, but date not given.

14. Christine Fritz, m.n. Loesch, born in Tulpehocken, Pa., June 26, 1733, married to John Christian Fritz in 1774 and served with him in the mission on the island of Barbados, from 1789 to 1793. She died at Nazareth, November 22, 1806.

15. Agnes Reichel, m.n. Peters, born at Nazareth, Pa., September 18, 1762. Was married to John Frederick Reichel in May, 1791, and served in the mission on the islands of St. Kitts and Antigua until her death at Gracebay, Antigua, January 23, 1798.

16. Susan Catherine Elizabeth Schultz, m.n. Loesch, was born at Nazareth, Pa., July 31, 1771. She was married in October, 1799, to Theodore Schultz and served in the mission in Surinam, South America, from 1799 to 1807. She died at Salem, North Carolina, in 1855. Her husband died at the same place in 1850.

17. Hannah Langballe, m. n. Warner, was born at Gnadenhutten, Pa., in 1771. She was married to Thomas Langballe, missionary to Surinam, in 1805, and died there August 1, 1806.

This completes the list of American missionaries who served in Moravian Mission fields prior to the year 1812, as far as is at present known. Nothing is noted in it concerning those who served as missionaries among the Indians of our own country or concerning foreign born missionaries. Our friends of other Churches have a noble record in the first American missionaries sent out by the American Board. We would not take away their honor nor diminish it. Those devoted men and women deserve even wider recognition than they have received. Correct history, however, will place the American missionaries, of the Moravian Church, in point of time at least, in advance of them. We Moravians, however, cannot live on the honors that our spiritual forefathers fairly won by consecrated and devoted service. If we would keep up the pace that they have set for us in missions at home and abroad it will require devotion and sacrifice."

Easton, Pa., August 27, 1912.

It will be noted that the majority of these are Pennsylvanians, and Pennsylvanians of German descent.

Thus theoretically these facts have been before the American public eight years, but no perceptible impression has been created, and I still hear the American Board spoken of as the oldest American Foreign Mission Board even by my colleagues of the Committee of Reference and Counsel, the executive of the Foreign Mission Conference of North America. And this in spite of the fact that in the Year Book published by the Foreign Missions Conference the Society for Propagating the Gospel is properly and correctly listed.

A short time ago the genial secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America advised me to advertise this historic fact in some striking way. Following his suggestion I have since then inserted on the official letter head of the Society for Propagating the Gospel in red ink the line:

"Organized 1745; Reorganized 1787; Incorporated 1788."

Let us hope that this will gradually percolate even unto New England!

But all this brings me back, so to speak, to my original text, that our Society still has a great work to do. We need to dig out of forgotten documents and records, what our people have done for the welfare of our State and nation, and of the world at large, and then publish the same, and persistently call attention to the same. Not in any spirit of vainglorious boasting, but in order that proper recognition may be given to all the elements that have built up our national greatness, and in order that the valuable traits of Pennsylvania-German character may be made available and utilized for the State and nation in both its national and international relationships.

The Secretary, Dr. D. W. Nead, of Reading, then submitted the following:

Annual Report of the Secretary.

To the Officers and Members of the Pennsylvania-German Society:

As you all know, for the three years last past the Annual Meetings of the Society have been omitted. This was not done without considerable thought and debate among the members of the Executive Committee, and such a course was only decided upon because it was felt that the best interests of the Societly demanded it. There was some criticism of this action of the Executive Committee on the part of some of the members, but the Committee felt that its action was fully justified.

During these years the Executive Committee has not been idle. Four regular quarterly meetings have been held each year. During 1920 the meetings were held on January 22, at Philadelphia; April 21, at Philadelphia; June 25, at Reading, and October 8, at Ephrata.

The business of the Society has been looked after as carefully as in other years. The financial condition of the Society is excellent, as will be more fully explained by the Treasurer.

During the past year the Society has met with an irreparable loss in the deaths of Rev. Dr. Theodore E. Schmauk and Dr. Julius F. Sachse. Both of these gentlemen were among the Founders of the Society and during its entire existence were members of the Executive Committee, Dr. Schmauk being chairman of the committee for twenty-two years. During the entire life of the Society Dr. Sachse has had charge of the preparation and illustration of the annual volumes. Their loss is a serious blow and it calls for closer coöperation on the part of the members of the Society in order that the high standard of the Society's work may be maintained.

Since our last meeting the following members have died:

William Adam Seibert, M. D., October 7, 1919.
Rev. Charles Samuel Wieand, October 7, 1919.
Andrew Hamilton McClintock, October 7, 1919.
William Lincoln Shindel, M.D., October 26, 1919.
Julius Friedrich Sachse, Litt.D., November 15, 1919.
Rev. Eli Keller, D.D., December 31, 1919.
Frank Melchior Horn, February 19, 1920.
Rev. Jacob Fry, D.D., February 19, 1920.
Luther Jackson Bricker, March 7, 1920.
Rev. Theodore Emanuel Schmauk, D.D., LL.D., March 23, 1920.
William Edelman, March 24, 1920.
George Steinman, March 31, 1920.
William Jacob Heller, April 1, 1920.
Rev. Myron Oscar Rath, May 6, 1920.
Samuel Philips Heilman, M.D., September 11, 1920.

The Society lost through other causes during the year:

Marcus S. Hottenstein,

Samuel Shoemaker,
Rev. Harry C. Kline,
Rev. Aaron C. R. Keiter,
J. Kennedy Stout,
John S. Gleim.

At the meeting of the Executive Committee in October, 1918, Rev. Dr. Jacob Fry resigned the position of president and Albert K. Hostetter and Franklin A. Stickler resigned as vice-presidents. Their places were filled by the election of Rev. Dr. L. Kryder Evans as president, and Dr. Frank Reid Diffenderffer and Edward H. Reninger as vice-presidents. At the meeting in October, 1919, Dr. Evans resigned as president and Rev. Paul de Schweinitz, D.D., was elected to fill the vacancy.

Our president has just said that the work of the Pennsylvania-German Society is not completed; that there is much yet to be done, and I want to impress that fact on your minds. The Society has established a high reputation on account of its publications which we want to maintain. Not long ago the librarian of one of the largest libraries in New England told a gentleman that the Pennsylvania-German Society issued the finest volumes of any patriotic organization. This is high praise, but we must have the co-operation of our members to maintain it. As the ancient Israelites could not make bricks without straw, we cannot print books unless we have the material to put into them. There is plenty of material to work on and no lack of good writers to work up this material. What we want is to get the members interested. Try to get some new members and make up your mind to write a paper on some subject of historic interest, and then take up the matter with the Secretary.

Daniel W. Nead,
Secretary.

Report of the Treasurer.

The Treasurer, Dr. J. E. Burnett Buckenham, then presented the following report:

(Signed) Henry S. Borneman,
October 6, 1920. Auditors.

Election of Officers.

During the three years that no annual meetings were held, some of the officers whose terms had expired, were re-appointed by the Executive Committee. Whereupon on motion the action of said committee was ratified and approved.

The next business being the election of officers, Dr. H. M. M. Richards, Chairman of the Executive Committee, presented the following nominations:

President:
General Harry C. Trexler

Vice-Presidents:
Hon. Charles I. Landis, LL.D.
Hon. Henry C. Conrad, LL.D.

Secretary:
Daniel W. Nead, M.D.

Treasurer:
J. E. Burnett Buckenham, M.D.

Executive Committee.

Terms expire 1922.

Rev. George W. Sandt, D.D.,
Porter W. Shimer, Ph.D.,
William M. Schnure.

Terms expire 1923.

H. M. M. Richards, Litt.D.,
Alfred Percival Smith, Esq.,
Ulysses S. Koons, Esq.

Terms expire 1924.

Elmer E. S. Johnson, Ph.D.,
Henry S, Borneman, Esq.,
Charles R. Roberts.

Terms expire 1925.

George A. Gorgas, Ph.G.
Rev. John Baer Stoudt,
H. Winslow Fegley.

There being no further nominations, on motion the action of the Executive Committee in re-appointing members of that committee during the years in which no annual meetings were held, was approved and on further motion the Secretary was instructed to cast the ballot for those placed in nomination at this meeting, and they were declared duly elected.

Mr. H. Winslow Fegley, of Reading, then read a paper entitled "Among Some of the Older Mills in Eastern Pennsylvania," after which Prof. Marcus B. Lambert, of Allentown, described to the members the plan he was pursuing in making a Pennsylvania-German Dictionary. He said that his collection of Pennsylvania-German words already numbered more than twice as many as were contained in all the other lexicons published, and he asked the assistance of the members of the Society in gathering other words, particularly such as were peculiar to certain localities.

A resolution was adopted thanking the officers and members of Bethany Reformed Church of Ephrata for the privilege of holding the meeting in their building, after which, at 4:30 P. M., the meeting adjourned.

DANIEL W. NEAD,
Secretary.

William Adam Siebert, M.D.

Dr. William Adam Seibert was born February 10, 1859, in Lowhill township, Lehigh county, Pa., and passed away at Easton, Pa., October 7, 1919. He was descended from colonial Pennsylvania-German stock on both his father's and mother's side, and from both eligible to membership in the Pennsylvania-German Society, to which he was admitted July 19, 1899. His paternal emigrant ancestor was Nicholas Seibert, born in South Prussia 1716 and came to America in 1738. He was the son of Owen and Matilda (Miller) Seibert, who moved to Easton during his early life, and that city later became the scene of his long and distinguished career. In 1875 he graduated at the Stevens Institute of Business and in 1878 from Traugh's Academy, Easton, Pa., where he prepared for entrance to Lafayette College, from which he was graduated with honor in the class of 1882. After leaving college he began the study of medicine in the office of that American pioneer of Homeopathy, Dr. Henry Detwiller. He graduated from the Boston University School of Medicine in 1885 and then served on the staff of the Grove Hill Hospital and the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital. He returned to Easton in 1887 and entered upon the practice of his profession.

Dr. Seibert was held in the highest esteem, alike by his professional brethren, his patients and the community. His earnestness and progressive spirit made him an important factor in medical matters whether local, state or national in scope. As a writer in the field of Materia Medica his work received the most thoughtful and appreciative consideration.

Dr. Siebert filled many offices in county, state and national Medical Societies, always serving with fidelity and zeal. As president of the Pennsylvania State Society and of the Lehigh Valley Homeopathic Medical Society his influence was marked. He was a trustee of the State Homeopathic Hospital of Rittersville, Pa., from its inception, taking an active interest in everything pertaining to its development and success.

Dr. Seibert was twice married, first to Miss Rosa A., daughter of William and Ann E. (Shimer) Werkheiser, who died in 1897, leaving one daughter, Anna, now Mrs. Ernest Wyckoff. His second wife, who survives him, was Miss Adelaide Korndoerfer, daughter of Dr. Augustus Korndoerfer of Philadelphia.

It is no exaggeration to say that Dr. Seibert was an ideal physician, respected by his fellow practioners of both schools, and loved by all those who were so fortunate as to come under his sympathy and skilful care.

P. W. S.

Rev. Charles Samuel Wieand.

Rev. Charles Samuel Wieand was born at Old Zionsville, Lehigh county, Pa., February 28, 1848, and after retiring from the active ministry moved to Philadelphia, where he passed away October 7, 1919. He was the son of Charles W. Wieand (1809-1890) and Susan Krauss (1811-1877), both families tracing back into Germany, and through both he was eligible to membership in the Pennsylvania-German Society, of which he was made a member October 2, 1902. His grandfather David Wieand was born 1781 and died 1865. His great-grandfather, Wendel Wieand (1757-1822), was a soldier of the Revolutionary war, enlisting in his country's service at the age of 19 years. It appears that while in the army he was taken sick and was invalided home, and therefore his name does not appear on the roster of his company at the time it was mustered out of service. The family tradition is that in 1779 he was with the expedition against the Indians at Wyoming. His emigrant ancestor was Johann Jost Wiegant, who was born in Germany.

His mother was the daughter of Andrew Krauss (1771-1841), and the grand-daughter of Balthaser Kraus who was born in Germany. His mother's ancestor on her mother's side was Rev. Christopher Schultz, the first minister of the Schwenkfelders in America, born at Upper Harpersdorf, Duchy of Liegnitz, Silesia, March 26, 1718, landing at Philadelphia September 22, 1734, with other Schwenkfelders; he died at Hereford, Berks county, May 9, 1789. (See Genealogical Record of the Schwenkfelder families, page 173.)

Rev. Charles Samuel Wieand was educated in the common schools and in the Allentown Academy, after which he taught in the public schools. He prepared for college at Freeland Seminary and entered Franklin & Marshall College, graduating in 1874. In 1875 he founded Perkiomen Seminary at Pennsburg, Pa., serving there for nine years, during which time he prepared for the ministry under the Rev. Dr. C. Z. Weiser. He was licensed to preach in 1880, and ordained to the Christian ministry in 1883, and then installed as pastor of Chestnut Hill Church, Lehigh county, Pa., which he served for one year. In 1884 he accepted a call from Zion's Reformed Church at Pottstown, Pa., where he served for 24 years. During the five years following he was supply pastor of three vacant charges, Schwenksville, Great Swamp at Chestnut Hill and Shenkel. In 1913 he accepted a call from the Shenkel charge and was again installed as a regular pastor, serving there until 1917, when he retired from active service and moved to Philadelphia. He was held in high esteem by the ministers of the Reformed church, as shown by the fact that for 25 years he was the stated clerk of Goshenhoppen Classis, and for 14 years served also as its treasurer.

On July 1, 1895, he married Miss Leonora M. Sell, who died November 10, 1916. He is survived by two daughters, Irma C. of West Philadelphia High School for Girls, and Helen E., wife of Dr. S. V. Cole, president of Wheaton College, Norton, Mass. His body lies buried in his family plot at East Greenville, Pa.

Andrew Hamilton McClintock.

Andrew Hamilton McClintock was born at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, December 12, 1852, and died there October 7, 1919. He was the only son of Andrew Todd McClintock, Esq. (1810-1892), whose ancestry traces back into Ireland, and his wife Augusta Cist (1814-1895), whose ancestry traces through the Hollenback's back into Germany, and through whom he was eligible for membership in the Pennsylvania-German Society, to which he was elected a member April 20, 1897.

The immigrant ancestor to whom his mother traces was George Hollenback, born in Saxony, Germany, emigrated to America 1719-20, where he died July 28, 1738.* On his arrival in America he settled in New Hanover township, Montgomery (then Philadelphia) county, where he was a land owner in 1720. He was an elder of the Old Evangelical Lutheran Church, New Hanover, Falkner Swamp, Pa., in 1733. (See Records of the Trappe Church, published in Vol. VI, page 167 of the Pennsylvania German Society, where his name is spelled George Hollebach.) Johannes Hollenback, son of George, lived near Lebanon, Pa., but in 1773 moved to Martinsburg, West Virginia, where he died in 1793. He married Eleanor Jones born of Welsh parentage, and they were the parents of Judge Matthias Hollenback (1752-1829). (His name was originally Johannes Matthias, but the Johannes was dropped doubtless when he was christened.)

* For an interesting sketch of Col. Matthias Hollenback, by Edward Welles, see Pennsylvania German, Vol. 10, pp. 53-57 and 97-103.

Sarah Hollenbach (born 1790, died 1854), daughter of Judge Matthias Hollenback, was married August 27, 1807, to Jacob Cist (1782-1835) of Washington, D. C., and they were the grandparents of Andrew Hamilton McClintock, the subject of this notice. Judge Hollenback was born February 17, 1752, at or near Jonestown, Lebanon (then Lancaster) county. He removed to the Wyoming Valley during the latter part of 1769 for the purpose of settling under the Connecticut laws. He was a prominent and influential citizen of Luzerne county during the so-called "Pennamite and Yankee Wars." In after years his friends suggested to him that he had espoused the wrong side of the Connecticut-Pennsylvania controversy. He was an Indian trader and a successful pioneer merchant, who by his thrift amassed what in those days was a very large fortune. On October 17, 1775, he was commissioned an Ensign in the 24th. Regiment of Connecticut Militia, and on August 26, 1776, was appointed by Congress as Ensign in Captain Durkee's Company of Wyoming Minutemen, in which he served for 18 months, having been engaged in the battles of Millstone, Trenton, Princeton and Brandywine. He married Sarah (Burritt) Hibbard, the widow of Cyprian Hibbard, who fell in the Wyoming massacre of July 3, 1778. She was a great-granddaughter of Ensign Stephen Burritt, a celebrated Indian fighter of Connecticut.

The history of the McClintock family traces to James McClintock and his wife Jean Payne of Raphoe, County Donegal, Ireland, whose ancestors originally lived in Argylshire, Scotland. One of their sons, Samuel McClintock, emigrated to America in 1795, and settled in Northumberland county, Pa., where he died in 1812, at the age of 36 years. His parents, James McClintock and his wife followed their son Samuel to America and settled in Lycoming county, Pa.

Samuel McClintock, the immigrant grandfather of Andrew Hamilton McClintock, married July 15, 1806, with

Hannah Todd, daughter of Colonel Andrew Todd (1749-1833) and his wife Hannah, daughter of Stephen and Elizabeth (Edwards) Bowyer or Boyer. Col. Andrew Todd was an extensive land-owner in Trappe, Upper Providence township, Montgomery county, Pa. He was a man of superior mechanical skill, an active member of the Providence Presbyterian Church, a soldier of the Revolutionary war, and for 33 years, from May 22, 1800 down to the time of his death in 1833, served as a justice of the peace. Robert Todd, father of Col. Andrew Todd, was born in Ireland in 1697, died in Upper Providence township in 1790. He was married in County Down, Ireland, with Isabella Bedley, who was born in 1700.

Andrew Todd McClintock, son of Samuel and Hannah (Todd) McClintock, father of Andrew Hamilton McClintock, was born in Northumberland county, Pa., February 2, 1810, and died at Wilkes-Barre January 14, 1892. He graduated at Kenyon College, Ohio, and shortly thereafter moved to Wilkes-Barre, where he was admitted to the bar of Luzerne county, August 8, 1836. In 1870 Princeton University honored him with the degree of doctor of laws. On May 11, 1841, he married Augusta, daughter of Jacob and Sarah (Hollenback) Cist. His wife, Augusta, passed away September 24, 1895.

Andrew Hamilton McClintock was graduated from Princeton University in 1872, at the age of 20 years, with the degree of A. B., receiving his master of arts degree in course in 1875. He was a member of the Beta Chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He read law with his father and also with Edward F. and J. Vaughn Darling of Wilkes-Barre, and was admitted to the Luzerne county bar January 20, 1876. He was not only a prominent and leading attorney, but one of Wilkes-Barre's foremost and most influential citizens, taking an active part in the civic, religious and financial affairs of that city. He was one of the incorporators of the Miners Savings Bank; director of the Guarantee & Title Trust Company; president of the Wyoming National Bank; director and treasurer of the Osterhout Free Library; one of the founders of the Wilkes-Barre City Hospital; for 37 years one of the managers of the Hollenback Cemetery Association; director of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Company; president of the Luzerne County Bible Society; trustee and an elder of the First Presbyterian Church and a teacher in its Sunday school; member of the Luzerne County Bar Association; one of the original governors of the Westmoreland Club, serving as its president 1898-1901; member of the Pennsylvania Society in New York; the Pennsylvania-German Society, and the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society, of which in 1876 and again from 1889 to 1891 he served as its president. He was also a member of the Pennsylvania Sons of the American Revolution, to which he was entitled to belong through both of his maternal great-grandfathers, viz. Ensign Matthias Hollenback and Charles Cist, a private in Capt. Conrad Rush's Company, Third Battalion, Pennsylvania Militia. (See Pennsylvania Archives, Sixth Series, vol. I, p. 193.)

On December 1, 1880, he married Eleanor Welles, of Athens, Bradford county, Pa., daughter of Charles Frederick Welles, Jr., and his wife Elizabeth LaPorte. Eleanor was descended on her father's side from Governor Thomas Welles (1598-1660) of Connecticut, first treasurer of that colony in 1639 and its governor 1658-1660. On her mother's side she was descended from Bartholomew LaPorte, a member of the French refugee colony at Asylum, Bradford county, Pa.

Andrew Hamilton McClintock is survived by his two sons, Dr. Andrew Todd, a practising physician and Gilbert Stuart, a member of the Luzerne county bar, both residing in Wilkes-Barre. His wife passed away December 20, 1911.

William Lincoln Shindel, M.D.

William Lincoln Shindel, M.D., of Sunbury, Pennsylvania, was born in Sunbury January 7, 1867, and died there at his home on the banks of the Susquehanna river, October 26, 1919. He was the son of Daniel W. and Sarah Elizabeth (Irwin) Shindel.

He was educated in the local public schools after which he entered the field of journalism. He was a reporter for the Sunbury Dispatch from 1886 to 1888, and then during the following two years was city editor for the Shamokin Dispatch, at the same also reporting for several city journals. Meanwhile he was studying medicine under his father, then entered the Medico-Chirurgical College at Philadelphia in 1893. He began the practice of medicine with his father in his native city, and with the founding of the Mary M. Packer Hospital, became a member of the staff of that institution.

He was a member of the Sunbury Board of Health, serving as its president for several years. He was also a member of the Sunbury Board of Education; Northumberland County Medical Society; physician of the Northumberland County prison; surgeon for the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company; member of the Lycoming County Medical Society, the Medical Associations of both the State and the Nation, and president of the Alumni Association of the Medical Department of Medico-Chirurgical College of Philadelphia. He was also twice elected coroner of Northumberland county. He was affiliated with the Republican party all through his life. He was a lover of nature and of local history which led him to build his home on the banks of the Susquehanna river, within sight of Fort Augusta, one of the frontier forts. At the opening of the World War, he offered his services to his country, but was rejected on account of his age being beyond the limit. However he was active in every patriotic effort in his community, and during the influenza epidemic in 1918, worked day and night in charge of the emergency hospital in his city. After this epidemic passed, Dr. Shindel found himself so worn out that he was physically unable to follow his profession, and was obliged to give up the active practice of medicine.

Dr. Shindel was a member of the Pennsylvania Society Sons of the Revolution by right of service of his great-great-grandfather, John Peter Shindel (1766-1829) who was fife-major in the Eighth Battalion, Lancaster County, Militia. He was also a member of Sunbury Lodge, No. 22, F. & A. M., of which he was past-master; Northumberland Chapter No. 174, R. A. M., also past commander of Mt. Herman Commandery No. 85, Knights Templar. He became a member of the Pennsylvania-German Society on April 24, 1906. His lineage runs back to his paternal ancestors, John Peyer Shindel 1st., who landed in Philadelphia, September 24, 1751, from the Province of Erbach, town of Gemmelsbach, Germany. For histories of the Shindel family see Lebanon County Histories and Histories of the Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Shindel was a versatile writer of both prose and poetry, and for a year was editor of The Gossip, a local monthly magazine. He was a member of the Ruffled Grouse Club of Sunbury, of which he was one of the organizers. He is survived by his wife Louisa (Clark) Shindel and one son, Daniel Shindel.

A characteristic of Dr. Shindel's writings can be shown by two of the three verses of his poem entitled:

WHEN THE TIDE IS LOW

Some time at eve, when the tide is low,
  I shall slip my mooring and sail away
Through purple shadows that darkly trail
  O'er the ebbing tide of the unknown sea.
I shall fare me away, with a dip of sail
  And a ripple of waters to tell the tale
Of a lonely voyage, sailing away
  To mysttic isles, where at anchor lay
The craft of those who have sailed before,
  O'er the unknown sea to the unknown shore.

A few who have watched me sail away
  Will miss my craft from the busy bay;
Some friendly barks that were anchored near,
  Some loving souls that my heart held dear,
In silent sorrow will drop a tear;
  But I shall have peacefully furled my sail
In moorings sheltered from storm and gale,
  And greeted the friends who have sailed before
O'er the unknown sea to the unknown shore.

Julius Friedrich Sachse, Litt.D.

Born November 22, 1842. Died November 15, 1919.

Probably the greatest loss which the Pennsylvania-German Society has sustained at any time occurred in the death of Dr. Julius Friedrich Sachse.

While not its originator he was one of the actual founders, being one of the little group which met for conference in the study of Dr. J. Max Hark's Moravian parsonage at Lancaster on February 26, 1891, at which time plans and methods were devised which gave birth to the Pennsylvania-German Society which has since attained such an enviable standing in its efforts to give publicity to the great deeds and work of the early German and Swiss immigrants to this country, with their bearing upon the development which it has since attained.

At the organization meeting held on April 15, 1891, in the Lancaster County Court House, he was elected its first Treasurer, which office he held continuously until his voluntary retirement on October 17, 1913, when he was honored by advancement to its Presidency, serving as such during 1913-1914. He was then returned as a member of the Executive Committee, on November 13, 1914, of which he had been a part, ex-officio, since its inception, and on which he continued to labor with his accustomed zeal until death called him to his eternal reward.

At the meeting of the Society, held in Bethlehem, Pa., on October 16, 1895, its then Secretary urged that action be taken looking towards the publication of a series of extended papers, the whole to form a "Narrative and Critical History of Pennsylvania; The German Influence in its Settlement and Development." This met with the prompt approval of the members.

The first instalment of this work was assigned to Dr. Sachse, and appeared in Volume 7 under the title of "The Fatherland (1450-1750)." It was a paper of the highest order, beautifully and profusely illustrated, which met with universal appreciation and gave an impetus and standing to the entire undertaking which has been sustained ever since.

The fact that this standing has been since sustained was due not only to the excellence of succeeding papers but largely to the fact that Dr. Sachse continued to embellish them with copious and most excellent illustrations, many of them original, others copies of rare historic pictures.

In addition to his first paper he was the author of the following, which added greatly to the value of the entire series:

"The Music of the Ephrata Cloister, with Conrad Beissel's Treatise on Music as set forth in a preface to The Turtletaube of 1747".

"Daniel Falckner's Curieuse Nachricht from Pennsylvania", a translation of the book that stimulated the great German immigration to Pennsylvania in the early years of the XVIII Century.

"The Wreck of the Ship New Era upon the New Jersey Coast, November 13, 1854".

"Diary of a Voyage from Rotterdam to Philadelphia in 1728", a translation.

"A Brief History of the Colony of New Sweden", by Carolus David Arfwedson—translated.

"A unique Manuscript by Rev. Peter Miller (Brother Jabez), Prior of the Ephrata Community", written for Benjamin Franklin, together with a Fac-Simile and Translation of Beissel's 99 Mystical Proverbs, originally printed by Benjamin Franklin in 1730.

"Quaint Old Germantown" (with J. Richards).

"The Wayside Inns of the Lancaster Roadside between Philadelphia and Lancaster."

"The Diarium of Magister Johannes Kelpius", with annotations.

"Kirchen-Matricul: der Evangelisch Lutherischen Gemeinde in New Providenz, Pennsylvania, (Augustus Ev. Luth. Congregation, Trappe, Pa.)", by him translated, collated and arranged.

From the above titles the versatility of Dr. Sachse will be apparent, not only that but it will be evident to what extent his abilities were directed towards the elucidation of the early history of our Commonwealth, especially that part bearing upon the little known records of its Pietists, Mystics and Sectarians. What he wrote, as the result of his extensive research, has become the standard authority on the subject.

In addition to the papers supplied this Society he gave to the public three large and splendid volumes, beautifully illustrated, on the "German Pietists and Sectarians of Pennsylvania"; which are unsurpassed by any other work on the subject.

In 1903 he issued a splendid biography of "Justus Falckner, Mystic and Scholar, Devout Pietist in Germany, Hermit on the Wissahickon and Missionary on the Hudson, as a Bi-Centennial Memorial of the First Regular Ordination of an Orthodox Pastor in America, done November 24, 1703, at Gloria Dei, the Swedish Lutheran Church at Wicaco, Philadelphia". As a testimonial and acknowledgment of the Degree of Doctor of Letters (Litt.D.) conferred upon him in 1900, this book was dedicated to "Muhlenberg College, the Institution Bearing the Name and Perpetuating the Faith of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, the Patriarch of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, who Cherished, Revived and Propagated the Seed Cast into the Virgin Soil of Pennsylvania and New York by Dominie Justus Falckner, who was the First Lutheran Minister Ordained in North America."

As may be presumed from what has already been said, Dr. Sachse ranked amongst the foremost of our historians. He was one of those who was instrumental in the organization of the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies at Harrisburg on January 5, 1905, was made a member of its Executive Committee for 1906; elected Second Vice President for 1908, and served as its President in 1909.

He made various trips to Europe whilst collating data from original sources, in the preparation of his historical works, especially while in attendance upon the International Congrés des Orientalistes during which time he secured a collection of ancient books, manuscripts and relics, relating to Masonic history, gathered from all over the world and preserved, on exhibition, in intelligent shape in the library in the Temple of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, an exhibit which has been the wonder and admiration of visitors to the Temple by the thousands every year.

Dr. Sachse had correspondence with all the Grand Masonic bodies in Europe, as well as this country, and was unquestionably one of the best informed scholars of his day in Masonic history and tradition. From 1906 until his decease he was the Librarian and Curator of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M. of Pennsylvania.

He was a prominent member of the following Masonic bodies: Columbia Lodge No. 91, F. & A. M.; Harmony Chapter No. 52, R. A. M.; Kadosh Commandery No. 29, K. T.; and the Philadelphia Consistory.

Masonic burial services were held at his grave by Columbia Lodge No. 91, of which he was a Past Master.

It naturally follows that, with his ability, knowledge and experience, he should have been the author of many valuable works bearing upon Masonry. Principal among them were the following:

"Freemasonry in Pennsylvania, 1727-1907", as shown by the records of Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M., of Philadelphia, from the year A. L. 5757; A. D. 1757, compiled from original sources by Norris S. Barratt, Past Master Lodge No. 2, Julius F. Sachse, Past Master Lodge No. 91."

"History of Brother Stephen Girard's Fraternal Connections with the R. W. Grand Lodge, F. & A. M. of Pennsylvania," reprinted from Vol. III of above.

"Old Masonic Lodges of Pennsylvania, Moderns and Ancients, 1730-1800, which have surrendered their warrants or affiliated with other Grand Lodges, compiled from Orignal Records in the Archives of the R. W. Grand Lodge, F. & A. M. of Pennsylvania, under the Direction of the Committee on Library, by Julius F. Sachse, Litt.D., Librarian of the Grand Lodge."

"Bi-Centenary of the Birth of Right Worshipful Past Grand Master Brother Benjamin Franklin", a record of Grand Lodge Proceedings in the Masonic Temple, March 7, 1906—A. L. 5906, and of Memorial services at his Tomb.

"Anderson's Constitutions of 1723", as reprinted by Franklin in 1734, facsimile copy.

"Constitutions of St. John's Lodge of Philadelphia", "Manuscript of Thomas Carmick, 1727", facsimile with text.

"History of Columbia Lodge, No. 91, F. & A. M."

"Washington's Masonic Correspondence as Found in the Washington Papers in the Library of Congress."

"Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite."

"History of Masonic Knights Templar."

Dr. Sachse was a highly esteemed member of many Societies, among them the following: American Philosophical Society; American Library Association; American Historical Association; International Congrés des Orientalistes; Historical Society of Pennsylvania; Pennsylvania-German Society; Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies; American Jewish Association; Pennsylvania Library Association; Colonial Society of Pennsylvania; National Memorial Association of Alexandria; Quatuor Coronati Society, England, etc.

As a basis for eligibility and election to membership in the American Philosophical Society he read before it, on February 1, 1895, a valuable paper on "Horologium Achaz, Christophorus Schissler, Artifex." This instrument, known by the mystics and philosophers of old as an "Horologium Achaz", or "Dial of Achaz", and fully treated by Dr. Sachse, was restored by him, so far as possible, and is now preserved in the cabinet of that Society. The booklet, well illustrated, is a reprint from the Society Proceedings of Vol. XXIV of March 12, 1895.

Dr. Sachse may, very properly, be called a "self-made" man. Born in Philadelphia, November 22, 1842, the son of J. H. Friedrich and Julianna D. W. (Buehler) Sachse, he attended the public schools of his native city, and was a graduate of the old Lutheran Academy. On May 15, 1864, he married Emma Caroline Lange, of Philadelphia, who survives him. His decease occurred November 15, 1919, at his residence, 4428 Pine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

In many respects he was a remarkable man. He was a fine example of the strong mind in a strong body, which, with his active temperament, made him a person of unremitting industry, patient and painstaking in research, especially in the procuring of original matter. As an annalist, biographer, compiler and collector, and as a practical illustrator, along the lines of the specialties of his study and research, he was unsurpassed and has left behind him voluminous and striking evidences of his faithful, comprehensive labors in his chosen fields of investigation. He took an absorbing interest in all historical movements and organizations in Pennsylvania and was an important factor in their establishment and perpetuation.

During the many years which some of us were privileged to associate with him, there was formed an undying friendship. It was the friendship of an ever true and sincere friend, one who was always a Christian gentleman. Such friendship and association cannot be forgotten, and will be sadly missed.

Rev. Eli Keller, M.D.

A biographical sketch of Rev. Eli Keller, D.D., prepared by himself, is contained in Volume VII, (pp. 458-461) of our publications, to which reference can be had. This Godly man lived to the ripe old age of 94 years, and continued in the Christian ministry until 1901, when at the age of 76 years he retired from active work, and moved to Allentown Pa., where he passed away December 31, 1919. He devoted his life to the uplift of his fellowman, and few, if any, of us laymen can fully comprehend what a life of such fidelity and service means, nor of the cordial and intimate relations that become established between a faithful pastor and his people, old and young alike.

Dr. Keller was born in Plainfield township, Northampton county, Pennsylvania, December 20, 1825, where the Keller family resided for more than one hundred years. He was the son of John Henry Keller, born December 24, 1786, and died September 10, 1867, in his 81st year, and his wife Mary Engler, born July 4, 1797, died November 18, 1884, in her 87th year. His emigrant ancestor, Joseph Keller (his great-grandfather, born in Bavaria March 15, 1719, died in Plainfield township September 17, 1809), came to America when a young man of 19 years, from Zweibrucken (Deux Ponts), Bavaria, sailing from the port of Rotterdam by ship William, and qualifying at Philadelphia October 31, 1737. His paternal grandparents were Philip Keller, born March 29, 1763, died October 2, 1842, and his wife Susanna, whose family name is not at hand.

The biographical sketch, to which reference has been made, speaks of his emigrant ancestor, Joseph Keller, having a brother who came to America and settled in Virginia, whose son held a clerkship under General Washington, 1776-77. He also records that on September 15, 1757, the family of Joseph Keller, the immigrant, who was living in Plainfield township, Northampton county, was attacked by a number of Indians. His son, Charles, was killed and scalped, and his body left lying on the field, and his wife (Maria E.) and two other sons, Joseph, Jr., and John Jacob, were carried away as captives. His wife was traded off to the French officers at Montreal, Canada. On October 20, 1760, after the close of the war, she was returned to her home, and three years later, in 1763, his grandfather, Philip Keller, was born. Joseph, Jr., one of their children, also returned, but John Jacob was forever lost. This robbery and tragedy resulted (in the fall of 1757) in the building of a fort in Plainfield township, on elevated ground recently the property of Stephen Heintzman, located about 400 yards east of Miller's station of the Bangor & Portland Railroad. (See Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania, Vol. 1, pp. 238-245.)

Dr. Keller's maternal grand-grandfather, Rev. Peter Frederick Niemeyer, son of Lieut. Charles Conrad Niemeyer, was born in Sweden August 24, 1733, came to America from the City of Wismar, then in Sweden, sailing from the port of Hamburg, by ship "Queen of Denmark", arriving in Philadelphia and qualifying September 11, 1732. Although born in Sweden, his father was of German ancestry, his mother was Swedish. He died August 16, 1815. Dr. Keller's maternal grandparents were Caspar Engle, born December 28, 1772, died May 24, 1801, and his wife Susanna Niemeyer, born November 22, 1770, died December 4, 1859.

Dr. Keller describes his father as being a man of great energy. For years a justice of the peace, surveyor and a notary public; also in 1849 one of the associate judges of Northampton county. He was in his time, captain of a volunteer military company, colonel and major of a regiment, and also brigade inspector. In church, he was equally active, he organized the system of the so-called "Plainfield Bonds," in aid of the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church, then located at Mercersburg, Pa. On his father's side the Kellers were Reformed. Rev. Thomas Pomp of Easton was their beloved pastor for 53 years (1796-1849). On his mother's side they were Lutherans.

Dr. Keller was educated in the public schools of his neighborhood, and prepared for college in the Minerva Seminary at Easton, Pa., conducted by that noted educator, Dr. John Vandervere, and at Marshall Academy at Mercersburg, Pa. He then entered Franklin & Marshall College at Lancaster, and then to the Mercersburg Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church, from which he was graduated in 1855. He was licensed at Chambersburg, Pa., in 1856, and after serving charges at Bucyrus, Bellevue and Canal Winchester, Ohio, he moved to Zionsville, Lehigh county, Pa., where for 27 years he served the Zionsville charge of the Reformed church. Ursinus College conferred upon him the honorary degree of master of arts, and in 1889 the same college honored him with the degree of doctor of divinity.

He assisted the late Dr. Benjamin Bausman in editorial work, particularly that which was printed in the German language, and he was also a frequent contributor to the church papers.

Dr. Keller had five brothers and two sisters. The loyalty of this family can be shown by the fact that at the outbreak of the Civil War, three of his brothers enlisted in the Union Army, one as Captain and another as First Lieutenant of Company C, 49th Regiment Ohio Infantry, both of whom fell at the battle of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, on January 1, 1863. The third soldier boy is now the Rev. Joseph A. Keller, D.D., of Hartville, Ohio, who was formerly professor of modern languages in Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio.

Frank Melchior Horn.

Frank Melchior Horn, the son of Colonel Melchoir Hay Horn, the younger, and his wife Matilda L. Heller, was born at Easton, Pa., October 16, 1852, and passed away at Catasauqua, Pa., January 11, 1920. He was eligible for membership in the Pennsylvania-German Society through both his paternal and maternal ancestry, and was admitted to membership April 12, 1890.

His paternal forebears were distinguished in military and political affairs, taking an active part in the three wars that their country waged during their lifetime. His first paternal ancestor, of whom there is an authentic record, was Abraham Horn, born December 31, 1756, died May 21, 1826. He was of German lineage and a native of Philadelphia. He moved to Easton in his early manhood, and later was State Surveyor for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania. He was Recorder of Deeds for Northampton county 1803-1809. He also became largely interested in buying and selling real estate. The writer of these notes has in his possession several deeds dated 1804, containing his signature and that of his wife, Susanna, for transfer of properties in Springfield township, Bucks county, Pa. During the Revolutionary war he served his country as sergeant in Captain Thomas Craig's company in the Second Pennsylvania Battalion, under Colonel (afterwards General) Arthur St. Clair. He took part in the expedition against Quebec in 1776, also in battles at DeChambaut, Sorel, Three Rivers, Crown Point and Ticonderoga. He was honorably discharged about August 6, 1777. On August 3, 1807, Gov. Thomas McKean commissioned him a Brigadier General of the 2nd. Brigade in the 8th. Division of Militia, composed of the counties of Northampton and Wayne. In the War of 1812-14, he was Lieutenant Colonel of the First Regiment of Volunteer Riflemen of Pennsylvania, and had the unique honor of having five sons and two sons-in-law serve under him in the same regiment; the sons were (1) Capt. Abraham Horn, Jr., who served as postmaster at Easton under President Jackson; (2) First Lieut. John Horn; (3) Sergeant Melchior Hay Horn; (4) Musician Joseph Horn, and (5) Musician Samuel Horn.*

Col. Abraham Horn, the elder, married Susanna Hay, who was born May 18, 1760, died June 28, 1827. She was the daughter of Melchior and Mary Hay, (Melchior was also a Revolutionary soldier), and they became the happy parents of ten children, eight sons and two daughters. The third son, Melchior Hay Horn, the elder, born December 29, 1786, and died May 31, 1863, was the grandfather of Frank Melchior Horn, the subject of this notice; he married Isabel Traill (born October 10, 1786, died April 24, 1841), daughter of Major Robert Traill, a native of the Orkney Islands, Scotland, who was a prominent and influential citizen of Easton, during the Revolutionary War, and a member of the Committee of Safety for Northampton county.† Melchior Hay Horn, the elder, and Isabel Traill were the parents of ten children; their sixth child, the third son, Melchior Hay Horn, Jr., the father of Frank Melchior Horn, was born at Easton April 9, 1822, and died at Catasauqua February 28, 1890. On October 12, 1845, he married Matilda L. Heller, daughter of Captain Jacob and Susanna (Butz) Heller of Easton; she was born March 1, 1823, and died August 1, 1903. This union was blessed with seven children, (1) Susan Butz, who married Martin L. Dreisbach, (2) William Heller, (3) Rev. Edward Traill, D.D., (4) Frank Melchior, (5) Dr. Harry Yohe, (6) Charles Robert, and (7) Isabella Traill, who died in 1882.

James B. Laux and Charles R. Horn, (1914).

† The original minutes of the Committee of Safety of Northampton county, of which Major Robert Traill was a member, are in possession of Dr. Edward Moore Green of Easton, one of his descendants. Dr. Green also has the duelling pistols presented to Robert Traill by the will of Col. George Taylor, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, of whose will Robert Traill was one of the executors. An etching of these pistols is shown as a tail-piece to this notice.

Colonel Melchior Hay Horn, Jr., was a prominent and public spirited citizen. He spent his early life in Easton where he was educated in Vanderveer's School, known as the Minerva Academy. He began his business life as bookkeeper for a stage line, then for four years was employed in the general store of Winter & Yohe of Easton. He then entered into other employment. For a time as a partner of William Burke in the grocery business, then in the lumber and milling business with John Burke. Later he was engaged by the Borough of Easton, as one of the engineers to regrade the streets, and while thus employed was appointed weighmaster of the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canals at Easton, and was later appointed one of the supervisors of the canal. He then entered the employ of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, now the First National Bank of Easton. This was the beginning of his successful banking career. In 1857, at the age of 35 years, he was elected cashier of the newly organized Bank of Catasauqua, then a State bank, but which in 1865 was changed into the National Bank of Catasauqua. In 1888 he was advanced to the office of president, and his son Frank Melchior Horn, was made cashier. Colonel Horn continued as its president until his death in 1890, when Frank M. succeeded him in that office. On the breaking out of the Civil War Colonel Horn was on the staff of Governor Andrew G. Curtin, and was immediately called into service to aid in forwarding troops to the front. In 1862 he was elected Major of the Fifth Regiment of Pennsylvania Militia, and in 1863 was made Colonel of the 38th Regiment of Pennsylvania Militia (the Iron Regiment), and was then sworn into the United States service. Col. Horn was a Democrat in politics and took an active interest in the affairs of his party. He was also greatly interested in local affairs. He served as burgess of the Borough of Catasauqua in 1874, and as a school director for 28 years (1858-1877, 1879-1887). He was in fact interested in all civic and religious affairs of his community. On moving to Catasauqua he and his family connected themselves with St. Paul's Lutheran Church, and in 1873 was largely instrumental in establishing the Trinity Luthern Church, organized as an English preaching church. Colonel Horn was for many years superintendent of the Sunday school connected with that church. I have thus briefly outlined the life and work of Colonel Horn to show how the life of a father influenced that of a son, who in many respects seems to have followed in his footsteps.

Frank Melchior Horn was educated in the schools of Catasauqua, graduating at the High School, class of 1868, and immediately thereafter, when a lad of 16 years, entered the National Bank of Catasauqua to begin his life work as a banker. He filled every position in that bank, serving for nine years (1890-1899) as its president. At the time of his passing away he was serving as cashier, which position of trust he filled at two different times, first from 1888 to 1890, and again from 1899 down to the time of his death in 1920. During the time he was president his brother Charles R. Horn filled the position of cashier. In 1918-19, he was president of the Pennsylvania State Bankers Association.

Frank M. Horn was the first president of the Catasauqua High School Alumni Association, and in 1918, at the fiftieth alumni reunion was its guest of honor. Like his father he was an active officer of Trinity Lutheran Church. He was a member of Porter Lodge No. 284, F. & A. M., of which he was a past master; a member of Allen Commandery Knights Templar, and a Noble of Rajah Temple of Reading, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Society Sons of the Revolution, and of the following clubs, Catasauqua and Charotin of Catasauqua and the Livingston at Allentown. He enlisted in the Pennsylvania State Militia serving as Sergeant in Company I, Captain H. S. Harte, of the 4th Regiment Colonel J. H. Good, and of which his father, Melchior Hay Horn, was Lieutenant Colonel. He was engaged in active service in 1877, during the railroad strike when his company was called out by the Governor to suppress the riots at Reading, Pa.

On January 18, 1882, he married Elizabeth F. Williams, daughter of John and Emma Caroline (Heilig) Williams of Catasauqua, who with four children survive him, viz., First Lieut. Melchior Hay, Emma Williams, wife of Cornelius Van Inwagon, Susan, wife of Mitchell D. McMullen, and Eleanor Traill, wife of Ralph Kempsmith.

Lieutenant Melchior Hay Horn, the third of that name, enlisted in the World War on August 27, 1917. He was commissioned First Lieutenant in the Air Service of the United States Army, then as commanding officer of the 615th. Squadron, and later transferred to the Engineering Office of the First Provisional Wing. He was mustered out of service January 23, 1919. This makes a complete unbroken family chain, in a direct line, through five generations of those answering their country's call to arms in time of war, beginning with the War of the Revolution and ending with the World War. All honor to this patriotic family.

It was my privilege to know Frank M. Horn intimately from his early boyhood down to the time of his death. As a young man he was unselfish, clean in thought, and a most agreeable and congenial companion. Later when I became president of the Thomas Iron Company and of the Ironton Railroad Company (1892-1913), and he had become the head of the National Bank of Catasauqua, we had close business relations. I always found him obliging, capable and courteous. He was a loveable man with a delightful winning personality, the type of man that this Society takes pride in referring to as having been among its members.

Rev. Jacob Fry, D.D., L.H.D., LL.D.

Jacob Fry, Professor in the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia, was born at Trappe, Montgomery county, Pa., Feb. 9, 1836; died at Mount Airy, Philadelphia, Feb. 19, 1920. His father was the Hon. Jacob Fry, Member of the U. S. House of Representatives (XXIV and XXV Congresses, 1835-39), and Auditor General of Pennsylvania during the fifties. His mother was Mary, daughter of the Hon. Samuel Gross, Member of the U. S. House of Representatives (XVI and XVII Congresses, 1827-31). He was prepared for college at Mercersburg, Pa., where, as a boy, he made the acquaintance of Drs. Philip Schaff and William Julius Mann, with whom he was afterwards associated in the Ministerium of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia Seminary, and whence he entered Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., from which he was graduated with distinction in 1851, and by which he was honored in later life with two honorary degrees, viz., D.D. in 1873, and L.H.D. in 1911, at the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation. Graduating from the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1853, he became pastor, early in 1854, of the First Lutheran church of Carlisle, where he remained for eleven years. During the Confederate invasion of 1863, Carlisle was occupied by the enemy, and at a Sunday service he found a large number of their officers among his hearers. When the town was afterwards shelled, he had to seek safety with his family, out of the range of the guns. During his Carlisle pastorate, he was Secretary of the Lutheran Synod of West Pennsylvania, Director of the Gettysburg Seminary and a frequent contributor to the Church Papers.

His second pastorate was that of Trinity church, Reading, 1865-96, well-known as one of the largest, most thorughly organized and most influential congregations of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, where he was eminently successful as a popular, practical preacher, as well as a diligent and vigilant pastor and an efficient administrator. In the community he was known as a public spirited citizen, a courteous, affable gentleman, a cheerful companion and warm and devoted friend. He was successively Secretary and Treasurer, of the Venerable Ministerium, during his Reading pastorate; the meetings of the Executive Committee of that Body, which at that time, conducted all its rapidly growing business between the annual conventions, in his church, constantly kept him in close touch with all that was transpiring in the Mother Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. He was for many years a Director of Mulenberg College, and both a Director and Secretary of the Board of the Theological Seminary, up to the time when, on his election as a Professor, his service as Director ceased. While not a delegate, he arranged in 1866 for the meeting in Trinity church of the convention to prepare for the organization of the General Council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in North America. Subsequently he represented the Ministerium in no less than twenty-two conventions of the General Council, and rejoiced in conveying in 1918 to the convention of the General Synod assembled in New York the message from the General Council assembled in another church in the same city, that final action had been taken for entering with the General Synod into the union of the three General Bodies of the Lutheran Church that had grown out of the labors of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg. After his removal to Philadelphia, he served the Ministerium for three years (1907-10) in the laborious and responsible position of President, carrying with it the general care of over 500 congregations, and nearly the same number of ministers and beside the spiritual functions of the office, requiring close attention to purely business matters. As a fitting tribute, at the last meeting of the Ministerium which he attended (1919) he was elected to the rarely occupied office of Senior, an honorary office originally created to show proper respect to the Patriarch Muhlenberg, and which had been vacant for over fifty years. As secretary of the Executive Committee of the Ministerium, he had in 1869-70, conducted all the correspondence connected with the return of Rev. C. F. Heyer to India, and the reorganization there of the Rajahmundry mission in the Telegu country. He was for many years a very active member of the English Board of Home Missions of the General Council, and later President of its Board of Church Extension, until its practical dissolution by the union of the three Bodies. Spending three summers on the other side of the Atlantic he visited most of the countries, and especially the Lutheran countries of Europe, as well as Egypt and the Holy Land.

Elected in 1891, to the Chair of Homiletics and Sacred Oratory in the Seminary at Mount Airy, Philadelphia, he at first continued in his Reading pastorate, by the aid of an assistant, while he devoted only part of his time to the Seminary. In 1896, he resigned at Reading, and moved to the Seminary grounds, where beside the duties of his department, he soon became the Secretary of the Faculty, and served as such until his death. Within a few months after removing to Mount Airy, he took charge of the Church of the Ascension on the Seminary grounds, and continued in this office performing pastoral duties until two days before his death, and preaching also on the preceding Sunday with but little indication of his advanced age. He died after only a brief illness on February 19th, 1920.

Married on September 13, 1855, to Eliza J. Wattles of Gettysburg, he was survived by two sons, Charles Livingstone Fry, D.D., of Philadelphia, and Frank F. Fry, D.D., of Rochester, N. Y., and five daughters, Mrs. Philip S. Zieber of Reading, and Mrs. William Benbow, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Misses Mary G., Kate W. and Jennie, residing in Philadelphia. His wife died ten months before. By a remarkable coincidence husband and wife had reached, to the very day, the same age.

Dr. Fry was president of the Pennsylvania-German Society, 1915-17. His contributions to authorship were confined to three books growing immediately out of his incessant practical activity: "History of Trinity Church, Reading", 1894; "Elementary Homiletics", 1897, and "The Pastor's Guide", 1915; beside occasional sermons which were published, and review articles.

Luther Jackson Bricker.

Luther Jackson Bricker belonged to one of those many families of Germans who on coming to America, first settled in Pennsylvania, and then migrated to Virginia. His immigrant ancestor, Peter Bricker, who was his great-great-grandfather, arrived in America from Germany in 1732, and made his home near Lititz, Lancaster county, Pa. His great-grandfather, Jacob Bricker (son of Peter the emigrant), was born near Chambersburg, Pa., in 1782, and died at Muncy, Indiana, in 1859. Jacob doubtless lived for a time in Virginia, at any rate, his son, William O. Bricker, the grandfather of Luther Jackson, was born in Page county, Va., March 19, 1810, and died in Bridgewater, Va., December 15, 1880. Henry A. Bricker, the father of Luther Jackson, was born in Page county, Va., February 5, 1836.

Luther Jackson Bricker was born June 23, 1862, at Bridgewater, Rockingham county, Virginia. When he was admitted to the Pennsylvania-German Society, October 26, 1905, he was employed as a traveling agent for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and made his home at Cincinnati, Ohio. On January 1, 1910, he was appointed General Immigration Agent for that railroad, and moved to St. Paul, Minn., where his headquarters were located. He passed away at St. Paul, March 7, 1920, after which his widow moved back to Virginia.

Rev. Theodore Emanuel Schmauk, D.D., LL.D.

Theodore Emanuel Schmauk was born in Lancaster, Pa., May, 30, 1860. He was the son of the Rev. Benjamin William and Wilhelmina Catharine (Hingel) Schmauk. The more immediate forbears of the Schmauk family in America hailed from Wurtemberg, Germany. In 1819, two brothers, Johann Gottfried and Benjamin Friedrich, sailed from Holland on the vessel Susquehanna and landed in Philadelphia. The latter, then nineteen years of age, married six years later, and on October 26, 1828, there was born a son, Benjamin William, who in 1860 became the father of the subject of this sketch.

When about nine years of age the son was prostrated with a severe attack of diphtheria, and for some time his life hung upon a slender thread. The traces of this sickness were never fully wiped out in after life.

He passed through all the grades of the Lebanon Public School, and in the fall of 1874 entered the preparatory school known as Swatara Institute, at Jonestown. He proved to be an exceptionally bright and model student, fond of books and a thirst for knowledge. In the fall of 1876 he entered the University of Pennsylvania, and under such eminent teachers as Drs. Krauth, Muhlenberg, Thompson and others distinguished himself as a student, thinker and writer. He won the Junior Philosophical Prize, the Alumni Junior Declamation Prize, the Philomathean Society's Senior Prize for the best original essay, and upon graduation was the valedictorian of his class.

In the fall of 1880 he entered the Lutheran Theological Seminary, then located at Franklin Square, Philadelphia. In 1881 he established a student monthly magazine known as The Indicator. Upon graduation, he had the choice of entering into one of seven fields of usefulness within the Church. He had received a call to the professorship of the English Language and literature and Philosophy at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., another to become editor of the church paper known as The Lutheran, and five other calls to congregations in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Camden, N. J., Catasauqua, Pa., and Lebanon, Pa. As Salem Church, Lebanon, Pa., had issued a call to both father and son, it was accepted and he became the associate pastor in that large parish with his father, where he remained and labored to the end of his life.

Within seven years, there were added to the already large parish four missions, three of whose chapels he had been instrumental in erecting. His gifts as a versatile and many-sided genius were at once manifested in more ways than one. He took a deep interest in local affairs affecting the civic and moral welfare of the community and sought to awaken civic pride in the hearts of the citizens. In 1885 a series of racy articles, under the title of The Village Blacksmith, from his pen, appeared in one of the local papers. He later delivered lectures on timely and popular subjects. He began a series of "Heart Glow Papers" in The Lutheran in 1887. In the nineties he contributed editorials and other articles to the Sunday School Times, then edited by the widely-known Dr. H. Clay Trumbull, his life-long and very intimate friend. At one time Dr. Trumbull had urged him to become his associate as editor.

In 1889 he became seriously sick with typhoid fever, and his life was despaired of. He recovered, but serious inroads had been made upon his constitution, never any too robust, and from that time on he ceased to be a well man. Physicial breakdowns became the rule rather than the exception, due to the many responsibilities he had assumed, and to the prodigious amount of literary, pastoral, administrative and other work that fell to his lot.

In 1891 he became a leading spirit in the organization of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua, at that time one of the most ambitious and successful Chautauquas in the country. Durring 1895 and 1896 he was its Chancellor. In 1891, a year after Lee L. Grumbine, Esq., of Lebanon, Pa., had agitated the organization of a Pennsylvania-German Society, he became one of the founders and promoters. At a preliminary meeting held February 26, 1891, at Lancaster, he was made chairman of a committee to issue a call for the organization of the Society on April 15th in the Court House at Lancaster. He at once took a prominent and a leading part in the work of the Society and did much to keep it true to its aims and ideals. In 1895 he was elected Chairman of the Executive Committee and served in that capacity (with the exception of one year, 1896, when he was elected President) up to the time of his death. In spite of an ever-increasing number of tasks, and responsibilities as editor, author, administrator, and official in the Church he served, he devoted much time and energy to the work of the Society. His monumental work of the early history of the Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania, as well as other contributions, are among the most valuable historical publications issued by the Society. His insistence on a high order of merit, both as to content and literary style, of papers submitted to be published has done more than a little to bring the historical work of this Society up to a high standard. His diplomatic skill in often pouring oil on troubled waters and injecting fresh enthusiasm into the membership has been recognized and appreciated by all. Many of his impromptu addresses, abounding in genial, whole-souled wit and humor will long be remembered. That he was a pillar of the first order in the organization during all these years is universally conceded.

On January 14, 1898, he became one of the founders of the Lebanon County Historical Society, and easily its leading spirit and promoter. The death of his father two months later marked a new and distinct era in his life. From that time on he rose rapidly in the esteem of the Church, and one responsiblity after another was placed upon his shoulders. The third story of his home became a veritable beehive of literary industry, and a secretary and a stenographer were kept busy attending to his voluminous correspondence, assorting material and reading proofs to keep the press going. Most of this work was done amid spells of sickness, several of which brought him near to death's door. It will suffice to give a list of the positions he held: Literary Editor of The Lutheran (1889-1920); Editor of Lutheran Church Review (1895-1920); Editor of Sunday School Graded Series and Commentary (1896-1920;) Member of Church Book Committee (1895-1920); Trustee of Muhlenberg College (1898-1920); President of the General Council, a body of over a half million communicant members (1903-1920); Member of International Lutheran Conference Committee (1903-1920); President of the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Theological Seminary (1908-1920); Professor of Apologetics and Ethics in the same Seminary (1911-1920); Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee for the union of three Lutheran Bodies into what is now the United Lutheran Church in America and its leading organizing spirit (1917-1918); Member of the Executive Board, of Board of Publication, and Chairman of the Parish and Church School Board of the United Lutheran Church (1918-1920); Member of the National Lutheran Council in America (1918-1920); Member of the two Historical Societies already named. In all of these positions he was active and in most of them master of interests and proceedings down to minute details.

He was author of the following books: "Negative Criticism of the Old Testament;" "The Voice in Speech and Song;" "Charms and Secrets of Good Conversation;" "History of Old Salem Church;" "Heart-Broken;" "Hypnotism;" "Bible History;" "Bible Geography;" "Early Churches of Lebanon Valley;" "History of the Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania;" "Bible Facts and Scenes;" "'The Christian Kindergarten;" "The Confessional Principle;" "Annotated Edition of Benjamin Rush's Account of the German Inhabitants of Pennsylvania;" "In Mother's Arms;" "How to Teach in Sunday School;" "Bibliography of Religious Education and Child Psychology."

In 1898 Muhlenberg College conferred on him the title of Doctor of Divinity, and in 1910 Augustana College at Rock Island, Ill., honored him with the title of Doctor of Laws. Dr. Schmauk was much in demand as a speaker on great public occasions of civic, social and historic importance, especially during the World War. His addresses at such assemblies are still fresh in the memory of many. Under the weight of his many labors, he finally was crushed, and ended a remarkably resourceful and many-sided career on March 23, 1920.

George W. Sandt.

William Edelman.

Esquire Edelman was born at Pottstown, Pa., July 3, 1839, and lived there all his life, dying March 24, 1920, in the 81st year of his age.

He was descended on both sides of his ancestry from German stock; his immigrant ancestors having arrived in America during the middle of the eighteenth century. He was admitted to membership in the Pennsylvania-German Society October 28, 1909, on the recommendation of Rev. J. J. Kline.

He was the grandson of John Edelman, who died in 1869, and his wife Magdalena Freed. His father was Isaac Edelman born Feb. 20, 1800, died in 1868, and his wife Tina Sechler (1798-1876). She was the daughter of Henry and Susanna (Gucker) Sechler.

His father, Isaac Edelman, was in the shoe business at Pottstown for many years, and when he retired his son, William Edelman, the subject of this notice, succeeded him in carrying on the "Edelman Shoe Store", which had become a household name in that borough and surrounding country. William carried on the business for 45 years.

In politics William Edelman was an enthusiastic Democrat and much interested in his party, which recognized his services and loyalty by electing him for three terms as a justice of the peace. He prided himself on not missing any opportunity to vote, and on being the very first person, to put in an appearance, year after year when the polls were opened in the second ward, and in casting the very first ballot. The election board always greeted him with a cordial "good morning".

He was equally active and zealous in his church work, being a faithful and consistent member of the Lutheran Church of the Transfiguration of Pottstown.

He died at Pottstown March 24, 1920, and lies buried in their family plot alongside of his wife, Amelia, who preceded him in death by 20 years. Two sons, Raymond and Albert, also preceded him in death. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Adele Reilly of Philadelphia, and a number of grandchildren.

George Steinman.

George Steinman was born at Lancaster, February 17, 1847, and lived there all his life, passing away March 31, 1920. He was the son of George Michael Steinman (1815-1884) and his wife Elizabeth F. Myer (1816-1890). His great-great-grandfather, Christian Frederick Steinman, who was his immigrant ancestor, was born in Dresden, Saxony, in 1711, and came to America settling in Lititz, Lancaster county, Pa., where he died in 1760. His great-grandparents were John Frederick Steinman, born 1752, and his wife Sybilla M. Mayer. His grandparents were John Frederick Steinman, Ja., (1789-1884) and his wife Maria Gill.

The Steinmans were all Moravians, and George, the subject of this notice, remained faithful to that church during his entire life, serving as a trustee of the Moravian Church at Lancaster at the time of his death.

As a youth George attended the public schools of Lancaster and completed his education at Beck's Academy at Lititz. He then entered his father's hardware store located at 26-28 West King street, Lancaster, of which later he became a partner. They operated under the firm name of George M. Steinman & Co. After his father passed away in 1884, he became the sole proprietor. In 1899 owing to failing health he retired from active business and the hardware store was sold to a corporation operating under the name of The Steinman Hardware Co. This hardware store is the oldest in the United States. It came into the Steinman family in 1760, and was operated by four generations of Steinmans in direct descent. It is still flourishing on the same site as the original store of 160 years ago.

George Steinman was a well-known local historian and antiquarian. He made a large and valuable collection of historical papers, account books, and historical data, which he presented in part to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, and part to the Lancaster County Historical Society. It was always a pleasure in passing by his store to stop and examine the old documents, account books and archaeological relics that he placed on exhibition in his windows from time to time.

He was a member of the Pennsylvania Society Sons of the Revolution, in right of his great-grandfather, Jacob Krug (1750-1817), who was a captain in Colonel Matthias Slough's Battalion of Lancaster County Pennsylvania Associators, forming part of the "Flying Camp" of 1776; also a captain in Colonel Jacob Glotz's Battalion, Lancaster Militia, October 25, 1777. He was also a member of the Masonic Fraternity.

He took an active interest in the civic and social affairs of his city, of which he was one of the leading citizens. He was a member of the Hamilton Club of which for several years he was president. He was the first president of the Lancaster County Historical Society, serving as such from its formation in 1896 to 1917. After his retirement as president he continued as a member of the executive committee. During the last few years of his life he was practically incapacitated by illness, and finally passed away suddenly with a stroke on March 31, 1920. He did not marry, and is survived by a sister, Sarah Meyer, wife of Capt. George M. Franklin, of Lancaster.

William Jacob Heller.

William Jacob Heller, born in Northampton county, Pennsylvania, December 3, 1857, was the seventh in line of direct descent from Christopher Heller, who was born at Petersheim, near Bingen on the Rhine, Germany, in 1688, and emigrated to America with his six sons. They sailed from the port of Rotterdam by ship, "Winter Galley," arriving in Philadelphia and qualifying September 5, 1738. The third of these sons, in point of age, was John Michael Heller, the great-great-great-grandfather of William Jacob, born in Germany in 1724, and died at or near Hellertown in 1803. The great-great-grandparents of William Jacob, were David Heller, born at Hellertown, October 5, 1751, died January 24, 1833, and his wife Elizabeth Ladenmacker, born December 14, 1749, died July 20, 1827. His great-grandparents were Yost Heller (1783-1868), and his wife Elizabeth Shaffer. His grandparents were Jacob Heller (Jan. 1804-Sep. 1881) and his wife Sarah Bellits.

His parents were Josiah B. Heller, born at Hellertown, October 1829, died there December 5, 1898, and his wife Susan Heinlein, daughter of George Bay Heinlein, born 1799, and granddaughter of James Heinlein and his wife Ann Bay, (1782-1852). His maternal great-grandfather was Captain George Heinlein, born 1743, died October 1, 1805, and Sarah Heinlein, his wife. Captain George Heinlein was a resident of Durham township, Bucks county, Pa., where he owned a farm, and whereon he set aside a small lot, along the public road, to be used as a private burying ground. His body and those of members of the Heinlein and Morgan families lie buried. (This farm was the property of Dr. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr., from 1889 to 1913.) The first enlistment of George Heinlein in the Revolutionary War was on May 6, 1777, when he was captain of the Seventh Company, Third Battalion from Bucks county, and his second enlistment was on May 10, 1780, as Captain of the Eighth Company, Second Battalion from Bucks county. (See Pennsylvania Archives, Second Series, Vol. XIV, page 185, and Fifth Series, Vol. V, pp. 353 and 363.)

After William Jacob Heller completed his education in the schools of Easton, Pa., he followed various pursuits for a time. In 1886 he established a flag manufactory which proved highly successful, and which he carried on over the remainder of his life. His factory at Easton was the first exclusive flag factory in the United States. At the time of his death, April 1, 1920, it was said that he was making nearly one-half of the flags used in this country. His activities were largely responsible for the agitation which put a flag on every schoolhouse.

He gave his lecture on "The Evolution of our National Ensign," in many of the principal cities of America, and had honors conferred upon him by The Woman's Relief Corps; The National Congress of Women and other National Patriotic Organizations. He was deeply interested in the history of his native county and was largely instrumental in the movement which led to the organization of the Northampton County Historical and Genealogical Society, of which he served a term as president. The results of his historical researches were given to the society in the form of papers from time to time and his large library was made up almost exclusively of historical works.

He was also a member of the Bucks County Historical Society, to which he contributed several papers. Also a member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and a charter member of the George Washington Memorial Association. His contribution to the Pennsylvania-German in 1911, entitled "Historic Easton from the Window of a Trolley Car," was reprinted in book form making a publication of 191 pages. He was elected to membership in the Pennsylvania-German Society January 18, 1898.

Mr. Heller was an aggressive business man and took an active part in the affairs of Easton, the city of his residence. He was an active member of the Easton Board of Trade, and devoted much of his spare time and money too, to the many movements for the advancement of his city and county.

On May 5, 1877, he was married to Miss Tillie A. Lesher, daughter of George Lesher. They became the parents of three children, two sons, Ray and Harry, who died in early childhood, and one daughter, Bessie Evelyn, who with his widow, survive him.

Rev. Myron Oscar Rath.

Rev. Myron Oscar Rath, a Lutheran clergyman residing at Allentown, Pa., was born at Petersville, Northampton county, Pennsylvania, September 25, 1854. He was the son of Rev. William Rath who was born September 24, 1826, died July 2, 1889, and his wife Christiana E. Snyder, who died April 16, 1881. He was descended from German immigrants on both sides of his ancestry, but their names are not at hand. The family tradition is that they came to America early in the eighteenth century. Neither did he know the name or have a record of his paternal great-grandfather, son of the immigrant, but his maternal great-grandfather was Henry Snyder. His paternal grandparents were Jacob Rath, born May 25, 1801, died November 27, 1860, and Susanna Boehm whom he married November 13, 1825, she was born January 21, 1794, died May 4, 1844. She was a lineal descendant of Rev. John Philip Boehm, that pioneer preacher of the Reformed Church in the United States. Jacob Rath was a blacksmith and miller, a highly respectable, honest, sturdy Pennsylvania German, who was the father of eight children. His maternal grandparents were Jonas Snyder, born April 16, 1798, died September, 1881, and his wife Sarah Flick. Their bodies lie buried in the Friedensville cemetery.

Rev. Myron Oscar Rath attended the Allentown Seminary, later converted into Muhlenberg College from which he was graduated with the degree of A.B., in 1872. He then attended the German University at Watertown, Wisconsin, for one year. He then entered the Mount Airy Theological Seminary from which he was graduated in 1877, and was then ordained by the Lutheran Ministerium of Philadelphia, the ordination taking place in St. John's Lutheran Church at Allentown. He immediately entered upon his duties as assistant to his father, serving in that capacity for 13 years in the Salisbury-Emaus charge, consisting of four churches, Jerusalem at Salisbury; St. John's at Emaus; Solomon's at Macungie and the Blue Church near Coopersburg, all in Lehigh county. He served as pastor of Solomon's Church, Macungie, 1881-1900; Zion Upper Milford township, 1890-1892; Jerusalem, Salisbury and St. John's, Emaus, 1890-1920. In 1890 the Mountainville congregation was added to his charge. He served these different churches for 31 years. The combined services of father and son, ministering to this group of churches aggregated 63 years. His father, Rev. William Rath, served continuously in the ministry of the Evangelical Lutheran Church from 1852 to the year of his death in 1889, serving but two charges during his ministry, the first one for five years, and the second one for thirty-two years. During these 37 years he baptized 3,718, married 1,031 couples and buried 1,466.

Rev. Myron Oscar Rath was interested in the civic affairs of his city, and from 1884 to 1887, was a member of the School Board of Allentown. He died at his home at Allentown, May 6, 1920, of bronchial pneumonia. He did not marry, but left to survive him, two sisters and a nephew.

Samuel Philips Heilman, M.D.

Dr. Heilman was born at Heilmandale, Lebanon County, Pa., on December 4, 1842, son of John and Catharine (Heilman) Heilman, cousins, who was son of John Henry, son of John Adam (Aug 2, 1745 O. S.—Oct. 4, 1827) and Catharine Schmidt, dau. Peter Schmidt and Barbara Lovengood. John Adam served as an officer in the County Associators during the Revolution and was present at the battle of Long Island. He was son of John Adam, bap. Feb. 24, 1715, and Maria Catharine Steger; son of Johann, son of Johann Jakob, son of Johann Dietrich, son of Hans Dietrich Heilman, of Zuzenhausen, Baden, Germany. His ancestor, John Jacob, settled in this country Sept. 9, 1738.

Dr. Heilman obtained an elementary education at the Annville Academy and Heilmandale High School, followed by a course at Franklin and Marshall College, from which he graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1862, securing the degree of A.M. in 1865. He began to read medicine in 1864 under the preceptorship of Dr. C. D. Gloninger, of Lebanon, Pa. After a course of two winters and one summer at the University of Pennsylvania he obtained his degree of M.D. on March 14, 1867.

He practised medicine at Heilmandale for many years, continuing his practice after taking up his residence in Lebanon a few years prior to his decease. He was a member of the Lebanon County Medical Society, serving as its president in 1891 and again in 1898; its secretary in 1893 and 1894; on its board of censors for three years from 1892; its treasurer in 1889 and 1890, and, for some years, its medical and surgical reporter. He also held membership in the State Medical Society, serving as vice-president in 1902 and 1903, and as a member of the standing committee on food adulteration. He was dispensary physician at the Good Samaritan Hospital, of Lebanon, Pa., in 1892, and he also served as medical inspector for Lebanon County under direction of the State Board of Health, as well as quarantine officer for the same county. As a member of the American Medical Association he frequently represented the county at the association conventions.

Religiously, Dr. Heilman was a lifelong member of the old, historic Hill Reformed Church, serving as its organist for a period of thirty-five years, and as trustee and treasurer for six years prior to 1887. He taught in the Sunday School since 1867, and was a member of its Home and Foreign Missionary Society. He served as secretary of the Committee on Sunday Schools of the Eastern Synod of the Reformed Church in the United States; chairman of the Committee on Sunday School Work of Lebanon Classis of said Synod; vice-president and secretary of the Board of Trustees of said Classis; delegate of the Classis to the Eastern Synod of the Reformed Church at Shamokin in 1895, and as delegate to the General Synod at Dayton, Ohio, in 1896. He succeeded his father as a trustee of Franklin & Marshall College serving as such at the time of his death. For three years prior to 1902 Dr. Heilman served as a member of the executive committee of the Lebanon County Sabbath School Association.

Among agricultural activities Dr. Heilman was perhaps the most prominent man in his county. He was secretary of the Mt. Gretna Agricultural, Mechanical and Industrial Exposition Association for twelve years prior to 1903; secretary of the Heilmandale Creamery Association for eighteen years; member of the Lebanon County Agricultural and Horticultural Association of which he also served as secretary for many years; delegate member of the State Board of Agriculture; lecturer at many county and local farmers' institutes; delegate, by appointment of the Governor of the State, to the Farmers' National Congress at Parkersburg, West Virginia, in 1894; Atlanta, Georgia, in 1895; St. Paul, Minnesota, in 1897; Boston, Massachusetts, in 1899; Macon, Georgia, in 1902, and Niagara Falls in 1903.

In educational matters he was a director of the public schools of North Lebanon Township from 1879 to 1882, and served as a member of the Board of Trustees of Franklin and Marshall College, his alma mater, since 1895.

Dr. Heilman was much interested in historical activities. He was a charter member of the Lebanon County Historical Society, and its faithful secretary from its inception until his death. When the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies was organized January 5, 1905, he became its first secretary and served as such, most efficiently, up to the time of his decease. To him is largely due the make-up of its excellent and valuable Year Book. In the Pennsylvania-German Society, on November 5, 1908, he offered a resolution, which was adopted, looking towards the appointment of a committee to compile a bibliography of Pennsylvania-German Dialect Literature, which committee was named October 14, 1910, eventually resulting in the valuable paper by Harry Hess Reichard, Ph.D., on "Pennsylvania-German Dialect Writings and Their Writers," appearing in Vol. 26 of the publications of that Society. He was a corresponding member of the Dauphin County Historical Society, and, by virtue of the service of his great-grandfather, a member of the Pennsylvania Society Sons of the Revolution.

On September 30, 1885, Dr. Heilman married Miss Elizabeth Beaver, daughter of Dr. Daniel H. Beaver, of Fredericksburg, Pa., who preceded him in death. He is survived by three children, Anna Barbara, Catharine Ruth, and John Beaver Heilman, also by a brother, the Rev. U. Henry Heilman, of Lebanon, Pa.

During the latter years of his life the doctor's sight became impaired, as well as his general health. On Wednesday, September 1, 1920, he underwent an operation at the Lebanon Sanatorium from which he failed to rally, death ensuing at 12.30 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, September 11, 1920.

He was elected a member of the Pennsylvania-German Society at its organization on April 15, 1891.

PREFACE

"Remember the days of old; consider the years of many generations"

TOHICKON Union Church* is beautifully situated near the village of Keelersville, in the extreme western corner of Bedminster township, Bucks county, Pennsylvania, on the Old Bethlehem road, half a mile from its intersection with the Ridge road. It is three-tenths of a mile south of Weisel postoffice and four-tenths of a mile south of the point where the Old Bethlehem road crosses the Tohickon creek. The church stands on the east side fronting on the Old Bethlehem road, which is the dividing line between Bedminster and Rockhill townships. About 1745 a log church was erected on the Rockhill township side of the road, but the deed for the land, 1 acre 56 perches, did not pass until September 1, 1753. In 1766 a stone church was built on that property, and it was not until 1838 that a church was erected on the Bedminster

* This church is built of native "new red sandstone," its size is 50 feet by 75 feet on the outside. It is unique in having two entrance doors in front, one belonging to each denomination, the one farthest south is inscribed above the door "Tohickon Peace Evangelical Lutheran Congregation," and over the north door "Tohickon Saint Peter's Reformed Congregation."

All honor to the people of the Tohickon Union Church and to the many other Lutheran and Reformed denominations throughout Pennsylvania, who have worshipped together in the same churches in Christian unity and Christian love for nearly two centuries.

side of the road, where the present church stands. The old burying-ground is in the church-yard back of the church, but extending for some distance both north and south thereof, the northern part extends out the public road. This old cemetery appears to be reasonably well cared for and is enclosed by a substantial stone wall. As is usual in old cemeteries, many of the earliest burials are not marked, while others are marked only with sandstone markers without inscriptions of any kind. The new cemetery (which is incorporated) lies on the west side of the road in Rockhill township, immediately across from the church and facing its front entrance. But if all old graves were marked, and all old church records and documents preserved, there would be but very little research work left for the church historian. This is equally true of all research work, which affords many people a great deal of pleasure. Many of our graveyards are sadly neglected, with markers falling into decay, and many of the inscriptions slowly but surely becoming illegible. Much work is being done however by members of our local historical societies and others in copying tombstone-inscriptions in order to preserve them, but much still remains to be done.

Fortunately the records of the Tohickon Reformed congregation begun in 1745, and therefore the earliest in Bucks county, and the Lutheran records begun in 1750, are at hand, and we are able to present the translations thereof in this volume. As will be seen the Lutheran records are not as full and complete as those of the Reformed congregation; they consist mostly of births and baptisms, with but four communion lists, viz—for the years 1826-28-30 and 34. There are no records of either marriages or deaths; if such records were kept, as would seem likely, they must have been recorded in some other book which has not been discovered, or the pastors may have kept private records, which did not become the property of the church. Thanks are due to Rev. C. R. Fetter pastor of the Lutheran congregation and to Rev. Samuel E. Moyer pastor of the Reformed congregation for the generous aid they have given to Dr. Hinke in placing their church books and documents at his disposal.

The good people of the Reformed church are to be congratulated in knowing that Dr. Hinke, although now a member of the Presbyterian church, is willing to give his time and talents to the study and writing of their church history, but they can never know or appreciate the great amount of labor that such intelligent research requires. With him it has been truly a labor of love. In connection with this work he has traced the history of many ministers back into Germany and Switzerland, thus getting reliable information concerning their early life and antecedents, and also particularly about their education before coming to America, and in general he has added much entirely new material to the history of the Reformed church and its ministers. In this connection I want to invite special attention to his exhaustive "History of Goshenhoppen Reformed Charge," published by this society in Volumes 27 and 28 of its proceedings; also to his translation of the Minutes of Coetus of the Reformed Church, discovered in the archives of the General Synod of the Dutch Reformed Church at the Hague in Holland, which has filled a gap in the history of the Reformed church.†

I was told by a former librarian of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, that a large part of its patrons was made up of those who were studying their family genealogies. I mentioned this fact to one of our neighboring librarians, who said that that was true not only of historical society libraries, but of public libraries as well. This interest is due primarily to love of family, but often from a desire for membership in some patriotic society, such as the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, or the Pennsylvania German Society, to become eligible for which their forebears must have arrived in this country prior to 1800. These church records are a great storehouse of information for genealogists, and it is hoped that the publication of other records will be made, not only of the Reformed and Lutheran churches, but of all other denominations as well.

Much difficulty has been experienced in getting possession of some of the old Reformed church records, in fact some have become lost or mislaid, while at least three of them are known to have been destroyed by fire, viz—Donegal Reformed in Lancaster county; Lynn at New Tripoli and Weisenberg both in Lehigh county. Among other Reformed records that cannot be located are Brownbacks in Chester county; White Oak in Lancaster county (found by Rev. D. C. Tobias in 1874, but now again lost) and Kreutz Creek church in York county.

In an address before the Historical Society of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, in 1920, (See Reformed Church Review, Vol. XXIV, page 257), Dr. Hinke deplored the loss of the Springfield, Bucks county and the Lower Saucon, Northampton county records, these we are happy to state, have both since been found and both have been translated by Dr. Hinke; several typewritten copies have been made, thus preserving and protecting their contents against loss. It is hoped that both of these interesting and valuable records can be published at an early day.

The changing of church officers often leads to the loss of records, and moreover some people are very indifferent about preserving old books and documents. This proceedure is all wrong, and very selfish, and it is hoped that the officers of the churches, of whatever denominations, will in time see the wisdom of depositing these valuable books in central places where they can be preserved in fire-proof vaults, and become accessible to all who may want to consult them. I have often thought too, when looking over some of the imperfectly kept church records of the present day, that it would be a wise movement for the synods to employ someone, specially skilled in keeping such records, to visit the congregations and instruct the pastors or secretaries in the art of keeping them correctly, for they too will become of great historic value as the years go by.

For the users of the Tohickon church records it may be helpful to state, that the translator has adopted the English forms of all Christian names, except when they were rare German names, not in use in English, such as Dietrich, Balthaser, Ludwig or Cunigunda. An exclamation mark after a name means that it is unintelligible to the editor, but is reproduced exactly as it stands in the original. In the case of the surnames or family names, no attempt has been made to substitute forms in use at present, except in a few cases, where obvious scribal errors were corrected, the surnames are reproduced exactly as found in the original, including all the scribal variations. The index will help to indicate these variations.

While these Tohickon church records are published by the Pennsylvania German Society, their publication was first suggested by Calvin I. Kephart, Esq., of Washington, D. C., whose forebears worshipped in this church, many of whom lie buried in the churchyard. He and some of his relatives, all tracing to the same fountain-heads, have contributed liberally and helped to make their publication possible. It is therefore due to these loyal friends of old Tohickon church, that we desire to make this slight recognition of their generosity. The gentlemen contributing are as follows:

Calvin I. Kephart, B.S., B.C.S., LL.M., Washington, D. C.; Ralph C. Kephart, Ensign, U. S. Navy, Pacific Coast; Paul Reed, Bedford, Pa.; William A. Weisel, Bedford, Pa.; W. R. Weisel, Tacoma, Washington; John M. Weisel, Akron, Ohio; Lieut. Col. Ermund T. Weisel, Washington, D. C.; Clayton E. Weisel, Minneapolis, Minn.; James Harold Weisel, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Winfield O. Weisel, Doylestown, Pa.; Elmer P. Weisel, Philadelphia, Pa.; Oscar W. Weisel, Philadelphia, Pa.

We are indeed glad to present a portrait of Rev. Dr. Hinke, the etching of which was placed in this volume without consultation with him.

HISTORY OF THE TOHICKON REFORMED CONGREGATION, BEDMINSTER TOWNSHIP BUCKS COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA. 1745-1854.

THE first Reformed people to appear in Bucks county[1] were the Dutch Reformed. They settled in the southern part of the county, along the Neshaminy creek, near the present village of Churchville, where they organized a Dutch Reformed congregation as early as 1710. The pastors of this congregation preached occasionally to their German Reformed brethren in Philadelphia county, as, for example, Paulus Van Vlecq at Skippack and Whitemarsh during the years 1710-1713.

The German Reformed settlers in Bucks county followed the Dutch a decade or two later, for the first traces of a considerable number of German Reformed people, in what was then Bucks county, do not appear until the year 1734. In that year the Rev. John Philip Boehm wrote a letter to Holland, in which he plead for four ministers for Pennsylvania. The fourth minister, he wrote, "would greatly be needed at Goshenhoppen, about 36 miles from Philadelphia. He might conduct services there every three weeks, and use the rest of the time to feed the poor sheep, at end of the wilderness, in the above-mentioned Saucon, Macungie, Maxatawny and Great Swamp".[2] Saucon was then at the end of the wilderness. But already Reformed people from this distant region had been to see Boehm at Whitpain and had asked for his pastoral services. There is a baptism by Boehm at Egypt on record for September 23, 1734.

[1] It must be remembered that Bucks county extended originally northward to the Kittatiny mountains or "as far as the land might be purchased from the Indians". In fact it comprised all territory in Pennsylvania north of Philadelphia county. In 1752 Northampton county was erected out of Bucks and until 1812 that county included all territory north of the present boundaries of Bucks county. Lehigh county was erected in 1812 out of part of Northampton.

Saucon and Egypt appear again in 1736, when the boy preacher, John Henry Goetschy, entered the Goshenhoppen region. On his circuit, as outlined on the title page of the New Goshenhoppen record, Saucon and Egypt (both then in Bucks county) are mentioned among his preaching stations. Goetschy probably supplied these outlying districts with occasional preaching during the years 1736-1739. With the latter year his ministry in Pennsylvania came to an end. His preaching points in the then Bucks county included at least Egypt, Great Swamp, Macungie and Saucon. Goetschy was followed by Peter Henry Dorsius, pastor at Neshaminy from 1737-1748, who, although he preached at Neshaminy to the Dutch Reformed people, was a German by birth and visited the German congregations repeatedly. A visit to Saucon by Dorsius is on record for the year 1740.

But the full tide of German immigration into the upper parts of Bucks county did not set in till about the year 1740. Beginning with that year and all through the following decade numerous new congregations appear, such as Heidelberg in what is now Lehigh county and Salisbury in the same region. At the latter place John William Straub took out a deed for the church land in 1741. A few years later, in 1746, Michael Schlatter found him at Indian Creek.

About the same time the first traces of church life manifest themselves at three other places, namely at Springfield, Tohickon and the Forks of the Delaware. The first pastor of these churches was John Conrad Wirtz, who deserves a great deal more credit for his pastoral activity than he has thus far received from Reformed historians.

The history of these congregations has often been written in county histories and church papers, but, if must be confessed, with a remarkable disregard to historical facts and a surprising neglect of the church records.

It has been stated by nearly all writers, even former pastors, that the deed for the Tohickon church land was given on September 1, 1743, by Blasius Boyer to the trustees of the Calvanist church in Rockhill township, for fifteen shillings. But, as there is no such deed in existence and as Blasius Boyer did not own the land in question till 1747, and furthermore all the facts stated in connection with this deed apply to the actual deed still on record, given on September 1, 1753, we may dismiss this earlier deed as an historical fiction.

The earliest date in connection with the Tohickon congregation occurs in the old Reformed church record, whose careful and minute study has been sadly neglected in the past, to the detriment of its history.

I.

THE MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN CONRAD WIRTZ

June 1745 to July 1748.

One of the later pastors of the Tohickon congregation, the Rev. John Egidius Hecker, entered into the record twenty-one baptisms, to which he prefixed the following heading:

"The following children were baptized by Dominie Conrad Würze." These baptisms extend from June 16, 1745, to July 17, 1748. Hence we may conclude, with some degree of probability, that the ministry of John Conrad Wirtz extended from about June 1745 to about July 1748. Moreover, there is every reason to think that he was the first pastor of the congregation and as such its founder.

John Conrad Wirtz (originally spelled Würtz by him, but later changed to Wirtz) was born at Zurich, Switzerland, on November 30, 1706. He was the son of Rev. John Conrad Wirtz, Sr.[3] The elder Wirtz was born May 5, 1661. He was pastor at Kloten and later at Neukirchen. In 1711 he became administrator of the charitable foundation of the Great Minster, the chief church at Zurich, but lost this position in 1728, because of mismanagement. He died May 4, 1730. He was married November 3, 1685, to Magdalena Klingler. This union was blessed with fourteen children, eight of whom died in infancy. They were as follows:

1 — Anna Ursula,	b. Dec. 28, 1686; died 1691
2 — Magdalena,	b. Nov. 27, 1688; died 1731
3 — Francis,	twins, b. 1690; died young
4 — Conrad,
5 — Conrad,	b. May 24, 1691; died 1691
6 — Conrad,	b. Aug. 7, 1692; died 1693
7 — Jacob,	b. Jan. 2, 1694; died 1773
8 — Ursula,	b. Feb. 12, 1696; died about 1740
9 — Elizabeth,	b. Sep. 19, 1697; died 1736
10 — Anna,	b. Aug. 27, 1699; died 1703
11 — Conrad,	b. Dec. 4, 1701; died 1702
12 — Anna,	b. Jan. 16, 1703; died 1704
13 — Conrad,	b. Nov. 30, 1706; emigrated to Pennsylvania
14 — Rudolf,	b. Mch. 9, 1709; died 1709

3 According to a sketch of the Wurts family, entitled "The Ancestry of Theodore F. Wurts and his wife Anna Vanuxen", by John S. Wurts, of Philadelphia, which the author kindly placed at the disposal of the writer, John Conrad Wirtz was not only the son of a minister, but he was descended from a line of three ministerial ancestors, all of whom bore the name John Conrad. His great-grandfather, 1606-1667, entered the ministry 1628; his grandfather, 1631-1682, in 1654; and his father, 1661-1730, in 1682. A more elaborate sketch of the Wirtz (Wurtz) family is found in Chambers, Early Germans of New Jersey, (1895) pp. 561-567, & 596.

This list shows that five of their sons had been named Conrad, four of whom died in infancy. The thirteenth child was Conrad or John Conrad, Jr., the subject of this sketch. He no doubt received his training in the Latin school at Zurich, where Henry Goetschy, who later became his brother-in-law, was educated.

When he reached his early manhood he went to Holland, where he entered the service of the Dutch navy, as a cadet. He was perhaps induced to make this choice by the fact that the husband of a sister was in the Dutch service, being stationed at The Hague. Soon, however, he gave up his military career and returned to Zurich where he began to practice law. He left Zurich in October 1734, with a large colony of emigrants.[4] One of his traveling companions, Ludwig Weber, who left the party in Holland and returned to Switzerland, has published a lively account of the difficulties which the emigrants had to face and overcome, as they traveled down the Rhine. Wirtz served as commissary of the expedition. When the party came to Neuwied, in the neighborhood of Coblenz, four couples, among whom were John Conrad Wirtz and Anna Goetschy, the daughter of the Rev. Maurice Goetschy, the leader of the colony, were married. A recent investigation of the church records at Neuwied shows that the event took place on October 28, 1734.[5] [4] For a more extensive account of this emigration see the writer's History of the Goshenhoppen Charge. Lancaster 1920, pp. 96-110, in Vol. XXVII of the Pennsylvania German Society's proceedings.

[5] The entry in the records at Neuwied is as follows: "On the 28th of October 1734, the following persons, members of a Swiss colony, coming from Zurich and traveling to Carolina in America, were joined in marriage here in our church: (1) Johann Conrad Wirtz, leader of the above-mentioned colony, and son of the late Johann Conrad Wirtz, Decanus of the reverend college of canons, and archdeacon of the church of the Great Minster at Zurich and minister of the divine Word there, and his bethrothed, Miss Anna Goetschi, daughter of Maurice Goetschi, minister of the Word of God, pastor and head of the above-mentioned colony; (2) John Conrad Gäweiler, of Stein on the Rhine and Miss Regula Weinmann, of Herrliberg, both of the Canton of Zurich; (3) Hans Jacob Rath-

After many difficulties and trying experiences the colony finally reached Philadelphia on May 29, 1735, by the ship "Mercury", Captain William Wilson, from Rotterdam. "Conrad Würtz" was the first to sign the oath of allegiance in the courthouse at Philadelphia. Exhausted by the fatigues of the long and slow journey, the Rev. Maurice Goetschy died on the day of their landing in Philadelphia. Both his son, John Henry Goetschy and his son-in-law, John Conrad Wirtz, became preachers and ministered to the Reformed settlers in Pennsylvania.

The early activity of Wirtz is described by the Rev. John Philip Boehm, who in his last report to Holland, in the year 1748, writes:

"He was accepted at Old Goshenhoppen to teach school. But they soon got tired of him and sent him away. Afterwards the Mennonites in Cannastocka accepted him for the same work, but he was dismissed by them just as quickly."[6]

Later we find Wirtz preaching to the Reformed people in Lehigh and Bucks counties. From September 1742 to December 1743, he was preaching and baptizing at Egypt, Lehigh county, where he headed a series of nine baptisms in the church record with the statement:

"The beginning was made in 1742.
Baptized by me, John Conrad Wuertz, V.D.M.
Helvetico-Tigurinus."[7]

In 1745, he appears at Saucon and Allemaengel. On August 29, 1745, the minutes of the Moravian Helpers' Conference at Bethlehem, Pa., report:

"The pastor at Saucon, who has had oil made for himself, confesses that he would like to be a brother." This is corroborated by the Lower Saucon church record, in which "Mr. Wurtz" heads the list of ministers of that congregation, which was drawn up about 1792 by the Rev. John Mann, a later pastor.

When Michael Schlatter came to Pennsylvania, Wirtz went to see him, October 14, 1746. About this interview Schlatter writes in his private diary:[8]

"One of these days there came to me a certain man, named Wirtz, of Zurich, a son-in-law of the old Goetschi, who died in this country. He visited me with his wife in Philadelphia, to recommend himself to me and to ask my counsel. He was very frank, confessing his fault of having presumed to act as a minister, without ordination, but he had done so only because of his need and poverty and at the solicitation of the farmers. But now, having heard my commission, he was perfectly willing to submit to my directions and instantly cease administering the holy sacraments, if I were willing and able to help him to obtain a meagre subsistence. Finally he asked humbly whether there were no possibility for him of being ordained to the ministry. Whereupon I answered him that I did not know him, nor had any positive information about his conduct, life and teaching and the disposition of the people toward him. Furthermore, I told him, I would do nothing against my conscience, nor act to the detriment of the church of God. But next summer I would carefully investigate his case and then, if it seemed feasible, submit it to the Reverend Fathers and await their reply. With this he seemed to be well satisfied."

During the following summer Schlatter carried out his intention and visited Saucon on June 28-29, 1747. He came from Maxatawny, a distance of twenty-five miles. He describes his visit in his diary:[9]

"I left soon after the sermon, and went twenty-five miles farther to Sacony, a congregation which is served by a certain Mr. J. C.

[8] Published by the writer in the Journal of the Presbyterian Historical Society, Vol. III, p. 120. In his Life of Schlatter (p. 137) Dr. Harbaugh gives October 15th as the day of this visit, but in the German text before the writer it is October 14th. It is given correctly in Harbaugh, Fathers, Vol. I, p. 388. The account of the interview, as given by Schlatter in the journal published by him in 1751, differs only in some minor details from that given above from his private journal.

Wirtz, to whom I have already referred. Here I preached on the 29th, and, when after the services I laid my instruction before them, I asked them, whether they would have Mr. Wirtz, who was also present, as their minister, in case he should be regularly qualified by the Reverend Christian Synod? The congregation was not entirely unanimous; some desired rather to have another regular minister, in order that full unity might be restored in the congregation."

On the same day Schlatter visited Springfield, nine miles from Lower Saucon, to which Wirtz ministered also, and where he found the same condition as at Lower Saucon. The Coetus minutes of 1747 (p. 37) state that:

"In Saucon, Forks, Springfield, etc., the people are well satisfied with Conrad Wirtz, of Zurich, some few excepted. Poverty hurts the man much in his ministry, but because he means well and no one can speak evil of him, therefore the circumstances with regard to this person and said congregations shall be favorably reported to Holland."

This quotation adds another congregation to those mentioned before, namely Forks, or Forks of the Delaware, now part of Easton, where an early Union church stood on the south side of the Lehigh river in Williams township, near where the South Easton water works are located.[10]

A fifth congregation of Wirtz is mentioned in the minutes of the Helpers' Conference, already referred to. They state under date September 13, 1745: "Conrad Wirtz, a Reformed preacher at Allemaengel, who has been against us, is now in favor of us." The Tohickon records add Tohickon also to the charge of Wirtz. Hence his field consisted of at least six congregations. There may have been still others, where we cannot now trace his presence through historical documents.[11]

10 That it was a union church is definitely stated in an article, which appeared in the "Weekly Messenger", of February 8, 1837, and was written most likely by the Rev. Thomas Pomp, from 1796-1850 pastor of the Reformed church at Easton. In it occurs this statement: "The first church in which the Easton congregation worshipped stood at the foot of Morgan Hill, about a mile and a half from town, a little to the left of the old Philadelphia road".

11 A seventh congregation of Wirtz may have been one which Schlatter

If a statement of the well-known historian Prof. I. Daniel Rupp,[12] can be trusted, Conrad Wirtz was a probationer at the Coetus in 1749. If this is correct, the ministry of Wirtz in all these congregations extended from 1745-1749.

Failing to receive the approval of the Fathers in Holland, under whom the Coetus of Pennsylvania was then carrying on its work, Mr. Wirtz turned to the Presbyterians. On September 27, 1750, the Synod of New York received a petition from the "High Dutch" congregation of Rockaway, in the township of Lebanon, New Jersey. The minutes of the Synod state:

"The High Dutch congregation of Rockaway, in the township of Lebanon, applied to the Synod that they may be taken under the care of this Synod, and that a certain person now preaching among them may be taken under examination, and if approved, ordained a minister to them. The Synod, in order to clear their way to transact anything with said people, do appoint Mr. Pemberton to make inquiry of the Dutch ministers in New York, whether said people belong to their jurisdiction; and he is to acquaint a committee of the Synod how that matter is. And the Synod appoints Messrs. Pierson, Burr, Arthur, Smith and Spencer, their committee, to sit at such time and place as they shall appoint, and transact in said affair, according as things shall then appear to them."[13]

At the meeting of the Synod of New York on September

in his diary calls "Lehigh". On June 24-26, 1747, he visited the congregations in Manatawny [read Maxatawny], Magunschy [Ziegel], Egypt and near the Lehigh [bey der Lechouw], a circuit of 45 miles, after which he came to Bethlehem. On the 30th, Schlatter mentions, in connection with Springfield, "in this region are four or five small congregations, namely Saccony, Forks of Delaware, Springfield and Lehigh, which would be able to contribute about 35 pounds or 233 Dutch guilders for the support of a minister". As Wirtz supplied the first three, it is probable that he supplied also the fourth. But what congregation is Lehigh? It has been suggested (Reformed Church Review, XX, 1916, 89) that it was Stone Church, Northampton county. But, according to Schlatter's diary, it should be on the road from Egypt to Bethlehem. This would fit Eastern Salisbury, Salisbury township, Lehigh county, where a union church was built in 1759, "after the Indians had again ceased to burn and to kill in this neighborhood". It may well be that there was an earlier organization in this neighborhood.

13 Records of the Presbyterian Church, Vol. I, pp. 242 and 245.

26, 1751, the committee reported that "difficulties arising in their way from time to time they have not been able to do anything in it." But they recommend that the matter be referred to the Presbytery of New Brunswick, "to transact in it according as they shall judge best, when matters are fully before them." As the action of the Presbytery of New Brunswick regarding Mr. Wirtz has never been published in full, we shall insert a full statement of the case.

As the last sentence of the Synodical minutes intimates, the matter had already been laid before the Presbytery, when the Synod took action in 1751, committing the whole case to the Presbytery for final decision. At its meeting at Woodbury, on the second day of the sessions, September 3, 1751, the minutes state:[14]

"Mr. Wortz having applied to the Presbytery to be taken under trials and the Presbytery having considered the case, and heard something of his Christian experience, and examined him in some parts of learning, are willing to encourage him, and for further trial do appoint him to make a sermon in Latin on John III: 3, and an exegesis on that question, an justitia Christi justificamur,[15] to to be delivered to the Presbytery that will sit at Neshaminy the first Wednesday of November."

When the Presbytery met at Neshaminy, November 6, 1751, the minutes give us the following information about the case of Mr. Wirtz:

"Mr. Wortz attended the Presbytery and gave in the pieces of trial assigned to him by our last, viz.: a sermon in Latin on John III: 3, and an exegesis on the question, an justitia Christi justificamur, and the Presbytery, having taken them under consideration, do agree to sustain them. But the Presbytery, having received a letter from the German Coetus, containing some complaints against Mr. Wortz's conduct (for which he made a suitable retraction to our Presbytery) yet do judge it necessary for promoting peace and order of the churches, that Presbytery suspend their further proceedings till the matter be more thoroughly inquired into, and do agree to send a letter to the above said brethren, as soon as may be, in order to have said difficulty removed out of the way, and do appoint Mr. Beatty to draw up a letter and bring it unto the Presbytery the next sederunt."

"The 7th day at 10 o'clock, Mr. Beatty brought in the letter according to appointment, and it was approved, and ordered to be translated into Latin by the moderator, and sent to them."

At the next meeting of Presbytery at Cranbury, May 27, 1752, the case of Wirtz was finally brought to a successful conclusion. The minutes state:

"Mr. Wortz brought into the Presbytery a letter from our brethren of the German Coetus, in answer to what was sent them by order of our Presbytery that sat last fall, wherein they declare that they have received full satisfaction from him with regard to his former proceeding in the ministry, and do recommend him to us under the divine blessing, wishing us to forward him to the glory of God and edification of His Church."

"The people of Rockaway supplicate the Presbytery for the speedy ordination fo Mr. Wortz, if the Presbytery see their way clear."

"The affair of Mr. Wortz resumed:—The Presbytery finding all difficulties as to his ordination removed, do think it may be for the interests of religion in that congregation to expedite his ordination and therefore do appoint Friday the 8th day of June next to be the day of his ordination, to be attended at Rockaway at 11 of the clock, and do appoint Messrs. McCrea, Byram, Lewis and Kennedy to attend it, and Mr. Lewis shall preach the sermon and Mr. McCrea preside in said affair."

Mr. Wirtz ministered to the Reformed people at Rockaway, N. J., till 1761. He does not seem to have taken his duties as a Presbyter very seriously. From 1752 to 1761, he attended the meetings of the Synod of New York only twice, in 1752 and 1753. In 1754, he complained to Presbytery "with respect to the deficiency of his congregation." On October 21, 1761, he was given a letter of dismission and thus he passed out of the Presbyterian church. He had accepted a call from the German Reformed church at York, Pa., but he did not move into his new field of labor till May 1762. After having entered his new charge, he made the following interesting entry into the church record at York:

"On the 21st of August, of the year of our dear Redeemer, Jesus Christ, 1761, I, John Conrad Wirtz, minister of the Word of God, and installed preacher and teacher in the congregation of Rockaway and Valley in Jersey, received a letter from this congregation through Mr. Balthasar Spengel [Spangler] in which I was requested to preach to them, in the hope that the Merciful God would lovingly unite my heart with that of this forsaken flock, to the end that they might be thus again supplied with a faithful pastor and teacher. Under the divine protection and by His gracious will I consented to this request and concluded to undertake this journey with the above-mentioned Mr. Spangler. Accordingly we set out on our journey on August 27th, and arrived safely, and in good health, on the 1st day of September. On the Sunday following I preached my first sermon, which together with three or four additional discourses the Father of Lights blessed in such a way that the respected congregation unanimously manifested their love towards me and showed such perfect confidence in me that they requested me to accept their call, inasmuch as Mr. Lischy had left them and they were without a pastor."

"A call was therefore handed to me, signed by the then elders and members of the congregation, dated September 13, 1761, which call I was unable to decline, but accepted it in the name of God, but on this condition, that I secure the consent of my congregations and the Reverend Presbytery of New Brunswick, by which I had been ordained to the holy ministry."

"Subsequently, after obtaining the consent of my congregations and receiving a dismission from the Reverend English Presbytery of Brunswick, dated the 21st of October, 1761, I removed to this place in the name of the Lord Jesus, and arrived on the 5th day of May 1762 in this congregation. On the following Sunday, being the 9th of May, I preached my introductory sermon from Revelations 10:10, that I might henceforth serve this congregation, according to the grace of God granted to me, with the preaching of the Word and administration of the Sacraments. To this end may the Merciful God, for the sake of Jesus, grant and communicate the grace, strength and assistance of His holy Spirit.

May 12th, 1762. John Conrad Wirtz, V. D. M."

The ministry of Wirtz at York was of short duration. A later entry in the record at York, states: "The Reverend Conrad Wuertz died on the 21st of September 1763, and was buried on the 23rd." He entered 83 baptisms into the York record, the last one on August 14, 1763, from which we can infer that he was sick only a short time.[15a]

In 1902, Charles P. Wurts, Sr., of Chicago, compiled and published a "Wurts Genealogy" which shows the many descendants of Rev. John Conrad Wirtz,[16] some of whom became prominent in the affairs of our country. Mr. Wurts however fails to mention his great-great grandson, Hon. George Theodore Werts, who became governor of New Jersey in 1893, and who was descended through the follow-

16 According to Mr. John S. Wurts of Philadelphia, John Conrad Wurts had six children, one daughter and five sons, namely: (1) Anna Maria Magdalena, born August 17th and baptized August 20, 1735, at Christ Church, Philadelphia; (2) Conrad, who died in Roxbury, N. J., in 1767, leaving a widow, Anna, and several daughters; (3) John, born June 30, 1744, probably in Bucks county. He married, June 8, 1773, Sarah Grandin. He became a successful iron manufacturer, who died September 14, 1793; (4) George; (5) Peter, one of whose prominent descendants is traced above, and (6) Maurice. See also Chambers, l.c., p. 596.

married Mary Vanatta, daughter of Stephen Vanatta of Morristown, N. J., and their son was (4) Gov. George Theodore Werts, who was born March 24, 1846, at Hackettstown, N. J. He was admitted to the bar in 1867, was mayor of Morristown 1886-1892; senator from Morris county 1886-1892, serving in 1889 as president of the senate; then in 1893-96 governor of New Jersey. He died January 17, 1910, and lies buried at Morristown.

Rev. John Conrad Wirtz was buried under the altar of the old First Reformed church at York, Pa., the floor of the church not having been laid at that time. On May 9, 1914 his body was removed to Zion's Reformed church at York, and a bronze tablet placed over his grave of which the etching shown herewith is a copy.

II.

THE MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN JACOB RIESS

August 1749 to March 1756.

The successor of Wirtz at Tohickon was Jacob Riess, another independent Reformed minister, who was never a member of the Coetus of Pennsylvania.

Jacob Riess, or, to give him his full name, John Jacob Riess, was born April 10, 1706, in Germany, but the exact place of his birth has not yet been ascertained. He arrived in the port of Philadelphia with the ship "Robert and Alice," Hartley Cussack, master, from Rotterdam, and qualified September 24, 1742.[17] With him came John George Riess, perhaps a brother, and Philip Fackenthal, the ancestor of Dr. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr., of Riegelsville, Pa.

In August 1749, Riess appears as pastor at Tohickon. On August 27, 1749, he entered his first baptism into the record, heading it with the following superscription:

17 See Rupp's Thirty Thousand Names, p. 157. In this place his name appears as "John Jacob Riess".

"Church Record for the Reformed congregation on the Tohickon in Bedminster Township. By me were entered these children, whom I, Jacob Riess, have baptized." From August 27, 1749, to March 28, 1756, Riess entered 165 baptisms into the Tohickon record. No marriages or burials were recorded by him. It was during his ministry that the first church land was bought at Tohickon. As the deed[18] is an important document for the history of the congregation, we insert it in full:

DEED OF THE TOHICKON CHURCH LAND,
SEPTEMBER 1, 1753.

This Indenture made the first day of September in the year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and fifty three Between Blasius Boyer alias place of Tretiffrin Township in the County of Chester Innholder and Catharine his wife of the one part and Jacob Rees of Rockhill Township in the County of Bucks, Clerk, Martin Shaffer of the same place, Clerk, Ludwig Wildanger of Bedminster Township in the said County Yeoman Adam Dany of Hilltown, in the said County Yeoman, Frederick Salendin of Bedminster aforesaid Yeoman, Nikolas Weichel, of Rockhill aforesaid, Yeoman, Rudolph Drach of Bedminster aforesaid Yeoman, and Balthasar Ehrbach of Hilltown aforesaid Yeoman, of the other part.

(Recorded in the Office of the Recorder of Deeds, Doylestown, Bucks County, Deed Book 12 D, Vol. 3, No. 12, pp. 51-52.)

There is only one point in this deed which needs to be emphasized. It is, that the first two persons to whom Blasius Boyer and his wife sold this land, Jacob Rees and Martin Shaffer, were the Reformed and Lutheran pastor respectively. They, together with the six men associated with them in buying this land, acted in their private capacity when they secured this land. This appears from a second deed, or declaration of trust, which was executed a few days later, by which they transferred the land to four trustees of the two congregations. Although this deed is the more important document, it has been strangely overlooked by all earlier historians. To bring out its importance and to render it accessible to all interested in the history of the congregation, we present it in full. It reads as follows:

DEED OF CHURCH LAND GIVEN TO TRUSTEES, SEPTEMBER 6, 1753.

This Indenture made the Sixth Day of September of the year of our Lord One Thousand Seven [Hundred] and fifty three Between Witness my hand and Seal the day and year aforesaid.

Recorded the 16th of February 1768.

S. Butler (Seal)

In this deed there are several points to which attention may be directed. When the deed was first drawn up, in September 1753, a church building was already standing on the church land, and the church was known from the beginning as St. Peter's church. The first trustees were: Jacob Rohr and John Worman for the Lutheran congregation, Michael Ott and John Bernhard for the Reformed congregation. Finally, the area of the church land was one acre and fifty-six perches, and it was situated in what was then Rockhill township.

But the activity of Mr. Riess was not confined to Tohickon. It embraced a number of neighboring congregations. One of them was Lower Saucon. Into the Tohickon record John Egidius Hecker entered twelve baptisms which Riess performed at Saucon from January 1750 to July 1752, although it is likely that the ministry of Riess at Saucon extended, as at Tohickon, from 1750-1756.

The charge of Riess comprised also Indian Creek. He preached there apparently from June 1753 to August 1766. Between these two dates he entered 256 baptisms into the Indian Creek record.

In 1760, Riess became pastor of Springfield, in Springfield township, Bucks county, near Pleasant Valley post-office. He baptized the first child there August 24, 1760, and the last one November 2, 1763, officiating during that period at 47 baptisms. It is probable that here also, as at Indian Creek, his ministry extended to 1766, for no successor to Riess appears at Springfield till the latter year.

In 1764, Riess accepted several other congregations farther south, in the Goshenhoppen region. At New Goshenhoppen his baptismal entries run from October 1765 to January 1766, though it is certain from other evidence that his pastorate there began earlier and ended later. The minutes of the Coetus of May 8-9, 1765, report Riess at Goshenhoppen. At Old Goshenhoppen he seems to have entered his first baptism on June 5, 1764, and his last on March 15, 1766. That was probably the extent of his ministerial activity in the Goshenhoppen region. Although his name does not appear in the Great Swamp record, we know that he preached there, for the Coetal minutes of September 3-4, 1766, report that "Old Goshenhoppen, as well as Great Swamp, has dismissed their shoemaker, Ries by name. They earnestly request that we provide them with a minister." When this report reached the Fathers in Holland they replied under date June 26, 1767, advising that Mr. Frederick Daelliker be sent as pastor to these congregations. This suggestion was, however, not carried out.

On September 24, 1760, Jacob Rees, of Rockhill township, Bucks county, was naturalized by the Supreme Court, held on that date at Philadelphia.[19] [19] These naturalizations are printed in full in the Publications of the Huguenot Society of London, Vol. XXIV, Manchester, 1921.

After the year 1766 Riess probably retired from the active ministry, for his name is not found in any church record after that date. However, he continued his interest in his churches, for at his death he left £10 to the trustees at Indian Creek, for the instruction of poor children.[20] To judge from his entries in the various records the work of Riess was done faithfully and to the best of his ability. At any rate he supplied churches which but for his preaching would have been for years without any pastoral care. Formerly these independent ministers were looked down upon as being religious tramps, without any training and consecration. Some no doubt deserve this harsh judgment, but others did a useful work, even though they did not enjoy official recognition.

Riess lived, probably in retirement, on his farm in Rockhill township. His tomb is in the Tohickon cemetery. The inscription on his tombstone reads:

Hier Ruhet in Gott
JACOB RIESZ.
Gewessener Reformirter Prediger
Gebohren den 10. April 1706.
Gestorben den 23. December 1774.
Nach Ausgestandener Mühsamkeit
und Ruh meine Schrifften darzu
Bis sich der liebe jüngste Tag
Nahet herzu.

As the seventh line is unintelligible, we can only guess at the meaning of the latter part of the inscription. The whole seems to mean: "Here rests in God Jacob Riess, late Reformed preacher, born April 10, 1706, died December 23, 1774. After enduring earthly troubles now I rest from my labors [?] until the dear last day approaches." From all appearance Riess deserves his humble place in Reformed church history.

[20] The receipt of this money is noted in the account book of the Indian Creek church, see Lieut. Col. Jacob Reed, by Dr. W. H. Reed, Norristown 1905, p. 158f.

A short time ago the writer discovered the last will and testament of Mr. Riess in the Register of Wills Office at Philadelphia. It was signed by Riess on October 13, 1769. and was probated on January 3, 1775. As this document gives us an interesting insight into his family life, we publish it in full. It reads as follows:

THE WILL OF JACOB RIESS, OCTOBER 13, 1769.

In the name of God, Amen.

I Jacob Rees[21] of Rockhill Township in the County of Bucks and Province of Pennsylvania, being sick in body but of sound and perfect memory, thanks be to Almighty God, and calling to remembrance the uncertain Estate of this transitory Life and that all flesh must yield unto Death when it shall please God to call, do make and declare this my last Will and Testament in manner and form following, that is to say:

The inventory of the estate of the Rev. Jacob Riess, of Rockhill township, Bucks county, appraised December 27, 1774, was filed January 3, 1775, in the Register's of Wills Office, Philadelphia, 1775, No. 74. It reads as follows:

INVENTORY OF THE ESTATE OF JACOB RIESS.

"An inventory of the Goods and Chattles of Jacob Rees, late of Rockhill Township Bucks County Deceased and appraised by us, this the 27th Day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy four, 1774.

These two interesting documents relating to the family and estate of Jacob Riess do not call for much comment. We note, however, that the Christian name of his wife was Mary Catharine. He had only one daughter, Mary, who at the time of his death was married to Peter Henry. The inventory shows that Riess was a fairly well-to-do man, according to the standard then prevailing, and it also corroborates the statement of the Coetus minutes that he was a shoemaker by trade, for his shoemaker's tools are mentioned in the inventory.

III.

THE MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN EGIDIUS HECKER,

April 1756 to February 1762.

The next pastor who appears in the Tohickon record is John Egidius Hecker. His baptismal entries are headed by the statement: "Begun April 19, 1756, by John Egidius Hecker, hoc tempore Reformatae Religionis Pastor, Dohicken," i. e., "at this time pastor of the Reformed religion, Tohickon."

Hecker is another independent Reformed pastor, whose history has been sadly neglected by Reformed historians. Dr. Harbaugh evidently knew little about him, for he refers to him only incidentally in the sketch of his grandson, the Rev. Henry Koch (Fathers, III, 299). Dr. Dubbs added a little more to our knowledge in his Manual (p. 395). Dr. Good (History, p. 520) presents additional facts, secured by the researches of the present writer, which he carried on in 1898 at Dillenburg, the home of Hecker. From the church records at Dillenburg the following facts have been gleaned about Hecker.

John Egidius Hecker was born at Dillenburg, the capital of the then principality of Nassau-Dillenburg, January 26, 1726. He was the son of John Wigand Hecker and of his wife Anna Juliana, who was of noble descent, because in one place of the records she is called: "Ihro hochfürstliche Durchlaucht", i. e., "her princely Highness". John Wigand Hecker was equerry to Prince Christian, the last of the Nassau-Dillenburg princes, who reigned 1724-1739. The following children of this couple are found in the records:

1. Anna Catharine, b. March 8, 1708; bapt. March 10th.
2. August Christian Frederick, b. Jan. 9, 1712; bapt. Jan. 15th.
3. Christian, b. May 8, 1714; bapt. May 11th.
4. John Jacob, b. Dec. 29, 1715; bapt. Jan. 4, 1716.
5. Johanna Elizabeth, b. June 7, 1718; bapt. June 15th.
6. John George, b. April 12, 1721; bapt. Apr. 19th; died soon.
7. John George, and (8) John Egidius[22], twins, b. January 26, 1726; bapt. Jan. 29th. The name John Egidius was taken from that of his sponsor, John Egidius Eberhorn of Wallen, in Hesse-Darmstadt.

A certificate, dated June 1751, was in existence till recently in Allentown, in the hands of one of his descendants,[23] which showed that John Egidius had studied in the University of Herborn. The matriculation book of the university, covering this period, is unfortunately lost, so that the exact time when he entered Herborn can no longer be determined.

Hecker emigrated to Pennsylvania and landed in Philadelphia in the ship "Neptune," Captain James Wier, from Rotterdam via Cowes, on September 23, 1751. On October 23, 1752, he appeared before the Reformed Coetus of Pennsylvania, at its meeting in Lancaster. The minutes state (p. 76):

"A certain young man was present by the name of Hecker, who arrived in this country last year, and has begun to preach without ordination. He requested that he might be examined and ordained by us, so that hereafter he might go on laboring with honor and quietness of conscience in his so-called congregations. He received this answer, that although he might produce good testimonials, our 22 The name Egidius, more correctly Aegidius, is derived from the Latin word aegis, the shield, which in turn is borrowed from the Greek aigis, the shield of Jupiter and Minerva. Hence Aegidius means "shield bearer", or "protector".

23 See The Penn Germania, Vol. I, p. 555; old series, Pennsylvania German, Vol. XIII.

Coetus could not possibly grant his desire, but according to its instructions [from Holland] it was obliged not only to refuse his request, but also dissuade him from continuing his preaching, further beseeching and admonishing him not to keep on in such unadvised conduct, but to conduct himself peacefully and as a Christian."

In view of the scarcity of ministers then prevailing, this was very shortsighted advice to give, for as the Coetus as well as the Fathers in Holland could have foreseen, Hecker kept right on with his preaching even without official approval, while such approval would have added greatly to his effectiveness.

One of the members of the Coetus, the Rev. John Waldschmidt, had the courage of his convictions and on November 22, 1752, wrote the following recommendation to Deputy Hoedmaker at The Hague:[24]

"There has been with us a student [of theology] named Hecker, from Dillenburg, as you can learn from Professor Arnoldi. He knows some Hebrew, Greek and Latin and therefore would be better qualified to act and teach thoroughly, but in order to avoid disorder, I do not wish to recommend him to you further. But I want to submit this as also the other matters to your consideration."

The place of Hecker's early activity is somewhat obscure, but there are several documents that throw light upon it. In a history of the Stone Church, Allen township, Northampton county, which the Rev. J. C. Becker entered into the church record there in 1835, he states with regard to the origin of the earliest congregations in Northampton county:

"About 85 years ago [about 1750] there existed three small German congregations in this neighborhood, namely one in Mooretownship, one at Indian Creek and one on the Indian Land, which because of the sparse population were only very small and on account of the poverty of the members were unable to support a settled minister. They were, therefore, compelled, because of lack of well-trained ministers, who were in connection with a Synod, to be satisfied with itinerant preachers, who belonged to no organization and merely pretended to be ministers."

[24] The letter of Waldschmidt is printed in full in the writer's "In Memory of the Rev. John Waldschmidt" in the Reformed Church Review, Jan. 1916, pp. 31-33.

The earliest preacher in these churches was Mr. Hecker. This appears from a letter which an elder of the Stone Church, Simon Dreisbach, Jr., wrote in January 1773, to the Rev. John Henry Helffrich. He writes:[25]

"About seventeen years ago [1755-1756] when I began to reside here, church services or church attendance was very irregular, the preacher [Hecker] appeared only half of the time when he had announced services. Then the people who met had to return home most of the time, without hearing a sermon, which displeased them very much."

Then the writer traces the history of the congregation to the end of Mr. Gross's ministry in 1765. Continuing he writes:

"Through his removal the people became very much dissatisfied, and hence they returned again to their former preacher, Hecker."

As there is a distinct tradition (See Penn Germania, Vol. I, p. 551) that Hecker was the first pastor of the congregation and as his pastorate came to an end about 1755, it is probable that the ministry of Hecker extended from about 1751 to 1755. It was brought to an end, most likely, by the Indian incursions in 1755-56, which seem to have compelled him, like many others, to leave Northampton county, cross the Lehigh river and serve congregations to the south of the Lehigh.

The first tangible trace of Hecker in the southern field occurs in the Lower Saucon record, which he opened on March 1, 1756, prefacing it with the following heading:

Church Record of the congregation in Saucon, begun in the year of Christ 1756, by me, John Egidius Hecker, pastor of the Reformed religion there. Opened in the year of Christ 1756, on the first of March.

Hecker's last entry in the Saucon record is dated March [25] The letter of Dreisbach was published by the Rev. John B. Stoudt, in the Reformed Church Review, Vol XVIII, (1914) pp. 206-218; see p. 209, for the passge quoted above.

30, 1766. Between these two dates, 1756 and 1766, he entered 32 baptisms. Most of Hecker's pastoral activity is recorded in the Tohickon record. Between August 1756 and February 1762, he entered 586 baptisms, besides these, 133 marriages, from October 1755 to February 1762, and 90 burials from June 1756 to January 1762. During the same period, 1756-1762, Hecker officiated also at Upper Milford. His parish included a fourth congregation during this time, namely Springfield, where he performed 13 baptisms from May 18, 1766, to May 6, 1767.

In the year 1767, Hecker gave up all of his congregations south of the Lehigh, being succeeded everywhere by ministers of the Reformed Coetus of Pennsylvania. Just as the Indians pushed him southward in 1755 so the Coetus ministers pushed him northward again in 1767. Crossing the river Hecker settled in Moore township, from which as a center he ministered to at least three congregations, namely Indianland, in Lehigh township, Indian Creek in Allen township and Emmanuel's Church in Moore township. In the church record of the last-named congregation his baptismal entries begin May 14, 1769, and end May 9, 1773, during which time he entered 17 baptisms. The last dated entry which Hecker made in this record was on October 8, 1773, when he signed the financial statement for that year. He died in Moore township in November 1773. His widow applied for letters of administration in the county court at Easton on November 30, 1773, when she and Jost Dreisbach signed a bond of fifty dollars to insure the faithful administration of the estate. Unfortunately no settlement or inventory of the estate is now on record.

Mr. Hecker was married, but thus far only the Christian name of his wife, Catherine, is known. They had seven children, three sons and four daughters. The following are found in the Tohickon record:

1. John Adam, b. July 27; bapt. August 1, 1756.
2. Anna Maria, b. Nov. 19; bapt. Dec. 17, 1758.
3. Catharine Margaret, b. June 25; bapt. July 12, 1761.

In the Moore township record is entered:

4. Jost William, b. Oct. 7; bapt. Oct. 17, 1769.

Besides these there were three other children, namely:

5. Elizabeth Magdalena, b. March 20, 1754.
6. Sibylla Veronica, b. July 6, 1767; and
7. Jonas, b. November 12, 1771.

The last three birthdates are taken from tombstones. As a considerable number of Reformed ministers are descended from Mr. Hecker, it will be of interest to add a short account of his descendants. The data have been furnished by two friends, the Rev. John Baer Stoudt of Allentown and Mr. Charles R. Roberts of Allentown. The record of the children is as follows:

John Adam Hecker, resided in Lehigh township, Northampton county, where he died June 24, 1815. He there possessed a farm of 150 acres. He was married in 1781 to Susanna Engel, who was born October 4, 1759, and died August 1, 1842. Their children were: Jacob, John, Henry, Kate, Mrs. Laudenschlager and Mrs. Riegley.

Jost William Hecker, removed to Whitehall township, Lehigh county, where he died in March 1821. To him and to his wife Regina, née Seem (who died in February 1827, buried in Zion's churchyard near Kreidersville north of Catasauqua) were born ten children, as follows: Adam, Elizabeth, Paul, John, Egidius, Jacob, Mary, Mrs. Woodring, Mrs. Butz, Mrs. Kreiling.

Jonas Hecker, was born Nov. 12, 1771, and died June 29, 1842. He was married, July 2, 1793, to Maria Magdalena, daughter of Martin Mickley, who was born February 19, 1772, and died January 15, 1854. They resided in Whitehall township and reared there a family of eight children: Daniel, William, Joseph, Jeremiah, Charles, Juliana, Peter and Maria Magdalena. Peter Hecker married Eliza Newhard. Their issue: Lewis P., William F., and Jane, the last of whom was married to Alfred W. DeLong, the father of the Rev. P. A. DeLong.

Elizabeth Magdalena Hecker, was born, according to her tombstone at the Stone Church (Zion's Reformed) near Kreidersville, on March 20, 1754. She died October 21, 1825. She was married to John George Koch, who was born July 27, 1744, and died September 2, 1811. This union was blessed with eleven children, John the oldest was born Nov. 7, 1772, died March 15, 1858; he married Eva Catharine Edelman. The other children were Sarah, Anna Maria, Eve, Christina, George, Daniel, Elizabeth, Henry and Regina. Their youngest son Henry was born August 21, 1795. He was confirmed by Rev. Thomas Pomp and studied under the Rev. F. W. Vandersloot, Rev. C. L. Becker and Rev. Jacob S. Becker. He was ordained to the Christian ministry September 9, 1819. The story of his pioneer work in establishing the Reformed Church in what is now Clarion county has recently been recounted in an address by the Rev. H. H. Wiant, at the "Henry Koch Memorial" and the One Hundredth Anniversary of Trinity Reformed Church, Alcola, Pa., August 4-5, 1920.[26]

Anna Maria Hecker, was married to Adam Troxell, of Whitehall township, Lehigh county. She died February 8, 1812. Their children were: Nicholas, Peter, Christian, Hanna and Jonas. Hannah became the wife of the Rev.

John Gobrecht, for many years (1801-1831) pastor of the Egypt charge.

Catharine Margaret Hecker, according to the inscription on her tombstone, was born June 24, 1761, and died April 2, 1844. Her husband, Henry Bartholomew, was born September 23, 1758, and died February 23, 1829. They resided near the Stone Church and had the following children: Henry, Jonas, Philip, Susannah (married to Kilian Reimer), Elizabeth (married to Isaac Siegfried), Sallie (married to John Danner) and John, who died in infancy. Among her descendants were the following Reformed ministers: Rev. Abraham Bartholomew (1833-1903), and his brother, the Rev. Dr. Allen R. Bartholomew, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church; Albert O. Bartholomew, now (1924) pastor in Allentown and Calvin E. Bartholomew, Joshua S. Bartholomew (1863-1921) and his nephew Nevin D. Bartholomew a Presbyterian minister, now residing in Buffalo; and Oscar Bartholomew, a Lutheran minister and cousin of Dr. Allen R. Bartholomew.

Sibylla Veronica Hecker, was married to Peter Troxell, a brother of Adam Troxell, the husband of her sister Anna Maria. She died March 8, 1844. They had seven children: John, Magdalena (married to Jacob Jones), Peter, Susanna, Catharine and Solomon.

The record as given above shows that there are ten known ministers among the descendants of John Egidius Hecker.

In 1873, at the (so-called) 150th anniversary of the founding of the church, a large monument[27] was erected to the memory of Mr. Hecker in the graveyard adjoining Emmanuel's Church at Petersville, Pa. It bears the following inscription:

---

[27] A picture of this monument is published in Penn Germania, Vol. I, p. 556.

To the memory of
REV. JOHN E. HECKER, who was pastor of this Reformed congregation
one hundred years ago
and is buried here.

After the departure of Hecker from Tohickon in 1762, the congregation was not without a leader. It was supplied with preaching by a layman, who was teaching school and also studying theology with the Rev. John George Alsentz, pastor of the Reformed congregation at Germantown. This man was John Christopher Gobrecht. Even before he was ordained in 1766 he preached at Tohickon. It was during the period of his lay activity that an important step was taken by the two united congregations, a stone church was erected to take the place of the log church, in which they had been worshipping.

It was dedicated on May 8th, 1766. The Tohickon Lutheran record gives us the following information about this important event:

"Anno 1766, May 8th, on the festival of the ascension, our newly built stone church was publicly dedicated by myself and Mr. Alsentz, on the Reformed side. I took my text from I Kings 8:28-29, and gave the church the name "Friedens Kirche," i. e. Church of Peace. The text of the Reformed preacher was from Isaiah 56:7, the last words. Attested by Philip Rapp, Lutheran pastor."

From this entry it is evident that Gobrecht had asked his teacher Alsentz to officiate for him at this historic occasion.[28] This stone church, tradition asserts, was at first, like the log church that had preceded it, without floor and stoves, which were put in later on. It had galleries on three sides. It was in use till 1838, when it was succeeded by the third building, also a stone church, 50 by 60 feet in size, [28] Alsentz was repeatedly called upon to dedicate churches in the absence of regular pastors. On May 13, 1764, he preached the first sermon in the new stone church of the Reformed congregation at Reading. See Daniel Miller, History of the Reformed Church in Reading, Reading 1905, p. 42.

with galleries on three sides. This last building was remodeled in 1884.

With the coming of Gobrecht the congregation passed definitely under the control of the Reformed Coetus of Pennsylvania.

IV.

THE MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN CHRISTOPHER GOBRECHT,

October 1766 to December 1770.

On October 12, 1766, Gobrecht appears in the church record definitely as pastor of the Tohickon congregation. Like the preachers who had preceded him he began his ministerial activity as a lay preacher.

John Christopher Gobrecht was born in the village of Angerstein, near the city of Goettingen, in what was then the Kingdom (now the Province) of Hannover, on October 11, 1733, and was baptized there October 18th, the son of Daniel Gobrecht, a cowherd.[29] Nothing is known of his youth except that he was a weaver by trade. He arrived in Philadelphia September 11, 1753, in the ship "Queen of Denmark," George Parish, captain. He signed his name to the oath of allegiance as "Joh. Christoph Gobrecht, Jr." With him came another passenger, John Christian Gobrecht, who may have been his brother.

Having been in this country about ten years, Gobrecht began teaching school. On the fly leaves of a catechism, which he once owned and which is now in the collection of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, he entered his financial accounts, beginning with the year 1763. From these entries it appears that in 1763 he was conducting a day school as well as a night school. As nothing has been published thus far about Gobrecht's activity as a school-teacher, it will be of interest to present a few extracts:

This entry shows that Gobrecht was engaged in teaching and weaving in this country, before he began his pastoral activity.

About the same time Gobrecht began to feel a desire to enter the ministry. With this end in view he studied for two years with the Rev. John George Alsentz, who was then pastor of Germantown, Worcester and Witpen. In September 1766, at the meeting of the Coetus held at Reading, the following reference was made to Gobrecht and his activity:

"There is a congregation [Tohickon] much ruined by an adventurer [Hecker]. The good element had to withdraw and the other part learned at last to realize its mistake. These people come and desire aid from the Coetus and a regular minister. They cannot raise more than thirty pounds, and to unite the congregation with others is impracticable, because it is located out of the way, and the nearest congregation [Springfield] is still under the influence of the adventurer. We cannot call a minister, because of the small salary; but there is a person [John C. Gobrecht] converted by God's Spirit, who has a good knowledge of theoretical and practical theology, is able to explain the principles of Holy Scripture and is well qualified to build up a congregation through his example and preaching. He lived two years with a minister [J. G. Alsentz] in order to be better qualified. The said congregation hears this man, sees the difference between a sincere and well instructed man and an adventurer. The congregation wants to call that person. He wishes to accomodate them, but not without the order of the Coetus. They appear before Coetus with the request to examine and ordain him. To send him to Holland is impracticable; the candidate dreads the sea voyage; the congregation cannot wait so long, since the adventurer, who resides in the vicinity, still has and seeks adherents in the congregation, by which course confusion and division would certainly arise. The person referred to above and his qualifications being well known to us through personal contact, we have the best prospects of saving the congregation. What should Coetus in this case be allowed to do? These things are not fiction, but the real truth and nothing but the truth."

On October 12, 1766, Gobrecht began his entries in the Tohickon record, prefixing them with the following heading: "The children whom I, John Christopher Gobrecht, Reformed minister in Bedminster township, have baptized. are as follows, beginning with October 12, 1766." According to Dr. Harbaugh (Fathers, II, 146) Gobrecht was ordained in the Tohickon Church, September 28th, 1766. From that date to December 9, 1770, Gobrecht entered at Tohickon 112 baptisms. His charge included also Indian Creek, or Indianfield, as it is frequently called in the Coetus minutes. There he baptized 73 children, from February 15, 1767, to September 23, 1770.

As his financial statements, recorded in the catechism quoted above, throw light on his stay in the Tohickon charge, we shall present a number of them:

Similar sums are reported from Indian Creek.

During part of this time, from at least September 1769 to September 1770, Gobrecht preached also at a congregation, called Great Swamp in the minutes of the Coetus (Minutes, pp. 290, 301). But, as Mr. Faber was the pastor at Great Swamp, in Lower Milford township, Lehigh county, this Great Swamp must have been in Bucks county. The solution of the apparent contradiction is that the latter is Trumbauer's church.[30] This is not only located near the Swamp Creek, but from the minutes of the Coetus of 1772 it is certain that Gobrecht preached at Trumbauer's. When in that year Tohickon and Indianfield refused to let their pastor preach at Trumbauer's, the latter congregation complained to Coetus and stated that "Do. Gobrecht, the former pastor, had supplied the congregation." This is supported by Gobrecht's financial record, which contains for the year 1770, the following statements regarding the congregation in the "Swamp:"

On March 6, 1770, Gobrecht makes the following entry: "I, Christopher Gobrecht, still owe to Philip Fluck for meals and service, during the past year, 3£ 1sh. 6p." This 30 This identity can also be inferred from the Coetus minutes, for in 1782 the charge is said to consist of Tohickon, Indianfield and Great Swamp (Minutes, p. 378), while in 1783 Indianfield, Tohickon and Trumbauer s Church are enumerated as belonging to the same charge (Minutes, p. 382).

seems to imply that, as Gobrecht was still unmarried in 1770, he was boarding with his elder, Jacob Fluck.

At the meeting of Coetus, held September 19-21, 1770, at Philadelphia, "a call came from the congregations at Muddy Creek, Cocalico, Seitenreich and Reyer's Church for Mr. Gobrecht. But, because he had many scruples about leaving his congregations, four weeks time for consideration was given him and he was charged to report his decision to the Reverend Coetus." Shortly afterwards Gobrecht decided to accept the call and he removed to his new field of labor in December 1770.

On December 15, 1770, Gobrecht began his entries in the Cocalico record. While he was pastor of the Cocalico charge Gobrecht was married, May 28, 1771, to Elizabeth Sands,[31] of Berks county. This union was blessed with seven sons and three daughters. The following are entered into the Cocalico record: Daniel, born June 13, baptized June 19, 1772; John, born December 10, baptized December 30, 1773; David, born October 3, baptized October 8th, 1775; William, born October 17, baptized November 18, 1777. The second of these sons, John Gobrecht, 1773-1830, became a minister of the Reformed church, while a younger son, Christian Gobrecht, 1785-1844, was a distinguished engraver, who from 1840 to 1844 was chief engraver in the United States Mint, at Philadelphia.

Gobrecht remained pastor of the Cocalico charge till December 1779, when he was called to Hanover, Christ Church (near Littlestown), Abbotstown and Bermudian. There he ministered from 1779 until 1806, when increasing infirmity of the body compelled him to retire from the ministry. He [31] The name is not Elizabeth Lentz, as Harbaugh (Fathers, II, 146) gives it, but Elizabeth Sands. She was the daughter of John Sands of Reading and his wife Catharine, née Greiner. They were Episcopalians. What is still more surprising is that her sister Catharine was married to another Reformed minister, the Rev. Frederick J. Berger, from 1765-68 pastor at Reading. When John Sands died in 1775, his daughters, Elizabeth Gobrecht and Catharine Berger, were mentioned in his will.

died at Hanover, Pa., November 6, 1815, and was buried in the cemetery of Immanuel's Reformed Church, Hanover. His tombstone bears the following inscription:

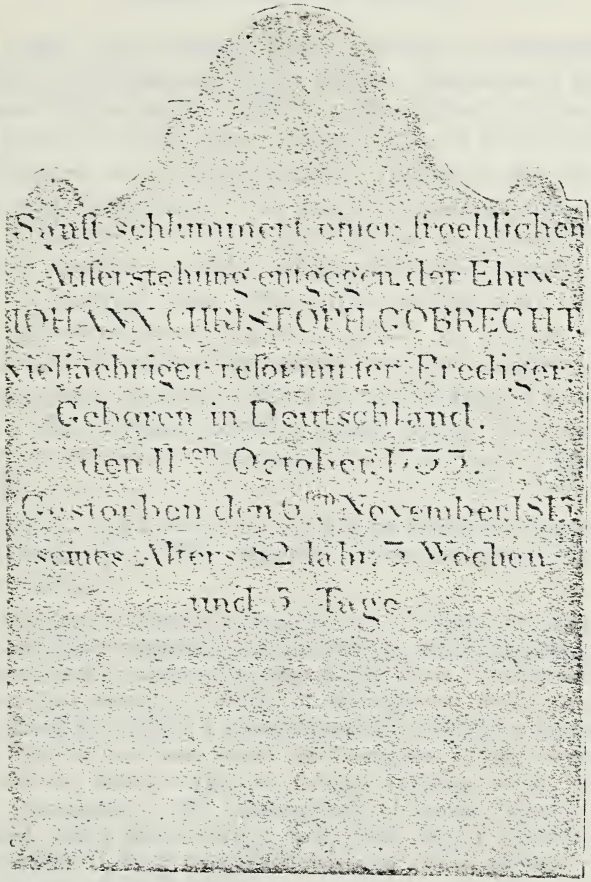
THE MINSTRY OF THE REV. CASPAR WACK,

November 1771 to August 1781.

After a vacancy of nearly a year the congregations called the Rev. Caspar Wack as their next pastor. He began his ministry at Tohickon and Indian Creek in November 1771.

Caspar Wack is said to have been the first young man, born in America, who was ordained by the authorities of the Reformed church in this country (Harbaugh, Fathers, II, 174). Strictly speaking this is not correct, inasmuch as Jonathan Du Bois, who was born at Pittsgrove, New Jersey, December 3, 1727, was ordained by the Reformed Coetus at Lancaster on October 21, 1752 (Minutes, p. 75). But as Du Bois became the pastor of a Dutch Reformed church at Neshaminy, Bucks county, under the Reformed Coetus of Pennsylvania, Wack may well be regarded as the first German Reformed pastor, born in America, to be ordained in this country.



Tombstone of Rev. John Christopher Gobrecht at Hanover, Pa.

His father, John George Wack, arrived in Philadelphia with the ship "Patience," John Brown, master, and qualified there September 16, 1748. In the original ship list his age is given as twenty-three. Hence he was born in 1725. His birthplace was, according to Dr. Harbaugh, the city of Wittenberg, in Germany. If that is correct he was originally a Lutheran. The father settled in Philadelphia, where he became an elder of the Reformed church and where he married soon afterwards, for his son, Caspar Wack, was born there August 15, 1752. As young Wack showed signs of talents, his pastor, the Rev. Caspar Weyberg, interested himself in him and took charge of his education. After several years of study Wack was sent in 1770 by the Coetus to Lancaster as a catechist. (Minutes, p. 298.)

In October 1771, the Coetus held at Reading, examined and licensed him. The minutes of that meeting refer to him as follows:

"Do. Gobrecht, concerning whom it was reported in the last minutes, that the congregation of Mr. Wittner had given him a call, accepted the call. His congregations, which were vacant from that time, this year called Mr. Wack. Concerning Mr. Wack the Reverend Fathers were given a short statement in last year's minutes, namely, that he had been under the instruction of Mr. Weyberg. He is now far enough advanced, through training, to be able to serve a congregation. The congregations of Lower Tohickon and Indianfield, which have thus far been cared for by his ministry, and, according to their statement, have also been edified by his preaching, have shown such a desire for him as to give him a unanimous call. Mr. Wack was therefore first examined in the divine truths and the way of salvation, and, after he had given satisfaction to the Reverend Coetus, it was resolved that Mr. Wack, for the time being, should continue to serve these congregations with preaching and catechizing as before, but we will defer the ordination until the Reverend Fathers have first been notified. Whatever they will advise in the matter will be done by us with regard to Mr. Wack." (Minutes, p. 315f.)

At the Coetus of June 1772, held at Lancaster, Wack with four other candidates, Weber, Neveling, Wagner and Steiner, Jr., was once more examined and shortly afterwards all these candidates were ordained (Minutes, p. 328).

Mr. Wack's ministry began in the Tohickon charge on November 23, 1771, when he baptized the first child. Between that date and August 26, 1781, he entered 186 baptisms, 55 marriages and 9 burials into the Tohickon record. At Indian Creek his baptismal entries do not begin till September 19, 1772. They continue there till September 9, 1781.

In 1772, the Trumbauer's congregation complained to Coetus, that the congregations at Tohickon and Indianfield would not permit Wack to preach for them, although Mr. Gobrecht, the former pastor, had supplied them. They, therefore, asked that Mr. Wack be permitted to preach for them every third Sunday on condition that they pay one third of his salary. Coetus allowed this arrangement.

In 1773, Nockamixon asked Coetus to allow Mr. Wack to serve them. Coetus directed that he "serve this congregation from time to time, as far as he may do so without neglecting his other congregations."

While pastor at Tohickon Mr. Wack was married, on April 18, 1776, to Barbara, daughter of Jacob Leidy, Jr., of Franconia township, one of his officers in the Indian Creek church. Mr. Wack and his wife resided for a while in Hilltown township, Bucks county, within convenient distance of his congregations.

Mr. Wack remained pastor of Tohickon and neighboring congregations till 1782, when he accepted a call to German Valley, Fox Hill and Rockaway, in New Jersey. These congregations he served from 1782 to 1809. From there he went to Germantown, Pa., where he was the first to introduce English preaching into the services of that congregation. Together with Germantown he served also Whitemarsh, from 1809 to 1821, and, after resigning Germantown, he continued at Whitewarsh to 1823, when declining strength compelled him to retire. During the last few years of his life he resided with his son, Dr. Philip Wack, at the Trappe, where he died July 17, 1839. He was a most active and faithful pastor, who by his incessant labors for his parishioners endeared himself greatly to his people. He lies buried in Leidy's graveyard, alongside of his wife. Their tombstones bear the following inscriptions:

VI.

THE MINISTRY OF THE REV. JOHN THEOBALD FABER,

July 1782 to April 1786.

At the Coetus held at Reading May 1, 1782, "the congregations Tohickon, Indianfield and Great Swamp, which by the departure of Mr. Wack had become vacant, asked, through delegates, for another minister. The Reverend Coetus could do nothing but give these congregations the liberty to call a minister." (Minutes, p. 378.) Shortly afterwards the Rev. John Theobald Faber, then pastor at Lancaster, accepted a call to Tohickon, Indianfield and Trumbauer's, for on July 28, 1782, he entered his first baptism into the Tohickon record. At Indianfield his first baptism is dated July 14, 1782.

John Theobald Faber was born February 13, 1739, at Zozenheim, south of Bingen, at one time in the Palatinate, but now in Rhenish Hessia. He was the son of the Rev. John Faber, from 1730-1754 pastor of the Reformed congregation at Zozenheim. The younger Faber matriculated at the University of Heidelberg, February 5, 1760. His examination as a candidate of theology took place at Heidelberg April 20, 1763. Three years later he left the Palatinate for Holland. At his departure the Consistory of the Palatinate gave him a certificate, dated April 28, 1766, by which his return to his native land was not only permitted to him, but he was also guaranteed special consideration for his advancement, in case of his return.[32]

On May 27, 1766, Mr. Faber with two other candidates, Carolus Lange and John George Wittner, appeared before the Deputies of the Synods of North and South Holland at The Hague, where they were examined in the Cloister Church. Each candidate had first to preach a sermon. Faber preached from I Cor. 6:11. They were then examined, for more than three hours, in the principal doctrines of theology. Finally they had to write an exegesis of the Hebrew text of Psalm I and of the Greek text of II Tim. 2. After passing these examinations to the satisfaction of the examiners, they were required to sign the Dutch creeds and were then given fifty guilders each for their traveling expenses to Holland. Later each one of the candidates received fl. 250 as traveling expenses to Pennsylvania. Their ship "Catharine," captain Nathaniel Lorentz, left Rotterdam for New York June 10, 1766. They arrived in Philadelphia in September 1766.

Mr. Faber was sent to the Goshenhoppen charge, consisting of New Goshenhoppen, Old Goshenhoppen and Great Swamp. He began his ministry there in October 1766. At first he made his home with Colonel Daniel Hiester. This was his residence most likely till he was married, August 18, 1770, to Barbara Rose, daughter of Erhart Rose, of Reading.[32a] After his marriage he moved into the parsonage built on the church farm near the New Goshenhoppen church. His ministry at Goshenhoppen extended from October 1766 to October 1779. Through his faithful labors his membership increased largely. In 1768, he reported 30 families at Old Goshenhoppen, 90 at New Goshenhoppen and 30 at Great Swamp. In 1773, the total number of his families was 260.

from Old Goshenhoppen record.

The ability of Faber as a preacher was soon recognized by other churches. Hence frequent calls came to him from other fields. Lancaster alone called him three times, in 1770, in 1775 and again in 1779. Finally in the last year Faber accepted the call of the Lancaster congregation, to the great sorrow of his people at Goshenhoppen. He left Goshenhoppen in October 1779. His ministry at Lancaster was, however, of short duration, lasting only three years, 32a Dr. Weiser (Monograph, p. 66) tells a romantic story of Mr. Faber having been entertained as a guest at the home of Mr. Erhardt Rose, at Reading, at a Synodical meeting, and that he met at that time his later wife, Barbara Rose. Unfortunately, the story cannot be correct in all its details, because there was no meeting of the Coetus at Reading from the latter part of September, 1766, when Faber arrived in Pennsylvania, till August 1770, when he was married. Faber arrived shortly before the 19th of September 1766, when Alsentz addressed a letter to him (see Goshenhoppen History, p 216f). He just missed the meeting of Coetus, which had been held at Reading, September 3-4, 1766. There is no reference to him in the minutes of that meeting. After 1766, Coetus did not meet at Reading till 1771, after Faber had been married. Hence Faber could not have met Miss Rose at a meeting of the Coetus at Reading. But, in 1768, a special committee of the Coetus, of which Faber was a member, met in Reading to investigate the case of Mr. Berger. It may have been at that occasion that he was entertained at the home of Mr. Rose, and met then for the first time his daughter Barbara, whom he married in 1770.

1779-1782. The city life contrasted evidently unfavorably in his mind with the quiet life of his former, rural, charge. When, therefore, the Tohickon charge became vacant in February 1782, through the removal of Wack, Faber accepted a call to this field, which was only fifteen miles from his first home.

On July 28, 1782, Faber made his first baptismal entry at Tohickon. From that time till June 20, 1784, he entered 57 baptisms into the first Tohickon record. On July 4, 1784, he began the second church record at Tohickon, a large folio volume, entering into it from that date till April 23, 1786, thirty-one baptisms. At Indian Creek he entered 58 baptisms from July 1782 to April 1786. His marriages at Indian Creek extend from August 1782 to March 1786. On May 17, 1786, the minutes of the Coetus report that Faber had left Indian Creek and Tohickon and had returned to his former congregations in the Goshenhoppen region. It was a happy reunion with his first congregations, which caused much mutual joy and satisfaction.

Unfortunately his second pastorate at Goshenhoppen was very brief. Faber died suddenly and unexpectedly on November 2, 1788. Under date November 26, 1788, the "Lancaster Zeitung" had the following account of his death:[33]

"On the last Sunday [November 2, 1788] Mr. Faber, apparently well and healthy, proceeded to the New Goshenhoppen church, to hold services there. To the surprise of the schoolmaster and many members of the congregation, he gave out the funeral hymn: "Ach Herr lehre mich bedenken," [i. e., O Lord, cause me to remember]. Then he read the lesson for the Sunday as his text and began to preach from it. He pointed, with special emphasis, to the comforting words of the Saviour: "The maid is not dead, but sleepeth." When he had finished the first part of the sermon and was passing to the second, he stopped his discourse, for he seemed to become weak. The elders came to his assistance and carried him from the pulpit into the schoolhouse, where they laid him on a bed. There he passed away within 45 minutes, in the 49th year of his age. General sorrow and consternation spread over the whole congregation.

On last Tuesday [November 4th] his body was buried in the church, before the pulpit. Several neighboring ministers, together with a very notable, numerous congregation, of various denominations, followed his coffin to the grave. The Rev. Mr. Blumer delivered an impressive and edifying sermon from the text, Hebrews 13:17. The congregations, which were under his pastoral care, mourn together with the deeply afflicted family the loss of a husband, father and teacher."

Faber left a widow and seven children, the oldest of whom, John Theobald Faber, Jr., entered the ministry and became his father's successor.[33a] Rev. Daniel Weiser had a memorial tablet placed on his tomb, whose epitaph reads as follows:

Tritt leise!	i. e., "Approach softly!

After the removal of Faber from Tohickon and affiliated congregations, in April 1786, they were apparently supplied by neighboring ministers. At Tohickon, the Rev. Frederick Daelliker, who was then pastor at Falkner Swamp, entered a baptism on Nov. 3, 1786, which evidently implies a visit and preaching service. At Indian Creek, the Rev. Herman Winkhaus, then pastor at Witpen and Trappe, baptized children on July 26th and December 2, 1786; Caspar Wack did the same on May 20, 1787.

33a Mr. Faber had the following children: (1) John Teobald, Jr., b. Sept. 24, 1771; (2) Daniel, b. August 3, 1773; (3) Eva, b. Aug. 28, 1775; (4) George, b. Febr. 1, 1778; (5) Catharine, b. March 9, 1780; (6) Elizabeth, b. June 20, 1782; (7) Anna, b. July 6, 1787. The first four and the last of his children were born and baptized at Goshenhoppen; the fifth and sixth at Lancaster. The baptisms of the latter are recorded in the Lancaster Reformed record, see Vol. V of the Pennsylvania German Society's Proceedings, pp. 222, 227.

VII.

THE MINISTRY OF THE REV. JOHN MICHAEL KERN,

May 1787 to February 1788.

The next minister at Tohickon has left the following superscription to his baptismal entries: "During the ministry of John Michael Kern, V.D.M., the following were baptized." This heading introduces us to another independent Reformed minister, about whom little was known till recently.

The first trace of Mr. Kern in Europe was discovered last year at Heidelberg. He matriculated at the University of Heidelberg November 21, 1753, as coming from Mannheim, in the Palatinate. Investigations carried on at Mannheim[34] have disclosed the fact that John Michael Kern was born there August 31, 1730, and was baptized September 3, 1730. He was the son of John Leonard Kern, tailor, and his wife, Anna Eva, both of whom were members of the Reformed church at Mannheim. He probably studied at Heidelberg three years from 1753-56. What became of him afterwards we do not know at present. When we hear next of him he is pastor of the German Reformed church in the city of New York, which he served from 1763-1771.[35] He was then called to Montgomery, N. Y., where he preached from 1771 to 1776. Being an ardent loyalist, he was compelled to leave the State of New York. He then betook himself for safety to Halifax, Nova Scotia, where he stayed from 1778 to 1787. In 1787 he is reported to have been at [34] These investigations were made with the assistance of Prof. Dr. L. Lemme, of Heidelberg University.

[35] For Kern's ministry in New York state see Dr. Corwin's Manual of the Reformed Church in America, 4th ed., 1902, p. 549.

West Camp and Rhinebeck, N. Y. In the following year he came to Pennsylvania and accepted a call from the Tohickon charge.

There were a number of Kern families in the Tohickon congregation. Hence it is not impossible that Kern followed the invitation of his relatives to come and settle among them. As early as 1750 Christian Kern and his wife Anna Mary were members at Tohickon. In 1769, we find Adam Kern and his wife Catharine, in 1789 Philip Kern and his wife Catharine, in the membership of the congregation.

But the ministry of Mr. Kern in his new field of labor was very brief. At Tohickon he baptized the first child on May 16, 1787, and the last on February 24, 1788. At Indian Creek, his first baptism is recorded on December 7, 1787, his last on March 13, 1788. He died suddenly and unexpectedly in Rockhill township March 22, 1788, and was buried in the graveyard of the Indian Creek Church. The inscription on his tombstone reads:

In Memory of
Rev. John Michael Kern.
Born in Germany
1736.
Died March 22, 1788.

Comparing his birthdate on the tombstone with the record obtained from Mannheim, there can be no doubt that either the stonecutter or the person who ordered the inscription made a mistake. It is not the only instance in which a mistake is found on the tombstone of a Reformed minister.[36]

[36] Another instance of such a mistake on a tombstone of a Reformed minister is that of Rev. John W. Neveling, who died January 18, 1844, and is said, on his tombstone in West Laurel Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia (also in Harbaugh, Fathers, II, 207) to have been 94 years of age at the time of his death. The records of his home town in Germany show that he was born August 4, 1754.

VIII.

THE MINISTRY OF THE REV. JOHN WILLIAM INGOLD,

June 1788 to July 1790.

The next pastor at Tohickon introduced his entries with the statement: "Children who were baptized by me, John William Ingold, pastor pro tem."

Ingold is another minister, like Kern, about whose antecedents in Europe it was very difficult to get any definite information. At last, through the kind co-operation of Prof. Dr. L. Lemme, of Heidelberg, this obscurity has been dispelled. John William Ingold was born October 4th and was baptized October 8, 1734, at Simmern, near Coblenz. His father was the Rev. John William Ingold, Sr., who from 1735-1764 was the second Reformed pastor at Simmern. The younger Ingold matriculated at the University of Heidelberg August 8, 1754.[37] He was ordained at Heidelberg May 10, 1762. In June 1774, Ingold appeared before the Deputies of the Holland Synods at The Hague. He submitted to them the following testimonials: (1) His certificate of ordination, dated Heidelberg, May 10, 1762; (2) a letter of recommendation from F. C. Hospital, Consistorial Councillor at Heidelberg, dated May 23, 1773; and (3) a letter from the consistory of the German Reformed Church at London, dated February 20, 1774, where Ingold had preached for four months. Ingold was given fl. 150 as traveling expenses to America and a letter of recommendation to the Coetus of Pennsylvania, dated June 9, 1774. Shortly afterwards he left for Pennsylvania, where he arrived in the fall of 1774.

Ingold had a checkered career in Pennsylvania, filled

[37] Ingold matriculated at Heidelberg August 8, 1754, not August 4th, as formerly given by the writer in History of the Goshenhoppen Charge, p. 224; see Matrikel der Universität Heidelberg, 1903, Vol. IV, (1704-1807) p. 166.

with troubles and difficulties. His name occurs in the minutes of Coetus from 1775 to 1790. During these fifteen years he served at least seven different charges. Shortly after his arrival he became pastor at Witpen and Worcester, in Montgomery county. At Witpen, (now Boehm's Church at Blue Bell) his baptisms run from November 7, 1774, to May 25, 1775. At Worcester (now Wentz's Church) his ministry began November 10, 1774, as shown by a receipt for salary. At the close of the first year his congregations refused to continue his salary at £75. "His brethren were sorry for him and helped him to Saucon," writes the secretary of the Coetus. There he stayed for a few months in the year 1776, without leaving any traces in the church record, and then departed for Easton. Here his entries begin August 25, 1776, and continue till March 17, 1786. In 1781, when Goshenhoppen became vacant, the two smaller congregations, namely Old Goshenhoppen and Great Swamp, allowed him to preach in their churches, but New Goshenhoppen refused to admit him. Hence he left Goshenhoppen again in November 1781. After he gave up Easton in 1786, he accepted a call from Reading, which is dated September 14, 1786. His stay there, lasting a year and a half, was filled with quarrels. Hence was compelled to leave in April 1788. Coetus does not want to put all the blame on him, but states rather severely: "A repulsive conduct is likely to bring about such consequences." From Reading Ingold went to Tohickon, Indian Creek and Trumbauer's. At Tohickon his baptisms begin July 6, 1788, and end June 3, 1790. At Indian Creek they extend from June 19, 1788, to November 1, 1789. While pastor of these churches he lost his wife. He himself entered the notice of her burial into the Indian Creek record: "1789, March 29th [buried] Mrs. Catharine Barbara Ingold, wife of the minister, aged 40 years, 6 months, 3 weeks and 4 days." She was buried in the Indian Creek cemetery. The date of death on her tombstone is given as March 27th, 1789, which shows that the date in the record must be the date of burial. She left four children.

At the meeting of the Coetus, held at Falkner Swamp in June 1790, Ingold is reported to have been "rejected by his congregation." After that he became an independent Reformed minister, who did not attend the meetings of the Coetus, nor, after 1793, the meetings of the Synod of the Reformed Church in Pennsylvania.

From July 1790 to May 1793, Ingold was ministering to Spiess Church, in Berks county, an independent Reformed congregation, and from 1791 to 1796 to Amity Reformed Church, another independent congregation. After the year 1796 we lose trace of him, although he was still living, for in the year 1801 Synod informed him that, because of his continued absence, he had excluded himself from the Synod. When and where he died is as yet unknown, but his son, John M. Ingold, was a Reformed pastor in Pittsburgh, from 1819-1821.[38]

IX.

THE MINISTRY OF THE REV. NICHOLAS POMP.

August 1790 to September 1797.

After an interval of a few months Tohickon and neighboring congregations secured a new pastor in the person of the Rev. Nicholas Pomp. His entries in the Tohickon record are prefaced by the following heading: "N. Pomp.

[38] See Heisler, Fathers of the Reformed Church, Vol. IV, p. 472.

Fragment of Autobiography by Rev. Nicholas Pomp.

having been called to Tohickon and having accepted the congregations of Indianfield and Tohickon, entered upon his work at Tohickon the first of August, in the year 1790, and continued this book in the following order."

Nicholas Pomp, or to give him his full baptismal name, John Nicholas Pomp, was born January 20, 1734, at Mambächel, then in the Duchy of Zweibrücken, now in the "Regierungsbezirk" Trier, a part of the Rhine Province. His parents were Peter Pomp (written Bomb in the records) and Anna Elizabeth Thomser. They had been married at Baumholder (the center of the parish, of which Mambächel was a part) November 28, 1726. The couple had seven children, of whom John Nicholas was the fourth.[39] During his early youth Nicholas was a sickly child, and even afterwards seems to have suffered from ill-health. After leaving public school his father urged him to take up the tailoring business. But it undermined his health and as a result he gave it up after a few years. When twenty years of age he began his preparation for the ministry, by going to a higher school, where he studied the ancient languages. At twenty-four he entered the University of Marburg, matriculating there April 25, 1757. While studying at Marburg a call came from the Synods of Holland for preachers in Pennsylvania. Pomp responded to this call and was ordained in the city of Cassel. He appeared before the Deputies of the Synods in March 1765, and was by them commissioned for Pennsylvania on March 27, 1765. Sometime afterwards he started for Philadelphia, where he arrived December 7, 1765.

His first charge consisted of Falkner Swamp and Vincent, which he served with great acceptance from 1765 to 1783. In the latter year he accepted a call to the Reformed church at Baltimore. His departure from Falkner Swamp caused much sadness and even bitterness among his parishioners there, while his new congregation caused him much worry and labor. There were at that time two factions in the church at Baltimore, which disagreed over the erection of a new church. Pomp was unable to heal the division and to reconcile the contending parties. He, therefore, left Baltimore in 1789 and went to Goshenhoppen to become there the successor of Faber. But, when accepting the call, in October 1789, he stipulated that he would serve the congregations only until they could secure the services of the younger Faber, who was studying for the ministry. Hence the stay of Pomp at Goshenhoppen was brief, from November 1789 to July 1790. At the latter date young Faber was ready to take his father's place.

On August 1, 1790, Pomp began his ministry at Tohickon and Indianfield, or Indian Creek, as it is now called. At Tohickon Pomp baptized 239 children, from June 1790 to September 1797. At Indian Creek he baptized during the same time 126 children. During part of this period, namely from April 1794 to August 1795, he was also preaching at Witpen, now Boehm's Church at Blue Bell, as is evident from his entries in the record of that congregation.

In 1797, Pomp retired from the ministry after a pastoral activity of thirty-two years. He went to live with his son, Thomas Pomp, at Easton, where the latter was pastor of the Reformed congregation. He died at Easton September 1, 1819. He lies buried, alongside of his wife, in the cemetery at Easton. Their tombs bear the following inscriptions:

Pomp was one of the more prominent members of the Coetus, for he was repeatedly its clerk and its president. In 1774, while pastor at Falkner Swamp, he published an able treatise against the Universalists.[40]

THE MINISTRY OF THE REV. JACOB SENN, October 1799 to January 1818.

After the retirement of Pomp the congregations were without a regular pastor for more than a year. There was, however, an unknown person supplying them, for in the Indian Creek record there are 22 baptisms, entered by an unknown hand, from September 1798 to September 1799.

The next pastor, who began his ministry in October 1799, was the Rev. Jacob Senn, a man about whom little is known thus far. He was born June 1, 1774, but the place of birth is unknown. He received his education in the University of Pennsylvania, graduating from that institution with the degree of A.B. in the year 1792, and receiving the degree of A. M. in 1795.[41]

At the meeting of the Reformed Synod, convened at Falkner Swamp, May 3-5, 1795, "Messrs. Wack and Pomp made application for the examination and ordination of the candidates Wack, Pomp and Senn, and requested Synod to have the matter attended to in the fall through a committee. The request was acceded to and a committee was appointed for the purpose consisting of Messrs. Dalliker, Blumer, Helffrich, Hendel and Herman." At the meeting of Synod, held in April 1796, in Philadelphia, the committee reported that "they had attended to the duty assigned them and were perfectly satisfied with their knowledge of theology, the languages, etc., and accordingly have ordained them to the ministry. It was resolved that the Synod is well satisfied with what was done." According to Dr. Harbaugh (Fathers, II. 406) the ordination of all the three men, Thomas Pomp, John Jacob Wack[42] and Jacob Senn, took place at Indianfield on September 23, 1795.

Jacob Senn's first pastorate was in New Jersey, where he labored for four years at Knowlton, Stillwater and Sussextown, in Sussex county. While pastor there he was married, September 19, 1798, to Elizabeth Markel. He came to Tohickon in October 1799. His baptismal entries at Tohickon begin November 2, 1799, his marriage records November 17th, and his burial records October 12, 1799. He remained pastor of this charge to the day of his death, which took place January 28, 1818. His funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Frederick W. Van der Sloot, pastor of the Goshenhoppen charge, from the text: "I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan," II Sam. 1:26. He lies buried in the cemetery attached to the Indian Creek Church. His widow, Elizabeth Senn, died more than 54 years later, on October 30, 1872, at the age of 90 years, 10 months and 7 days. She was buried beside her husband, the Rev. Jacob Kehm preaching her funeral sermon. The inscriptions on their tombstones read:

XI.

THE MINISTRY OF THE REV. JOHN A. STRASSBURGER,

April 1818 to July 1854.

Jacob Senn was followed almost immediately by John Andrew Strassburger, who preached for the first time in the charge on Easter 1818. Although only a theological student at that time, he began soon afterwards to preach to these congregations regularly.

John Andrew Strassburger was the son of John Andrew Strassburger, Sr.,[43] who had been born in Oberingelheim, in the Palatinate, January 24, 1754, and had come to Pennsylvania with his father, arriving in Philadelphia October 13, 1769. In 1780 he married Eva Jaeger. They had seven children, of whom John Andrew, Jr., was the fourth. He was born in Upper Milford township, Lehigh county, October 3, 1796. He studied theology under Dr. Samuel Helffenstein in Philadelphia. After three years of study he appeared before the Synod which met at Carlisle, September 6-9, 1818, was examined by a committee and licensed September 9, 1818. In the statistics for the year 1818 he appears already as the pastor of Indianfield, Tohickon and Great Swamp. This is another case, in which Great Swamp is used for Trumbauer's Church.

At the meeting of Synod held at Lancaster, September 5-9, 1819, Strassburger was examined once more and, with thirteen other candidates, ordained in the evening of September 9, 1819.[44] It is at first sight surprising that his baptisms begin shortly after he had received his licensure, at [43] For the ancestors of John Andrew Strassburger see the account of the Strassburger Family, in Dotterer's Historical Notes, I, 92f.

[44] This corrects the statement of Dr. Heisler, Fathers of the Reformed Church, Vol. IV., p. 127 note, that Strassburger was ordained on September 23, 1819. The printed minutes show that the Synod of 1819 was held on September 5-9, 1819. The ordination of the candidates took place on Thursday evening, September 9th. See Minutes, 1819, p. 22.

Tohickon on October 4, 1818, and at Indian Creek on December 13, 1818. His marriages start at Tohickon September 13, 1818. This would be against present day church law, but according to the constitution of 1793, which was then in force, licentiates were granted license to perform all the ministerial acts. Strassburger was pastor of these congregations for thirty-six years, from April 1818 to July 1854. On July 14, 1854, he handed to his consistories the following resignation, which was printed:[45]

"After due notice, the Consistories of the four united congregations, to wit: Indianfield, Charlestown, Tohickon and Ridge Road, assembled in Ridge Road Church, on Saturday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, on which occasion the Pastor of said charge handed in his resignation, viz.

On account of bodily and mental debility, I J. A. Strassburger, resign my ministerial charge amongst you, after a servitude of thirty-six years and three months; during which time about three thousand children were received by infant holy Baptism; fifteen hundred and ninety-five members by Confirmation, after catechetical instruction; twelve hundred and thirty-five couple were instituted in the holy bonds of wedlock, by matrimonial ceremony; one thousand and forty-four committed to their long and solitary home, on which occasions funeral addresses were delivered.

That the great Shepherd of his flock may soon bless you again with a pious and faithful Pastor, is the solemn wish and humble prayer of yours affectionately in the Lord.

J. A. Strassburger.

Ridge Road Church, Rockhill tsp., Bucks Co., July 14, 1854."

Strassburger was much beloved by his people, who looked upon him as their father. After his resignation he retired to his farm at Bridgetown, Bucks county, where he died May 2, 1860. He is buried in the graveyard adjoining the Indian Creek Church.

[45] The original of this resignation was written in German, of which a copy is before the writer. It was translated most likely by one of the elders into this, rather queer, English.

The pastors that succeeded Strassburger to the present time were as follows:

1854-1857, Rev. Joshua H. Derr,
1857-1871, Rev. Peter S. Fisher,
1871-1905, Rev. Jacob Kehm,
1907-date, Rev. Samuel E. Moyer.

THE TOHICKON REFORMED CHURCH RECORDS

VOLUME I, 1745-1784

The first volume of the Tohickon Reformed records is a book 8 by 6½ inches in size, bound in boards and contains at present (1924) 97 leaves or 194 pages, some of which are blank. It was begun in 1749 by Jacob Riess, but some earlier baptisms, performed by John Conrad Wirtz, from 1745-1748, were entered, in the rear of the book, by John Egidius Hecker, during the latter's ministry, 1756-1762. As the entries in the book are badly mixed up, it seemed desirable to rearrange them for this edition in chronological order.

The following is the contents of volume I, in chronological order:

I. BAPTISMS:

		Pages in original:
1. 21 by John Conrad Wirtz,	1745-1748,	pp. 22-24, rear

8 Andrew (Andreas) Küchlein was born in Germany; he emigrated to America and was naturalized Sept. 1760. He was a captain in the Revolutionary war. He is believed to have been a brother of Colonel Peter Kachlein of Easton, Pa., a colonel of a regiment in the "Flying Camp.", who took part in the battle of Long Island. They were the sons of Johann Andreas Kachlein who was born at Listal, Switzerland, Feb. 1680, and died at Kirchheim Sep. 23, 1722. Col. Peter Kachlein was born at Kirchheim in Nassau Weilburg, Germany, Oct. 8, 1722. He emigrated to Pennsylvania by ship "Francis and Elizabeth", and qualified at Philadelphia Sep. 21, 1742.

Church Record of the Congregation of Dohicken,[10]

in which are entered the children who have been baptized and confirmed by me, as also those who have been married by me, and those who were buried by me, divided into four parts:

The first part contains the children who were baptized. It begins in the beginning and continues to the 20th leaf.[11]

The 2nd part begins with the 20th leaf and contains the children who were confirmed, to the 25th leaf.

The third part begins with the 25th leaf and continues to the 35th. It contains those that were married.

The fourth part begins with the 35th leaf and extends to the end. It contains those who died and were buried by me.

Begun April 19, 1756, by me, John Egidius Hecker, hoc tempore Reformatae Religionis Pastor Dohicken.[12]

32 This is the Reformed minister, Rev. Henry Bibighaus, 1781-1851. It is the last entry made by Caspar Wack.

33 Entry made by an unskilled hand.

34 These entries were made by an unknown hand, though evidently a minister. It was perhaps John Theob. Faber.

35 These eight entries were made by John Theo. Faber.

36 This entry was made by John Wm. Ingold.

[12. BAPTISMS BY REV. PETER S. FISHER, 1864-1869.]

On p. 143 of the record is the following entry about the beginning of Mr. Fisher's ministry.

"On Saturday, the 20th of June, 1857, the Rev. Peter S. Fisher of Centre County delivered a sermon as a visitor in the Tohickon Church and on Saturday following he was almost unanimously elected in this congregation, as well as at Indian Creek and Charlestown, as pastor of these three congregations. On Sunday, October 18, 1857, he entered upon his office as minister in this congregation and preached from Corinth. 3:11. On Dec. 25, 1757, he was installed by a committee appointed for this purpose. It consisted of W. T. Gerhard, A. L. Dechant, A. J. Strassburger."

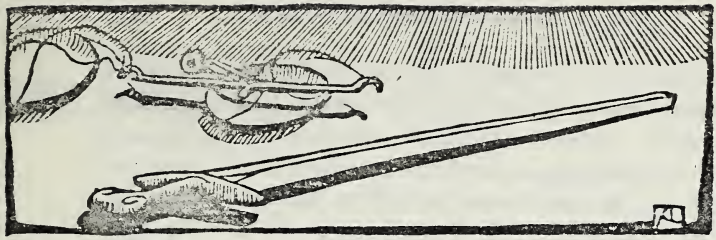
FIG. 1 — THE SCHOOL OF THE SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD
FOR GIRLS, ANNEXED TO THE NORTHERN CONVENT, BERGEN-BEACH, L.I.



HISTORY OF THE TOHICKON LUTHERAN CONGREGATION, BEDMINSTER TOWNSHIP, BUCKS COUNTY. 1745-1840.

IN trying to write the history of the Tohickon Lutheran congregation, the writer feels he cannot do full justice to his subject. The sources of Reformed church history in Pennsylvania, which he has been gathering for twenty-five years, fail him when he undertakes to write also the history of the Lutheran church. Hence he acknowledges himself as hampered for lack of documents. But since the Lutheran record published herewith calls for a treatment similar to that of the Reformed record, he must content himself with the sources that are at present available. These are mainly three: First, the minutes of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, 1748-1821, printed in Philadelphia in 1898;[1] secondly, the "Hallesche Nachrichten," the great treasure house of Lutheran church history in Pennsylvania, which consist of elaborate reports, sent by the Lutheran ministers of Pennsylvania to the authorities of the institutions at Halle, Germany, presided over for years by the celebrated Dr. Francke. They were first published at Halle in 1787, but were reprinted in this country, in 1886-1895, in two large volumes, and provided with numerous and valuable annotations by Drs. Mann and Schmucker.[2] Our quotations are always taken from the American reprint. And last, but not least, the church record of the congregation, whose careful study, like that of the Reformed records, has been sadly neglected, to the detriment of the true history of the congregation.

What is usually regarded as the earliest reference to the Tohickon Lutheran congregation is found in a letter of the Lutheran patriarch, the Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, dated June 18, 1754. Under that date he wrote as follows to the pastors at Halle:

"At a river, called Tohicon, about twenty-two miles from Providence, is a small congregation of High German Lutherans, who for about ten years past [1744-1754] have been visited as much as possible by our Ministerium, and were last served by Messrs. Rauss and Schultz. But, inasmuch as the congregation is somewhat out of the way, is also too poor to support a minister alone, and is indeed not able to raise even the half or the third part of a sufficient salary, in union with other congregations. . . . we are much perplexed about it. The congregation has built with great efforts and costs a schoolhouse and parsonage. But we do not know how to help them, because the financial support is lacking. They are very sad that we cannot help them as we would like to do, and they believe that they are abandoned for other reasons" (H. N., II, 186).

When we compare these statements with the Tohickon record we discover to our great surprise that no trace of either Rauss or Schultz can be found in the record. The Tohickon church record was opened on May 24, 1750, by an unknown hand, which entered six baptisms on that day. It could not have been either Lucas Rauss, pastor at Old Goshenhoppen, or Frederick Schultz, Muhlenberg's assistant at New Hanover and Providence, for the simple reason that neither of them came to Pennsylvania before the year 1751.

I.

MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN MARTIN SCHAEFER, 1750-1753.

On June 10, 1750, there begins another set of thirty-seven baptismal entries, which extend from that date to December 3, 1753. These were made by John Martin Schaefer, who in a baptism of his own daughter, Magdalena Barbara, on June 3, 1753, calls himself "minister here." These entries, all in the same handwriting, prove that from June 1750 to December 1753, John Martin Schaefer preached to the congregation. His ministry leaves no room for that of Rauss and Schultz. The only conclusion which we can draw from these facts is that the "Tohicon" of which Muhlenberg wrote in 1754 is not identical with the Tohickon of this church record. Hence there must have been two Lutheran congregations on the Tohickon creek at that time. This conclusion is corroborated by several other facts. In 1750, there were two delegates from the "Tohecka" present at the meeting of the Ministerium (Minutes, p. 28). This could not have been the Tohickon of the record which we now publish, because it was in 1750 under the care of an independent Lutheran minister, who was not recognized by the Ministerium. Again, in 1752, the Ministerium resolved that "Old Goshenhoppen, Indianfield and Tohecka shall remain together, as they have been to the present, and be served by Mr. Rauss" (Minutes, p. 39). This passage is further proof that the "Tohecka" mentioned in the minutes of the Ministerium cannot be our Tohickon, because the latter was served from 1750-53 by Schaefer and not by Rauss. If there must be two Lutheran congregations on the Tohickon creek, the question naturally arises:

Where is the second to be found? The answer is simple: It is Keller's Church, also in Bedminster township,[3] and also on the Tohickon creek, but two and one-half miles southeast of the present Tohickon. It was this church on the "Tohecka" which sent delegates to the convention of Lutheran ministers, held in June 1750, at Providence, and it was this church which was under the pastoral care of Rauss. In the "Jubilee Volume" of the Norristown Conference, published in 1917,[4] occurs this statement about Keller's Church (p. 93): "The first pastor of this congregation of whom there is any record was Lucas Rauss." Thus assurance is made doubly sure that the Tohickon mentioned by Muhlenberg and in the minutes of the Ministerium was not the present Tohickon Church, but rather Keller's Church, whose record harmonizes perfectly with Muhlenberg's description.

Being thus, to our regret, deprived of the "earliest reference" of our Tohickon, we are left in the dark as to the first pastor or pastors of the present Tohickon Lutheran congregation. It is probable, although by no means certain, that the union of the Lutheran and Reformed people went back to the very beginning of church life in this community, that is, the year 1745. When in the year 1753 the first church land was purchased, it was done by the two united congregations. Hence, we may perhaps conclude that the Lutheran congregation also reaches back to the year 1745.

But while the founder of the Tohickon Lutheran congregation is unknown, the first known pastor was John Martin Schaefer. This man was an independent Lutheran minister and an opponent of Muhlenberg. He came to America in the year 1750, having been originally a schoolmaster (H. N., I, 591). He was a student and adherent of the notorious John Conrad Andreae, pastor at Old Goshenhoppen, and was probably ordained by him. From 1750-53, he was preaching at Tohickon and during his stay there took part in the purchase of the first church land on September 1, 1753. In 1757, we find him at Upper Milford, where he entered the first baptism into the record. He had apparently accepted an invitation to preach at Upper Milford, but before the end of the year he received and accepted a call from the German Lutheran congregation in New York City. He stayed in New York till 1761, when he removed to Waldboro, Maine, where he is said to have neglected his pastoral duties, but became rich as a physician. He died there in 1794 (H. N., I, 631).

3 As a result Keller's Church appears occasionally as "Bedminster" in the minutes of the Ministerium, see pp. 238, 332, 335.

II.

MINISTRY OF REV. JACOB FREDERICK SCHERTLEIN, 1754-1755.

During the years 1754 and 1755, we find a number of entries in the Tohickon record made by Jacob Frederick Schertlein. Thus, on December 1, 1754, there is a baptism of Anna Elizabeth, daughter of John David, and of his wife, Christina Barbara. This baptism was entered by "M. [Magister] Schertlein, minister in Maguncy." Other baptisms were performed by Schertlein on May 8, 1755.

Jacob Frederick Schertlein was born at Hornberg, in Baden, Germany. He became Magister at Tuebingen in 1717; was pastor at Zell and Altbach, near Esslingen, Wurtemberg, in 1733; was dismissed there in 1748; came to America, landing at Philadelphia September 27, 1752; was pastor in Heidelberg, Lehigh county, beginning in 1754, of the new church in Weissenberg in 1754, at Zionsville in Upper Milford in 1758. How long he served these congregations is not certain. The above extract from the Tohickon record shows that he was also at Macungy as early as 1754. In 1763, he was compelled to flee from his home because of the Indian incursions. At the meeting of the Ministerium in October 1763, at Philadelphia, a letter was read from Mr. Schertlein, in which he excused his absence "on account of his age and danger from the Indians," with the added request to be remembered in prayer (Minutes, p. 71). In November 1768, Muhlenberg reports him[5] as having departed this life. Although Schertlein was not a regular member of the Ministerium, Muhlenberg tried to cultivate friendly relations with him, and invited him to attend the meetings of the Ministerium, as he expresses it, "in the hope that under the rough shell a good kernel might yet grow under the influence of suffering and through the working of the good Spirit" (Minutes, p. 43). Schertlein was present at only one meeting, in 1754.

III.

MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN JOSEPH ROTH, 1755-1758.

On August 17, 1755, another pastor was at Tohickon, heading his baptismal entries with a Latin sentence, which may be translated: "The deacon John Joseph Roth has begun to write the names of the baptized children."[6]

John Joseph Roth was, according to the statement of Muhlenberg (H. N., II, 434). in his youth a Roman Catholic student from Siegen, Westphalia. He is probably identical with the "Johannes Josephus Roth," who qualified at Philadelphia September 22, 1752. He appears as a preacher first at Tohickon, in August 1755. From that date till April 15, 1758, he entered thirty-six baptisms into the Tohickon record. He preached also at Indianfield, where his baptismal entries begin February 15, 1756, and extend to March 18, 1764. Several of his own children appear in the Indianfield record. Thus, on March 18, 1757, John Marcus, "son of John Joseph Roth, pastor of this church, and Elizabeth, his wife," was born and baptized March 24th. Another son of the pastor, John Michael Kilian, was born June 16th and baptized July 24, 1759.

On December 8, 1761, Mr. Roth visited Muhlenberg, (H. N., II, 382) and asked to be received as a member of the Lutheran Ministerium. He was at that time pastor at Old Goshenhoppen, Indianfield and Upper Milford. He reported that he had notified Indianfield of his intention to resign, which intention, however, he did not carry out. If there were any difficulties, they were apparently overcome.

Mr. Roth was examined by the Ministerium on June 29, 1762 (Minutes, p. 65), but his reception was postponed until more information could be secured about him. There must have been some doubt and hesitation about him, for when he was finally received on October 17, 1763, the delegates of Indianfield and Saucon were asked about his conduct and whether the congregations had expressed a desire for him. After satisfactory assurances had been given, the Ministerium received him on the following conditions: "1. That a necessary admonition be addressed to him beforehand. 2. That it be understood that we retain the right to exclude him for sufficient reasons. The President addressed the admonition to him, and the other members gave their assent and received him with the right hand and hearty congratulations." (Minutes, p. 71.) Roth was pastor, at that time, of Indianfield, Saucon and Upper Milford. In the year 1763, he became also the first pastor of the newly organized Lutheran congregation in Allentown. He served these congregations till his death, which occurred in May 1764. On May 17, 1764, Muhlenberg received a letter from Saucon, containing the report that Deacon Roth had been buried on the preceding Sunday, May 13th. (H. N., II, 566.) He was buried in the graveyard of the Blue Church, Upper Saucon township, near Coopersburg, Pa.[7]

IV.

MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN WOLF LIZEL, 1760-1765.

The next Lutheran pastor at Tohickon was John Wolf Lizel. He was no doubt identical with "Joh. Wolfgang Leitzel," who on September 24, 1753, signed the oath of allegiance at Philadelphia.[8] He gave his age at that time as thirty years. Hence he was born in 1723. On July 16, 1754, "Johann Wolfgang Leitzel," advertised as "deutscher Schul-und Rechen Meister" in Saur's newspaper and announced that he was conducting a night school, both in summer and winter, in Germantown.[9] He was probably engaged in teaching for some years. In 1760, he appears in Tohickon as preacher, heading his baptisms in the church record with the statement: "Baptized by me, John Wolf Lizel, of Nuremberg." Very little is known about him. According to the annotations in the "Hallesche Nachrichten," he was an adherent of the ill-famed Andreae (pastor at Old Goshenhoppen from 1743-50 and at Germantown from 1750-53) and was probably ordained by him. He was.

therefore, an independent Lutheran minister, who was never recognized by the Ministerium.

At Tohickon, Lizel baptized the first child on December 8, 1760, and the last one on July 27, 1765. During that period he entered 84 baptisms into the record. One of the children baptized by him was his own daughter, Maria Helena, baptized January 1, 1765. He officiated also at Indianfield, where from December 9, 1767, to May 15, 1769, he entered 18 baptisms into that record. In 1769, he was preaching in the Salisbury church, for in August of that year he entered a baptism in the records of that church (H. N., I, 593). After that his name disappeared.

V.

MINISTRY OF REV. PHILIP HENRY RAPP, 1765-1772.

Beginning with October 1765 a new pastor was active at Tohickon. It was Philip Henry Rapp. On January 16, 1766, he signed the financial statement for the year 1765, with the following signature: "Philippus Henricus Rapp, pastor loci."

Rapp came to Pennsylvania in 1750. Under date August 29, 1751, Muhlenberg reports in his diary: "Mr. Andreae has recommended some one else from here for New York, one who calls himself Rapp. With other Germans he came to this country a year ago." (H. N., II. 29.) In his youth Rapp is said to have been engaged in a mercantile business (H. N., I. 630). When he came to Pennsylvania, Andreae received and ordained him, and sent him to Macungy in Lehigh county, where he officiated from the fall of 1750 to October 1751. Andreae then recommended him to New York, where he served the party of Riess (a party hostile to Muhlenberg) till the end of 1753. After the death of Andreae, on January 1, 1754, he went to Germantown, where he stayed as pastor till 1762. At that time he become involved in a quarrel with his parishioners, who appealed to Muhlenberg for assistance. In the following year Rapp was compelled to withdraw, as he failed to get a single vote in an election, which Muhlenberg had arranged (H. N., II, 650). Shortly afterwards he came to Tohickon, where he entered the first baptism on the 22nd Sunday after Trinity, i. e., in October 1765. From that date till 1772 (the exact date is not given) he entered forty-eight baptisms in the Tohickon record.

It was during the ministry of Rapp that the first stone church was built at Tohickon. Several historians[10] have stated that Muhlenberg contributed to this building. Let us examine the evidence. In his diary of 1763, Muhlenberg writes: "On February 2, 1763, towards evening several men from the Tohickon congregation came to me and asked for a collection for their new church building. I gave them my mite, but told them to look for more from other friends." (H. N., II, 523.) Now, inasmuch as Rapp, the then pastor at Tohickon was not a member of the Ministerium and Tohickon itself had always been an independent congregation, it is much more likely, and indeed almost certain, that this passage refers to the other congregation on the Tohickon, namely Keller's Church, which had been for years an object of Muhlenberg's solicitude and care.[11] Rapp himself has left us a record of the dedication of the Tohickon stone church:

"Anno 1766, May 8th, on Ascension Day, our newly-built stone church was publicly dedicated by myself and Mr. Alsenz, as the Reformed representative. I took as my text I Kings, VIII, vs. 28 and 29, and gave her the name 'templum pacis' or Peace Church (Fried-enskirche). The text of the Reformed preacher was from Isaiah 56, v. 7, the last words.

10 See Hallesche Nachrichten, I, 268; Jubilee Volume, Norristown Conference, p. 246.

11 Moreover, it is unlikely that it took three years to build a stone church at Tohickon, 1763-1766. The correct inference from the diary of Muhlenberg is, that a stone church was built at Keller's in 1763.

Testor Philipp Henry Rapp."

After Rapp left Tohickon in 1772 he probably served some neighboring congregation. The Tohickon congregation then seems to have been without a pastor for several years. In the minutes of the Ministerium for the year 1772 (p. 131) it is stated that "the remaining vacant congregations on the Tohecka," cannot at present be cared for. This no doubt refers to Tohickon.

Rapp resided in Nockamixon township, where he had purchased a farm probably in 1774. He made his will July 12, 1779, which was probated November 8, 1779. Hence he died shortly before the latter date. Muhlenberg records in his dairy, under date November 10, 1779, that Rapp had committed suicide. H. N., I, 591.)

As the will of Rapp throws an interesting light on the membership of his family we insert it in full.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF PHILIP HENRY RAPP.

July 12, 1779.

In the name of the Lord, Amen! I Philip Henry Rapp of Nacomixon Township Minister of the Gospel, being at present sick and weak of Body, but sound of Mind and Memory, thanks to the Lord, make this my will and Testament, viz.,

First, I resign my soul to my Redeemer Jesus Christ and my Body to the Earth, to be buried there in such a Manner as my Executors shall think proper.

Concerning my small temporal Estate it is my Will that first of all my legal Debts are to be paid, my son Philip Henry shall have the whole Plantation, excepted twenty five acres containing six acres meadow the remainder Wood and Plow Land which shall be the property of my son Frederick Christian.

My Wife shall have the Mare and all the Household Goods, during the time she remains my widow, and also the use of Twenty five Acres of Land, during the time till Christian shall be [of] age; and it is my will, that the said Frederick Christian shall be put to a Trade as soon as suitable to his mother. Then it is my will that my daughter, who is married to Joseph Yost, and my daughter Catharine, who is married to John Rohrbach, shall each of them have fifteen pounds current money as it is at present received in Continental Payments in the State of Pennsylvania. But when my widow marries again, then she shall have her bed and apparel and half of the movables, the remainder shall be the Property of my both sons, for reason they had no proper education, as my said daughters, who had all the benefits for themselves, since they was able to work for themselves and contributed nothing for the Education of the said sons.

For the true performance of this I appoint my son Philip Henry and my wife Mary his assistant to my sole executor and Executrix of this my last will and testament. Made this 12th Day of July 1779.

Philip Henry Rapp.

Signed, seal'd and pronounced as my will in the presence of us the subscribers Godfrey Miller, Bucks Co.

The 8th Day of November 1779 appeared Godfrey Miller the witness to the within writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Philip Henry Rapp, decd. who on his solemn affirmation did declare and say That he was called by the said Testator to be an evidence to the same, when the said Testator produced the within Instrument already executed and declared the same to be his last will and that he signed it with his name as such and moreover pointed out to the Witness the Erasure in the Body of the Will of the Word Five and Interlineation above it of the words have fifteen. intimating that the same was done by himself. The said affirmant further saith that the said Testator was then of sound Mind, Memory and understanding to the best of his knowledge and belief; That the name Godfrey Miller underneath the said writing was wrote by him the affirmant as witness thereto; and also that he was well acquainted with the hand writing of the said Testator and verily believes that as well as the signature Philip Henry Rapp as the whole Body of the Will to be of his the Testator's own proper Hand writing.

Bucks Co. Be it remembered that on the 8th Day of November 1779 the within written last Will and Testament of Philip Henry Rapp, decd. was proved in the manner above shown, when Letters Testamentary were granted to Mary Rapp and Philip Henry Rapp the Executor and Executrix therein named, they being first duly affirmed well and truly to administer the Goods Chattels Rights and Credits of the sd. Decd. to exhibit within one month from the date hereof into the Registrar's Office for the said County, a true Inventory and Conscionable appraisement of the same, & in one Year, or when thereunto lawfully required render a just account of their whole administration. In Testimony whereof I have hereunto set my Hand & affixed the Seal of sd. Office, the Day and Year above said.

Bucks Co. This account was examined and allowed January 19, 1790. James Hanna, Register.

On May 15, 1787, his son, Philip Henry Rapp, Jr., executed a power-of-attorney as the only surviving heir of his deceased father, by which he appointed John George Obermüller, of Neuwied, Germany, to be his attorney to recover all goods, dues and accounts coming to him from the estate of his grandfather, the Rev. Godfrey Rapp, of Sulz, in Lower Alsace, near Strassburg. This document is recorded in the recorder's office at Doylestown, Bucks county. It proves that Rapp came from a ministerial family.

The Rapp family tradition is that Rev. Philip Henry Rapp, emigrated from Sulz arriving America during 1750; that he located in Nockamixon township, where later he bought a farm; that he died on this homestead and was buried thereon. In 1893, his descendants erected a granite monument over his grave, which was unveiled on August 18th of that year, with appropriate ceremonies and a Rapp family reunion. This monument states that he died November 10, 1779, which is evidently wrong, as his will was probated November 8, 1779.

The power-of-attorney referred to above (a fragment of the original of which in German is in the hands of the writer), states that Philip Henry Rapp, Jr., was the only surviving heir of his father, but the family tradition says that he had three sons, one Philip Henry, Jr., one son who died young, and George who was born shortly after his father's death. Just why the document makes no mention of this posthumous son does not appear, but the family claims that he, George, became the founder of the Society of Harmonites of Economites at Economy, Beaver county, Pa.[12] In recent years the Rapp family has laid claim to the property and assets of that society, which they say is valued at $10,000,000.

Mrs. Rapp, widow of Rev. Philip Henry Rapp, afterwards married a Mr. Miller by whom she had children. Philip Henry Rapp, Jr., was a soldier of the Revolution, he lies buried in an unmarked grave in the Nockamixon Church burying-ground.

12 This claim of the family cannot be sustained in the light of well authenticated history. According to the article "Rappists" in M'Clintock and Strong's Cyclopaedia of Biblical, Theological and Ecclesiastical Literature, New York, 1894 (Vol. VIII, 911-13) the society of the Harmonites was founded by George Rapp, who was born at Iptingen, Wurtemberg, in October 1757. That was seven years after Philip Henry Rapp, Sr., had arrived in Pennsylvania. In 1803, George Rapp, accompanied by his son John and two other adherents, came to America. Within a year he was followed by 600 persons, who on Febr. 15, 1805, organized themselves into the "Harmony Society". They had settled on 5000 acres of wild land, in the valley of the Conoquenessing, about 25 miles north of Pittsburg. This location did not suit them. Hence, after moving about for some time, they finally located along the Ohio river, near Pittsburg, where they built "Economy". See also the more recent article "Communistic Societies" in Hastings, Encyclopedia of Religion and Ethics.

VI.

MINISTRY OF REV. CONRAD ROELLER, 1774-1795.

In 1773, Indianfield and Tohickon petitioned the Ministerium for a preacher, "who would suit their conditions, because they do not as yet have a parsonage and can raise only a small salary." (Minutes, p. 141.) It was then resolved that the minister of Old Goshenhoppen should visit these congregations. (p. 142.)

As a result we find a new pastor at Tohickon March 1774, in the person of Conrad Roeller. He was born in Germany, educated in the University of Erlangen (H. N., II, 735), and came to this country in the year 1770, well supplied with excellent testimonials. He was cordially received by Muhlenberg, who at first made him his assistant at Philadelphia. Later, with Frederick A. C. Muhlenberg, he was sent to the congregations in the vicinity of Lebanon, Pa., (H. N., II, 104) and in 1772 became pastor at Old Goshenhoppen and Indianfield. At Old Goshenhoppen his baptismal entries begin February 16, 1772, at Indianfield April 20, 1772. At Tohickon he did not begin to enter baptisms till March 1774. On June 12, 1774, he signed the financial statement for the first time. Sometime afterwards the three congregations constituting the parish united in buying a piece of land containing 160 acres near Tylersport, where Mr. Roeller settled and resided.[13] He ministered to his people till 1795. On July 5, 1795, he entered his last baptisms both at Tohickon and at Indianfield. He probably retired at this time because of advancing age.

Roeller was highly respected by Muhlenberg. In a report, dated October 31, 1778, Muhlenberg reports him as pastor at Old Goshenhoppen, Indianfield and Tohickon and then he adds: "He adorns his teaching with a Christian life and is feared and loved by all, who show Christian feeling." H. N., II, 735.) and Again, in another report, dated December 6, 1782, Muhlenberg writes about Roeller: "He adorns the Christian doctrine with an edifying life" (H. N., II, 741). On May 31, 1795, and following days, Roeller attended for the last time the meeting of the Lutheran Ministerium. He died in June 1799 and was buried under the altar of the Indianfield Church. Roeller was the first Lutheran pastor, of Tohickon, who during his pastorate there was a member of the Ministerium. Up to the year 1772 the congregation and its ministers had been independent.

VII.
MINISTRY OF
REV. FREDERICK WILLIAM GEISSENHAINER, 1795-1798.

A new pastorate began at Tohickon in November 1795, when Frederick William Geissenhainer entered his first baptism. He was born at Muelheim on the Ruhr, then in the Duchy of Berg, now in the Rhineprovince, on June 26, 1771 (H. N., I, 267). He studied three years at the University of Giessen and two at Goettingen. Then he taught for two years as "Privatdozent"[14] at the latter university. In 1793, he went to Philadelphia with his brother, Henry Geissenhainer. Induced to visit Goshenhoppen and Trumbauer's churches, he was called as their pastor. In June 1794, these congregations applied to the Ministerium for his reception as a member. Accordingly he was recognized as a licensed candidate in 1794. In 1798, he is mentioned in the minutes as an ordained minister. (Minutes, p. 297.) He stayed at New Goshenhoppen and Swamp (New Providence) till 1808. It was during this time that Geissenhainer preached at Tohickon and Indianfield. At the former place his baptisms begin on November 29, 1795, and continue till June 17, 1797. On June 15, 1796, he signed a financial statement at Tohickon, which definitely proves his presence there. In the Indianfield record his baptisms extend from August 23, 1795, to April 17, 1797. In Tohickon he continued as a supply till May 1798, until, as he states in the record, "George Roeller has finished his studies."

While at Goshenhoppen Geissenhainer married Anna Maria, daughter of Michael Reiter, one of his elders. He had six children, one of whom became a prominent Lutheran minister, the Rev. Dr. F. W. Geissenhainer. In 1808, Geissenhainer was called to New York City, where he ministered till 1814. In the latter year he resigned the New York church to go for a number of years on a farm in Clearfield county, Pennsylvania. In 1818, he moved to Chester county, where he supplied several churches until 1823, when he returned to his former congregation in New York City. Here he labored till his death, May 27, 1838. Mr. Geissenhainer was a man of great learning and ability and as a result had much influence in the church. He educated a number of young men for the ministry, among others was John George Roeller, the son of his predecessor and also his own successor at Tohickon. In 1826, the University of Pennsylvania conferred the title of D.D. upon him.[15]

On August 20, 1797, a new hand appears in the Tohickon record which entered six baptisms on that date. The same hand appears also in the Indianfield record, beginning August 6, 1797, and continuing till December 1797, making in all thirteen entries over that time. As the "Hallesche Nachrichten" (I, 269) state that in 1797 August Henry

Schmidt was pastor at Tohickon, it is tempting to identify the author of these entries in 1797 with Mr. Schmidt. There are, however, a number of difficulties in the way. In the first place, the "Hallesche Nachrichten" state that Schmidt arrived in Tohickon in 1795, but, as we have seen, Geissenhainer was entering baptisms into the Tohickon record from 1795-1797. His signature in June 1796 proves his presence there. Moreover, it is stated that Schmidt was preaching at two places, Tohickon and Springfield. But the man who entered the baptisms in August 1797 at Tohickon was also preaching at Indianfield, as is shown by the same chirography there. Again, Schmidt refers to his predecessor as a man who was no theologian, for he was unable to learn the Latin declensions and the Greek alphabet. This cannot apply to Conrad Roeller. And finally, Schmidt states that his two congregations had never been in connection with the Ministerium. This could not be said of Tohickon, for Conrad Roeller had been for many years a member of the Ministerium. All this leads us to conclude that the congregation served by Schmidt is not identical with the Tohickon, whose record we publish. This is supported by the minutes of the Ministerium, which in 1795 report Conrad Roeller as serving Old Goshenhoppen, Indianfield and Tohecke (p. 278), while in the same year the vacant congregations of Springfield and at "Tohick" were to be offered by Mr. Helmuth to a certain Mr. Quitman, who had just arrived from the Danish West Indies (p. 280). All this shows once more that there were two Lutheran congregations at the Tohickon creek, one the congregation now known as Tohickon, the other Keller's Church. The records of the latter show that Schmidt was preceded by Anthony Hecht, a former schoolmaster, to whom the description of Schmidt applies.

However, it is possible that Schmidt, being pastor at the neighboring Keller's Church, did pay Tohickon and Indian-field occasional visits in the year 1797, and thus supplied them for a short time.

In 1796, Schmidt asked to be received into the Ministerium, but his request was refused until more could be learned about his character. (Minutes, p. 286.) In 1798, Schmidt went to Easton, where he remained pastor of the Lutheran congregation there till 1801. While at that place he made another attempt to be admitted into the Ministerium, but in 1802 the later definitely declined to have anything with him. (Minutes, p. 329.) He lies buried in the cemetery attached to the Indianfield church.[16]

VIII.

MINISTRY OF REV. JOHN GEORGE ROELLER, 1798-1840.

In March 1798, a new Lutheran pastor began his activity at Tohickon. It was John George Roeller, the son of the former pastor, Conrad Roeller. His father himself entered his birth and baptism into the Indianfield record. He was born May 16th and baptized May 25, 1775. In 1798, Indianfield, Old Goshenhoppen and Tohickon requested that Mr. Roeller be received into the Ministerium (Minutes, p. 301). As a result he was examined and placed as a catechist under the supervision of Mr. Fr. Geissenhainer (Minutes, p. 302), under whom he had studied. In 1799, Roeller was licensed (p. 306), but he was not ordained till June 12, 1805 (p. 361). During his pastorate the present church was built in 1837, at a cost of $3,000. He remained pastor at Tohickon for forty-two years, till his death, on March 27, 1840. One of his successors, the Rev. Frederick Waltz, entered the following tribute to his predecessor into the record:

"His faithful care in teaching the young through catechetical instruction found special recognition."

16 See Jubilee Volume, p. 94.

Mr. Roeller lies buried in the Indianfield graveyard, behind the church in which he preached, with a long German epitaph on his tombstone, of which the following is a translation:

Here rest the bones of the Reverend
John George Roeller Evangelical Lutheran minister. He was the son of the Rev. Conrad Roeller.
He was born May 16th, 1775.
After the death of his reverend father
He took his place as minister and Held this office till his death.
He entered upon his ministry in the year 1798
And served his three congregations, Tohickon, Old Goshenhoppen and Indianfield, and this with the divine assistance and grace for a period of forty-two years.
He was first married to Magdalena
Wembold, on July 19th, 1798.
He was widowed on July 31st, 1803.
He married a 2nd time, to the now
surviving Sarah Raudenbusch, widow, née Himmelreich, on June 18th 1805. In his first marriage he had three children, in the second five children. He died March 27, 1840, his age being 64 years, 10 months and 11 days.

His funeral text was: Gospel of John, chap. 7, v. 24.

His first wife, Magdalena Wembold, was born September 7, 1779, died July 19, 1798. His second wife, Sarah Himmelreich, was born May 29, 1783, died October 28, 1856.

With the pastorate of John George Roeller we close the history of the Tohickon Lutheran congregation. The later pastors, down to the present time, are:

Engelbert Peixoto, 1841-1864.
Frederick Waltz, 1865-1892.
C. R. Fetter, 1893 to date (1924).

TOHICKON UNION REFORMED AND LUTHERAN CHURCH
RENOVATED AND ENLARGED IN 1918
SIZE 50 FEET BY 75 FEET, WITH TWO FRONT ENTRANCE DOORS

THE TOHICKON LUTHERAN CHURCH RECORD.

1749-1840.

This church record is a parchment covered book, 13 by 8½ inches in size, which contains at present (1924) 233 pages of baptismal entries. Reversing the book there are 35 pages of financial accounts and lists of catechumens, the former extending from 1766-1873, the latter from 1826-1834. The baptismal entries cover the years 1750-1880.

The record has a title which may be translated as follows:

"Church Record in Tohickon.

May God grant his grace to all the children who are entered into this book."

The contents of the record is as follows:

On p. 17 of the reverse of the book, Rev. F. Walz entered the following note regarding the death of Rev. George Roeller:

"Pastor George Röller died after a short illness on March 17, 1840, aged 75 years, after having been for about 43 years pastor of the three united congregations. His faithful care in teaching the young through catechetical instruction found special recognition, as was also true of his father, the Rev. Conrad Roller, who came from Germany. The funeral sermon of Rev. G. Roller was preached by Rev. Henry Schiller, from the text John 17:24."

[FINANCIAL STATEMENT.]

[In the rear of the book are a series of financial statements, covering the years 1766-1839.]

p.1. "Anno 1766, the 16th of January, the financial account of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, which had been omitted for four years, was rendered in the parsonage, in the presence of us the subscribers. After deducting the approved expenses, Mr. Nicholas Weigel, as deacon, has still in hands 5£ 8 sh. 7 d.

This we attest with our signatures.

Leonard Mayer

Philippus Henricus
Rapp, pastor loci.

Anno 1766, the 8th of May, on the festival of the Ascension, our newly built stone church was publicly dedicated through me and Mr. Alsentz, as the Reformed representative. I took as my text I Kings VIII, vs. 28 and 29 and gave her the name templum pacis or Peace Church. The text of the Reformed preacher was from Isaiah LVI, v. 7, the last words.

Testor,
Philip Henry Rapp.

p. 2, 1767, on the III Sunday after Trinity the financial statement was entered by Ludwig Benner.

Today, the 2nd of July, [1768] the assembled congregation made a rule that in future only such shall be regarded as true and rightful members of this church who annually have their names inscribed as contributors to the support of the congregation.

1770, July 1, the financial account was rendered by the treasurer, Philip Schreier.

The following men served as treasurers of the alms accounts:

1766—Nicholas Weigel
1767—Ludwig Benner

A few statements in the financial accounts are of interest:

On December 8, 1776, it is reported that "all the debts resting on the church are now paid off."

On May 11, 1794, Rev. Conrad Roeller reports:

"At the beginning of my ministry the congregation still owed a large amount on the church, and then the church farm was bought. The alms were at all times used for church purposes. But now the church and the church farm are paid. Hence there remained of this year's account the sum of two pounds, eleven shillings and 8 pence.

On June 15, 1796, the account is signed by Fr. Geissenhainer, then a supply.

A statement made on July 9, 1797, records the fact that the salary for the year 1796, had been paid to Mr. Geissenhainer in full.

Rev. Philip Henry Rapp signed his first account on Jan. 13, 1766, the last on the 5th Sunday after Trinity 1771.

Rev. Conrad Roeller signed his first account on June 12, 1774, the last on May 11, 1794.

Rev. Fr. Geissenhainer signed an account on June 15, 1796.

Rev. George Roeller signed his first account on July 9, 1797, his last on July 31, 1839.

RECORDS OF THE TOHICKON UNION CHURCH

INDEX OF FAMILY NAMES

In studying these church records, please note that the same family name often occurs more than once on the same page, in fact one page contains the same family name twelve times. These family names have been translated by Dr. Hinke and recorded with all their variations exactly as they appear on the records. As will be seen the spelling varies greatly, the same names often being spelled several different ways by the same dominie on the same page of his original record, in one instance the same family name is spelled twenty-two different ways. It must however be borne in mind that these early dominies were Germans, and therefore the German language to a great extent controlled their spelling, and moreover they often recorded the names as they sounded to them phonetically. The genealogist should not be guided by the spelling of family names as they appear on any old church record, for often all such spelling may be wrong. Tombstone inscriptions are more likely to have the family name spelled correctly. To determine the correct way of spelling family names, original signatures should be examined, or if of German or Swiss origin, the immigrant lists on file in the library at Harrisburg should be consulted. These immigrant lists have been translated and published by Prof. Rupp in his "Thirty Thousand Names of Immigrants", and also appear in the Pennsylvania Archives, Second Series, Vol. XVII, but many errors have crept in both of these translations. The Pennsylvania German Society is considering the question of having photoprints made of all immigrant lists on file at Harrisburg, and having them carefully edited for publication in its proceedings.
